The Pope's Powerful Message.

Wanted, Wider Income Tax.

Wheat, Borah, Brookhart.

MacMonnie's' Whistler.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE WORLD, wherever newspapers are printed, continues to discuss the Pope's powerful encyclical on labor, his denunciation of "ghastly cruelty in industry, accumulation of vast wealth and power in a few hands, the frightful peril to morals in industry."

You must go a long way back to find an utterance containing a greater sense of power.

HAROLD LAMB, in his "Flame of Islam," describing the Crusades, quotes a letter of Pope Innocent, III, to a prior in Tuscany:

"As God, the creator of the universe, set two great lights in the firmament of heaven * * * so he set two great dignitaries in the firmament of the universal church. * * * These dignitaries are the papal authority and the royal power. And just as the moon gets her light from the sun and is inferior to the sun * * * so the royal power gets the splendor of its dignity from the papal authority."

The present Pope, Pius, proves in his powerful encyclical that the Vatican has lost no part of its feeling of power and responsibility.

SECRETARY MELLON wants an income tax that can be "adjusted to prosperity or depression." By that, he means a tax on practically all citizens.

The present income tax, he calls "a class tax," since it taxes only the class possessing incomes above a certain amount.

HOWEVER, ALL taxation, except head-tax is class taxation.

Property taxes are laid on the class that has property. The dog tax is laid on the class of dog owners, and automobile taxes in the motoring class.

You can only get money from those that have money, the "money class."

MANY BELIEVE that a "sales tax," such as Canada levies, would be the fairest and most productive. It would surely be gigantically productive. But, there again you would have class taxation. The biggest families, buying most food and clothes, would pay the most. The big family class would be taxed, for the protection of the big incomes.

It is a difficult problem, but the government must pay its bills, Mr. Mellon must get the money somewhere. And since big incomes have shrunk, he cannot get all from them.

PROGRESSIVE Republicans, including Senators Borah and Brookhart, will "invade the wheat belt," in a fight against President Hoover. It is suggested that Senator Borah may compete with President Hoover for the 1932 nomination.

THERE ARE, at least a few in the wheat belt who know that President Hoover bought enough wheat to keep prices up.

The government's accumulation of nearly 200 million bushels presents a problem. But, if the government's wheat were all thrown into the ocean, the farmers and the country would still be better off, in the opinion of some experts.

They say that if the administration had NOT entered the farmers that got 80 cents for their wheat would have got 40 or 50, the difference between wholesale bankruptcy and a better price than the rest of the world could get.

FOUR MEN recently added to the group of "America's Immortals" in New York's Hall of Fame, making 69 in all. The latest four were President Monroe, who established the Monroe Doctrine; Matthew Fontaine Maury, who traveled the seas when this country was young, and established the United States naval observatory and hydrographic office; Walt Whitman, poet, and James McNeil Whistler, painter.

WHOEVER LIVES in or visits New York should go to the Hall of Fame, not merely to see the "immortal 69," of whom many will soon be about as immortal as so many ephemiridae, but to see the fine marble bust of Whistler by MacMonnies.

That fine work of art will delight you, and would delight Whistler. It shows him as he saw himself, aggressive, powerful, and beautiful in his genius, not shrunken, as in his quarrelsome old age.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, in his absolutely necessary campaign of national economy, consults Postmaster General Brown and the four assistant postmasters general.

The postoffice deficit is expected to reach $140,000,000, too much probably, although it makes little difference whether the people pay more for stamps or for taxes.

MAN, WOMAN CAUGHT IN GUN FIGHT

By D. H. ROSENTHAL
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 25.—A bandit suspect and his two women companions were captured by Charleroi police early to day following a spectacular gun battle in which the man was shot through the face and a bullet grazed one of the women.

The chase followed the reported robbery of Gus Edwards, 65, of Strabane Township, near Charleroi, who was beaten and tortured by three bandits in an effort to force him to reveal the hiding place of $3,000 they thought he had on the premises.

TWO OTHERS CAPTURED

Two alleged accomplices of the wounded bandit were captured a short time after the robbery.

Those held are Arnold Rahoff, 24, of California, the injured man; Gene (Red) McCracken, 29, and Mike Alter, 28, both of Charleroi; Alice Cole, 19, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Barton, 29, both of Elco.

Rahoff was treated at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and later taken to the Washington Hospital. His alleged companions are being held in the Washington jail. Mrs. Barton was grazed by one of the bullets, but was not taken to the hospital.

CONFESSION CLAIMED

The bandit suspects questioned by District Attorney Warren Burchinal are said to have confessed.

According to the story told by the bandits they had planned the robbery of Edwards, a carpenter, several weeks ago.

Last night, according to the alleged confession, Aahoff with the two women paid Edwards a visit. While they were there the two alleged accomplices entered and all five jumped upon Edwards, police say, beating him in an effort to force him to reveal the hiding place of the $3,000 they believed that he had in his possession.

Edwards said he finally convinced them that he had no money and the bandits fled with $1.35 which they found in his pockets.

RAHOFF SURRENDERS

The car in which Rahoff and the two women were riding was sighted near Allenport, by Chief of Police Alexander Murray, of Charleroi, heading a detail of officers. When they failed to heed a command to halt, Patrolman Rome Ross opened fire. A running gun battle followed in which several shots were exchanged. None of the bandit bullets took effect and Rahoff surrendered as the cars neared Charleroi.

Charleroi police said they believe the three men under arrest have been responsible for more than a dozen robberies in the Monongahela river valley in the past month.

BRADDOCK BOWL BOMBED, FIRED

A mysterious attempt to bomb Meyers Bowl, Baldridge street, North Braddock, was frustrated by police early today with the discovery of an incendiary fire in the rear of a small frame building used jointly as offices and dressing rooms for sporting events held there.

Two bombs, presumably filled with gunpowder and bits of slag and metal, placed on top of two five gallon cans, said to have contained gasoline and kerosene, were discovered by Patrolman George Aranos and Motorcycle Patrolman Stephen Yanowich while investigating the fire. A third bomb which had exploded a few hours previous, did no damage.

Rumania Expels Helen From Royal Family

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 25—(AP.)—Princess Helen, estranged wife of King Carol and mother of Crown Prince Michael, has been expelled from the royal family.

The newspaper Patria, official organ of the Zaranist party, reveals that a decree is being drafted for submission to the new Parliament confirming her exclusion and stating she is no longer entitled to rights and honors accorded royalty.

War Minister Stephanescu already has issued to the Army an order, authorized by Premier Jorga, forbidding observance of Helen's saint day next Thursday.

Parliament is expected to adopt the measure as soon as it assembles and Helen will leave the country permanently soon thereafter, terminating her uncertain marital status of more than two years.

HARRIS TO ASK VOTE MACHINE DELAY QUIZ

Senator Wants Muddle Over Devices Cleared, Scores 'Subterfuges' on Contracts

HARRISBURG, May 25.—A senatorial investigation into the voting machine situation in Pennsylvania, confused by the wrangling and postponements over voting machine installation in Allegheny and Philadelphia counties, is expected to be put up to the Senate tonight.

Senator Frank J. Harris, of Crafton, for years a proponent of voting machines, will present a resolution asking such an investigation, he said today, explaining:

"We've been very patient. More than 10 years work has been necessary to assure legislation to put voting machines into potential use in Pennsylvania. The bill was passed in 1929.

"There has been entirely too much delay, especially in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties; there has been entirely too much politics, and entirely too much uncertainty."

FIVE TO BE NAMED

The resolution calls for the appointment of five senators by President Pro Tem Daix. It would empower the committee to call politicians, voting machine officials, employes, emissaries or agents of companies which make or sell machines, public officials and other citizens.

Senator Harris added:

"Such an investigation would tend to clean up the wrangling, subterfuges and delays that have so far attended installation of machines. I think the people ought to know who is responsible for the delays, if it is possible to learn, and why there has been so many."

SEVERAL LACK MACHINES

The resolution, it is understood, will charge that with the voting machine law in effect since 1929, a number of counties are nearing another election, and as yet no

Liquor Makers Could Solve That Wheat Problem

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

That wheat parley in London would be solved if the diplomats could get the boothootchers to use it.

We know what to do with our corn and our rye.

The Soviets have a good idea. They dump their stuff abroad at fair prices and it is sent back to them gratis in relief ships.

It's the month of big conferences. President Hoover and Edsel Ford had an executive session at Rapidan Camp over the postal deficit.

Can it be possible that the Ford factory is mailing those things now?

The railroad boys are in Washington asking for higher freight rates. It was only six months ago they were asking for freight.

So things are improving. U. S. Steel will not chop the wages of its workingmen. And that's good news if you're working.

Looks like the parade through the little end of the horn is about over. We've reversed and are marching out the big end.

And even that Italian musical squabble is over. Seems that Mussolini wanted Toscanini to play the national air and give the Fascist salute at the same time.

Salus Ready to Move Revival of House Measure

By ED PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, May 25.—The crisis of the Musmanno coal and iron police legislation, designed to regulate and limit the power of industrial police, will be reached in the Senate tonight, after a two-year fight.

The Musmanno bill, emasculated by amendments and deletions, will be the subject of a motion by Senator Samuel W. Salus, of Philadelphia, before it passes second reading. Salus will seek to return the bill to its original form, as passed two months ago by the House. Salus today said:

"I plan to introduce amendments by which the bill will be returned to its previous form. I think the senators have a right to vote on the bill as it was."

WOULD SPUR MEASURE

If Salus' motion is passed, it will put the bill in position to be voted on finally tomorrow or Wednesday at least, before the session is concluded, and be transmitted to the Governor.

That it will meet stiff opposition tonight is unquestionable. Although a number of senators were uncommunicative or vague in their statements, a poll showed an undercurrent of doubt and opposition.

Senator William H. Earnest, chairman of the Judiciary General Committee, refused to comment. Later, at home, he was unavailable. Other senatorial comments were:

Senator Frank J. Harris, of Pittsburgh:

PARKINSON UNDECIDED

Senator Chauncey W. Parkinson, Greene County:

"I am undecided. I intend to reread the amendment and will give my decision tonight."

Senator Frank Fay, Mercer County:

Delay to Police Bill Blamed on W. H. Earnest

Senator William H. Earnest, of Dauphin County, chairman of the Senate Judiciary General Committee, is the man most responsible for holding back his property guard bill, Representative M. A. Musmanno charged today. He said:

"My bill was the first introduced at this session of the Legislature. Senator Earnest has done his best to make it the last bill to be considered, and the last ones are always the easiest to lose in the jam and crush of the closing days.

"As an experienced legislator Senator Earnest knows this.

MUSMANNO FORECASTS VICTORY

Assemblyman Scores Foes For Wrecking Original Bill; Goes to People

Unless some senator moves to place it on the postponed calendar the Musmanno coal and iron police bill will come up for a hot battle on the floor of the Senate session in Harrisburgh tonight.

Senator Samuel W. Salus, of Philadelphia, one of the floor leaders, will present amendments to the Musmanno bill, which was pruned in the Judicial General Committee until it had no semblance of its original form. The amendments would restore the bill to its original draft.

Assemblyman Michael A. Musmanno, having no voice in the Senate, cannot battle for his bill on the Senate floor. Instead he made a fiery radio speech Saturday night, which brought comment from other champions of abolishment of the coal and iron police.

PREDICTS VICTORY

Before leaving for Harrisburg last night Musmanno expressed confidence the Senate will pass the amendments to the bill. He said:

"If these amendments are adopted the bill will be restored to its original form. The issue will therefore be clearly drawn.

"Those who vote for these revitalizing amendments will go on record openly and above board for the abolition of the coal and iron police system. Those who vote against the amendments will go on record as favoring the retention of the system which has disgraced Pennsylvania before the nation.

"The attitude of the Judiciary General Committee is the warning that this is the zero hour in the battle to get rid of the brutality and bloodthirstyness of the coal and iron police system."

Musmanno also took Gov. Pinchot to task for his declaration that he will eliminate the coal and iron police July 1, saying:

"Gov. Pinchot has indicated that he will eliminate the coal and iron police July 1 by canceling all existant commissions. The Governor of a state cannot

Mrs. Hoover's Wolf Hound Attacks Marine in Camp

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS.)—Shamrock, the giant Irish wolf hound, which is Mrs. Hoover's particular pet, and who has been making the week-end trips to Camp Rapidan, felt a lust for blood this week-end.

As a result, one of the Marines detailed to guard the President's camp in the Blue Ridge is carrying a well cauterized wound in the calf of his leg.

The dog, which is almost as big as a small Shetland pony, is amicable only with Mrs. Hoover and has shown vicious tendencies toward those around camp in the past.

Mrs. Hoover, who returned here this morning after the President, brought her pet with her.

TORCH APPLIED AS GUNS BALK ESCAPE PLOT

Four Wounded in Second Outbreak at Penal Farm; Damage Four Dormitories

VANDALIA, Ill., May 25.—Convicts at the state penal farm were quiet today after a riot last night in which 600 burned five of their wooden dormitories and battled guards in a plot to escape.

Although prison guards had the situation under control, according to Supt. C. A. Metzger, Gov. Louis L. Emmerson ordered out National Guard troops, who are patrolling the scene today.

A roll call was to be taken today to determine if any of the 600 on the farm escaped. Four were wounded, but no serious injuries were believed to have resulted from the shooting by the guards in subduing the prisoners.

Six weeks ago another riot occurred at this prison, two prisoners being wounded as six tried to escape. The farm is enclosed by a barbed-wire fence 15 feet high. Last night's fighting was started when four prisoners were pulled back as they attempted to climb the fence. The convicts were ordered to their barracks and they went, but soon came out with the buildings in flames.

Citizens and a fire department from Vandalia helped guards prevent a wholesale escape but could do little about fighting the fire because of the prisoners' interference. Fire Chief C. A. Hubbard was hit with a rock by one of the convicts.

Insane Kept Orderly During Hospital Fire

ELGIN, Ill., May 25.—(INS.)—Fire destroyed the recreation hall of the state hospital for the insane at Elgin yesterday while attendants kept 800 inmates orderly without any trouble although they were considered dangerous. One inmate is believed to have escaped. Damage was placed at $10,000.

LEAGUE ENMITY AIDS HITLER

MUNICH, Germany, May 25.—(Universal.)—Germany's reaction to the League of Nations' attitude toward the Austro-German customs union, together with the fact that the league turned down the German demand for real armament information at the disarmament conference, is expressing itself in a tremendous accession to the ranks of Adolf Hitler.

A storm of indignation and resentment, together with a rapid intensification of the economic situation, is sweeping large numbers of protesters into the National Socialist (Fascist) movement.

Hitler was believed to have reached his zenith and to be declining, but the German failure at Geneva may carry him to a new crest.

Penn Township Raid Nets Still

A raid by County Detective Samuel Whisner and Constable Samuel Bickerstaff yesterday netted a 150 gallon still, 10 gallons of moonshine and 700 gallons of mash on the premises of Peter Gregory, 35, of Penn Township, according to the officers. Gregory has been released on bond pending a hearing on a charge of violating the Snyder act, before Justice of the Peace William Bamberger.

HUNDREDS OF thousands waited in the rain on Saturday to see the Army's fine display of airplanes. The government knows now, if it did not know before, that the people are really interested in airplane defense.

The spending of a few tens of millions on fighting aircraft and submarines would make possible the saving of many hundreds of millions now wasted on antiquated defense.

How long will the country continue spending hundreds of millions on useless floating targets for enemy planes?

SEEK LIPSTICK CAP IN LUNG

An operation was to be performed today on John Ginkel, 7, of Fryburg, Clarion County, in an effort to remove the metal end of a lipstick from his left lung.

The boy's parents said he told them he bumped his elbow while using the container as a whistle. Several hours later he complained he had difficulty breathing. When he complained of a pain in his left lung Saturday he was rushed to a physician in Oil City.

An X-ray showed the location of the small metal piece, and he was brought to Passavant Hospital here, where Dr. S. F. Hogsett was to perform the operation.

WILKINS PLANS TALK AT POLE

NEW YORK, May 25.—(Universal.)—In his farewell radio address in America, Sir Hubert Wilkins last night expressed the hope that he would be able to broadcast vocally from the North Pole by means of apparatus installed in the trans-Arctic submarine Nautilus.

Sir Hubert, speaking over WEAF of the National Broadcasting chain, declared that while the start of the expedition had been delayed, he expected to reach Spitzbergen by July 15 for the actual plunge under the Arctic ice pack.

He declared that contrary to popular impressions the Nautilus would not encounter temperatures lower than freezing either underneath or above the ice. He added:

"We have arranged to send up a balloon to a height of 2,000 or 3,000 feet as a beacon for Dr. Eckener, skipper of the Graf Zeppelin, and thus hope that he will be able to locate us on the ice."

Szachewicz was the first of the pair to be executed. Both men died stoically.

Sheet Wage Rates Remain Unchanged

YOUNGTOWN, O., May 25.—(AP.)—The rate upon which the sliding wage scale of the unionized sheet and tin plate industry is based will remain unchanged for another year, manufacturers announced here today following the annual scale conference with union agents at Atlantic City.

The contract directly affects 25,000 workers, but will be used as the basis in wage negotiations affecting some 500,000 other workers in the industry.

Shippers Oppose Parcel Post Raise

CROWN QUEENS AT CATHOLIC FESTIVALS

Confirmations, Musical Programs Mark Churches' Celebration of Spring

Catholic churches throughout the city celebrated the month of May with the crowning of the May Queen at services held yesterday.

Confirmation was held at St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday, with the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, presiding. More than 200 were confirmed with an equal number of sponsors present. The candidates for confirmation included children from the Cathedral Parochial School, Mount Mercy Academy, the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind and the Home for Crippled Children, Dennison avenue. Music was directed by the Rev. Carlo Rossini, choirmaster and organist at the cathedral, with almost 100 men and boys in the choir.

FATHER COX PREACHES

Rose Peduzzi, of Twelfth street, was crowned Queen of May at Old St. Patrick's Church, Seventeenth and Liberty avenues, last night, at a service in which 400 children participated. Attendants were Virginia Kunisky, Grace Quinlan, Helen Kraus, Marie Angelo, Rachel De Luce, Mildred Dugilese, Mary Magnanti and Jean Lewandowski. The crowning was followed with benediction by the Rev. H. A. Zapori, assistant pastor, and a sermon by the Rev. James R. Cox, pastor.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

A Memorial Day service was held in the morning with 50 members of the Jene-Mager Post No. 278, of which Father Cox is chaplain, in attendance in uniform. Taps were sounded in memory of those who died during the World War. A mixed choir sang the "Miserere."

Two hundred girls crowned their May Queen, Mary O'Regan, at St. Kiernan's Church, Fifty-third street and Carnegie avenue, last night. The queen's attendants were Margaret Ferry, Mary McEntee, Mary Dunn, Esther Tischke, Mary Agnes Centmer, and Catherine Gourley. The Rev. Joseph Clougherty, assistant pastor, received 60 candidates into the Young Ladies Sodality. The service was followed by benediction by the Rev. John Sullivan, of Duquesne University, and a sermon by the Rev. Raphael Duffy, of the Passionist Fathers. A choir of 48 boys sang.

CROWD VIEWS CEREMONY

Several thousand persons witnessed the crowning of Susan Garland, of Tioga street, the May Queen of the Church of Our Mother of Good Counsel, 7800 Bennett avenue, Homewood. About 500 children took part in the service, during which 52 new members were received into the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. The Rev. Thomas Lappan, director of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, gave benediction and preached.

Sodality receptions also marked the services of St. Anslem's Church, Swissvale, where Marie Schott, 2231 Milligan avenue, Swissvale, was crowned Queen of the May, and St. Stephan's Church, Hazelwood, with Isabelle O'Hare as queen.

Shuberts Sell London Theaters

LONDON, May 25.—(AP.)—Five London theaters in which the brothers Shubert are interested have changed hands in one of the biggest theatrical deals of recent times, the Evening News said today.

Sir Harold Wernher, son of the South African millionaire, has acquired from Lee and J. J. Shubert a controlling interest in the Gaiety, Adelphi, Apollo, Shaftesbury and His Majesty's. The purchase price is understood to have been about $2,000,000.

'BAD' WORDS BAN RADIO SPEAKER

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(AP.)—For the second time in a month a prominent radio speaker was cut off the air by a local station last night for using bad language.

Col. Vincent A. Carroll, assistant district attorney, speaking over Station WIP-WFAN, was removed 20 minutes before his time was up.

April 25, Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler was cut off by Station WELK when he used the word "hell."

Col. Carroll was discussing Communism and Socialism at the Hungarian Republican Club's annual dinner. Told when he completed his address, that he had not been speaking to a radio audience for many minutes, he said:

"What! You don't tell me I've been Butlerized?"

Stein Named Slayer Of Vivian Gordon

NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS.)—Three months to a day after Vivian Gordon was slain, police today claimed they had solved her death.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney announced a confession had been made by Harry Schlitten, alias Harvey, driver of a car in which Miss Gordon was strangled, naming Harry Stein, racketeer held in the Bronx, as the actual slayer.

Pantages Called In 'Girl Mart' Case

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 25.—(AP.)—Separate hearings in a "girl market" case were sought by Alexander Pantages, wealthy theater man, and two of four other defendants as a prelude to the opening of their trial in Superior Court today.

HOME WRECKED IN RAID

Charles Pollard, a Negro, was being held in default of a $100 fine as the result of a raid late Saturday in which, witnesses said, the furniture in his home and confectionery store, at 1520 Clark street, were wrecked by police officers.

Unable to pay the $100, Pollard faces a 30-day jail term.

Police Captain John Schnurr, in charge of the raiders, took part in a similar wrecking of the Hotel Grise, Eleventh street, four years ago in a raid which, eventually, cost the city $6,500 damages.

Police at the hearing yesterday morning, in Center Avenue Police Court, produced evidence of moonshine, whisky and cards, which, they said, had been taken from the raided house. Thirteen alleged visitors to the place were discharged.

Four policemen entered the store, according to witnesses, and smashed chairs, tables, windows, show cases and an automatic phonograph before turning to the rooms occupied by Pollard, where his personal effects were thrown about the rooms and household furniture overturned and broken.

Independents Win Radio Patent Suit

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS.)—The DeForest Radio Company today won a legal victory of vast importance to the radio industry when the Supreme Court held invalid the Langmuir tube patent of the General Electric Company.

The decision, according to contentions of the DeForest company attorneys, means that independent radio manufacturers are freed from the possibility of paying huge royalties until 1942 to the General Electric and allied firms. The Third Circuit Court was reversed.

PINCHOT BACKS HOOVER HIGH WAGE POLICY

Pay Cutting Denounced as Block to Recovery; Urges Passage of Labor Bills

HARRISBURG, May 25.—Gov. Pinchot said last night he was heartily in accord with the statement of President Hoover that it is essential for the prosperity of the country to keep wages up. He said:

"Unless that can be done the present depression may grow worse, and other depressions may follow this one. I am heartily in agreement with this position.

"In order that the laboring men and women of Pennsylvania may exercise their influence against any disastrous wage-cutting policy they should be protected in their constitutional rights to organize and to speak freely in favor of an adequate standard of wages."

BACKS LABOR BILLS

In the interests of the laboring class and in the interests of justice in Pennsylvania, the Governor said, he urged that five legislative measures affecting labor be passed by the General Assembly before it adjourns sine die on Thursday.

One of the five measures whose cause the Governor championed is that of Senator Samuel W. Salus, member of the Philadelphia "war board," and frequent target of the Governor's verbal attacks during his gubernatorial campaign last year.

The Salus bill would provide a 48-hour week and eight-hour day for employed minors under 16 years of age instead of the 54-hour week and nine-hour day allowed at the present time. It would also require a 45-minute daily lunch period for these employed minors.

PHILLIPS SCORES GRUNDY

Two of the other four bills are those of Representative Mason, Luzerne, limiting the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes and providing for a trial by jury in contempt cases arising out of injunctions. Both of these measures are on the House calendar for consideration on final passage tonight and if approved by the House could be passed by the Senate on the final day of the session.

John A. Phillips, president of the State Federation of Labor, issued a statement charging that "the Grundy lobby" is trying to kill the two Mason bills.

Man Found Dead In Rooming House

Angelo De Soto, 40, was found dead in his rooming house, 216 Twelfth street, Sharpsburg, early today. Mrs. Annie Wade, living at that address, was awakened about 6 a. m. by a noise in the hallway. She went out and found De Soto sitting at the bottom of the stairs. He was dead.

Deputy Coroner Roy Attlesberger took the body to the morgue. An autopsy disclosed a contusion from a blow behind the ear. It has not been determined yet whether death was accidental.

Weather Conditions.

There was a rapid change in precipitation conditions during Saturday and Sunday, resulting in a variety of weather over the section. The high that produced the cool weather over the country the past few days is now off the South Atlantic coast and a quite active disturbance is moving rapidly along the Canadian border, with its center over Eastern Ontario this morning and extends southwestward over the Great Valley states. Another disturbance of marked intensity appears in Saskatchewan and extends southward over the Rocky Mountain states. So far it is not reported any precipitation. It was warmer yesterday over the states east of the Mississippi River, while west of the Mississippi there was little change. Temperatures are now near the seasonal normals and there is no indication of a material drop in the next several days.

SIX KILLED IN DISTRICT WEEK-END AUTO ACCIDENTS

FOUR IN FAMILY VICTIMS OF CRASH

Fourteen Others Severely Hurt Taken to Hospitals; Sharpsburg Youth Held

Six persons, including four members of one family, were dead today the result of auto accidents over the week end. Fourteen others were in hospitals suffering from severe injuries the result of crashes.

Four members of a Wilmerding family are dead and two others are injured following their car's crash into a moving van on the William Penn highway near Blairsville.

The dead were Miss Lillian Weaver, 60; William Courtwright, 50; John W. Weaver, 45, and Mrs. Alice Weaver, 83. The injured are Mrs. Pearl Courtwright and her daughter, Alice Jane, 6. They were en route yesterday from their home at 238 Walsh avenue, Wilmerding, to Blairsville, when the accident occurred.

Harry Barber, of Minerva, O., driver of the van, and his helper, Harry Porter, of Carrolltown, O., escaped uninjured, police said.

KILLED ON SIDEWALK

Albert Siriano, 21, 620 Altmayer street, Sharpsburg, alleged driver of a stolen automobile which ran onto the sidewalk at North Negley avenue and Hays street, killing one man and injuring two other persons yesterday, was turned over to the coroner today.

The dead man was Morris Williams, 58, of 80 Logan street; Myer Kalson, 65, of 515 Protectory place, is in West Penn Hospital with head injuries, and Mrs. Gulda Finegold, of the Kirkwood Hotel, Kirkwood and Whitfield streets, was confined to bed with lacerations and bruises.

Siriano was pronounced under the influence of liquor by Dr. W. H. Evans, a city physician, according to police.

The automobile, owned by Frank Cohen, of 237 North Craig street, was stolen from North Negley and Stanton avenues. Siriano drove through a red light and, at the Hays street intersection, ran onto the sidewalk and struck the pedestrian, police said.

The death toll of the triple automobile crash in Bigelow boulevard, near Washington street, Saturday morning, mounted to three with the death early today in Montefiore Hospital of Arthur R. McNelly, of 1020 Wallace avenue, Wilkinsburg.

Crashes in various parts of the city were responsible for injuries to many others.

Three Injured as Trolley, Auto Crash

Evelyn Rachman, 17, of 401 South York street, Wheeling, W. Va., was hurt seriously last night, her mother was less seriously injured, and her father, Ray Rachman, was uninjured when their automobile was struck by a street car at Fifth avenue and Lytton street.

2 Children Slain, Mother Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Bernice Foley, 30, coffee shop proprietor, was arrested today in connection with the deaths of her children, Patsy, 8, and Robert, 6, found dead in their beds last night. Officers said the children had been poisoned.

Mrs. Foley surrendered, saying she had been despondent over business affairs. Authorities quoted her as saying she had planned to end her life by walking into the ocean.

Columbia Crippled In Air, 4 Escape

EASTMAN, Ga., May 25.—(AP.)—Capt. Errol Boyd, pilot, and three children, passengers in the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia, escaped unhurt here when Boyd landed the ship on one wheel after part of the landing gear came loose in mid-air.

The landing gear was badly damaged.

WESTINGHOUSE MAN INVENTS NEW ALLOY

'Hypernick' Will Take Gas Out of Transmission Lines, Eliminate Great Waste

NEW YORK, May 25.—"Hypernick," a new magnetic alloy that will take the gas out of alternating current electric transmission lines and save millions of dollars annually to industry, was revealed today Dr. Trygve D. Yensen, research engineer for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

After 19 years of research work Dr. Yensen created the alloy out of about 50 per cent nickel and 50 per cent iron. Its name is derived from syllables of the words high permeability nickel. It is nearly free from gaseous and other impurities which slow the flow of electricity through transformers.

Oxygen and other impurities in the alloy are removed, it is said, by baking it for many hours at 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit in an oven of pure hydrogen.

Dr. Yensen said that the new alloy will be suitable for practical application in many electrical machines and instruments. He pointed out that there are 10,000,000 transformers that furnish power and light in the United States and that they lose 10,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of energy as heat.

EUROPEAN WAR PREDICTED FOR JULY

Ludendorff Says Greatest Conflict of History to Be Waged Against Germany

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
Universal Service.

BERLIN, May 25.—A European war, more ferocious and disastrous than the World War, threatens to break out in July, Gen. Eric von Ludendorff predicts in an article published in his newspaper, Volkswarte, on Sunday.

The former chief general quartermaster under Gen. Von Hindenburg declared the new war will find England, Russia and Italy aligned against France and her allies, Poland, Rumania, Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia. The war will be waged in Germany, he says.

Ludendorff says France and her allies are even now planning their campaigns in a "preventive war" to crush Italy and Russia before they are able to further build up their armaments.

Ludendorff adds that France is trying to force Germany to become her ally, but fears that the National Socailists (German Fascists) will decide to support Mussolini, and that France will therefore rush strong military forces into German territory.

England, he says, will blockade French ports and send troops into Italy to help withstand France's attack.

EX TORTIONIST SENTENCED

Charles O. Dorsett, 50, West View, was sentenced to serve from one to 15 years in the workhouse when he pleaded guilty to extortion before Judge George W. Moore in Criminal Court today.

He pleaded guilty to accepting money from officials of the Daily Loan Association and the Fulton Loan Company for shielding them from arrest for charging illegal interest rates.

Counsel for Charles Jennings and John A. Hasenauer, proprietors, respectively, of the Fulton and Daily organizations, pleaded no defense today to charges of violating the small loan act.

Sixty-four witnesses were on hand today to testify that officials of the two organizations charged as high as 20 per cent a month on small loans.

BELIEVE FACTOR LOOT FOUND

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—The Herald and Examiner said today that more than $2,000,000 of the $8,000,000 which John Factor, "Jake the Barber," was said to have accumulated in international swindles, was found here by Scotland Yard operatives.

The money, the newspaper said, was understood to be in two large trust funds. Attorneys for the British embassy in Washington contemplate starting immediate action to attach the funds for British investors, the story says.

DEATH OF MAN LAID TO DUEL

NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS.)—Dr. Joseph T. Loughlin, prominent Brooklyn physician, whose body, with a bullet hole behind the ear and another in the side, was found in a marshy park, was killed in a pistol duel, authorities believed today. A search was launched for Howard Bridgetts, 30, a commission merchant and second cousin of Dr. Loughlin.

A theory that the physician had been killed by racketeers because he had testified against a group of men indicted for prohibition law violation, was discarded after police questioned Mrs. Margaret Walsh Loughlin, the dead man's wife, and Leon Sachter, an attorney for the family.

The attorney said the doctor and his wife had planned to separate and that Bridgetts had "carried tales" to Mrs. Loughlin concerning the doctor's acquaintance with other women.

Cab Drivers Robbed, Pals Beat Bandit

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(INS.)—Three taxicab drivers beat an armed bandit into submission here today when he robbed Simon Casway, 28, of $7.25 at pistol point, after a ride in his cab.

Casway's call for help attracted fellow drivers before the robber could escape.

BUENOS AIRES, May 25.—(AP.)—Jose Uriburu, for many years ambassador from Argentina to London, has resigned yesterday without giving a reason.

Mother of 2 Weeks Dead, Husband Held

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., May 25.—(AP.)—Police today arrested Kin Lewis, 40, and charged him with murder, saying he forced his wife, mother of a two weeks' old baby, to walk 35 miles. She later died. As officers sought to arrest Lewis, he drew a knife and stabbed himself. Physicians said he might not live.

Fliers Seek New Endurance Mark

Ohio Will Drop Pacifist Educator

COLUMBUS, O., May 25.—(AP.)—Prof. Herbert A. Miller, of the sociology department of Ohio State University, will be dropped from the university teaching staff next year, it became known from reliable sources today. Failure to renew his contract was attributed to his attitude against compulsory military training on the campus.

Prof. Miller recently returned from abroad where he was closely associated with the non-violence campaign of Mahatma Gandhi, the Indian revolutionary leader.

Youth Held in Death Of Father After Row

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(AP.)—Joseph Rachubinski, 18, held under $1,000 bail pending outcome of a coroner's inquest into the death of his father, Frederick, 45, who died Saturday.

The latter's wife said her husband had come home drunk and had started abusing her. The son took up the quarrel, she told police, and after a scuffle the elder Rachubinski died. His son said the father fell over dead after the scuffle had ceased.

Human Shield Bars Bandit's Capture

HINTON, W. Va., May 25.—(AP.)—A living shield guarded the escape of an unmasked bandit from a store here last night. The bandit leaped behind a customer when Clarence Parker, owner of the store, obtained a pistol. He held the customer before him as he backed to the door and fled with $26.

Pittsburgh Airman Claims Hawks' Mark

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(INS.)—The Pittsburgh to Camden air record of Capt. Frank Hawks was reported shattered today by "Slim" Carmichale, Pittsburg Airways pilot, who said he negotiated the distance yesterday in 1 hour 15 minutes.

KIRKLAND FATE NEARING JURY

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 25.—(INS.)—For 12 hours today and part of tomorrow, Virgil Kirkland, 20, will hear himself alternately condemned or defended for the death of Arlene Draves, his young sweetheart, who died after a gin-drinking party in Gary, Ind., last November.

Then the fate of the former high school football star will be in the hands of the 12 jurors. At the first trial, Kirkland was sentenced to life imprisonment, but later was granted a new trial.

Judge Crumpacker has indicated he will submit six possible verdicts for consideration by the jury instead of three, as previously announced, and 18 at the first trial. The verdict probably will include murder by attack, which carries a mandatory death sentence; attack, attempted attack manslaughter and acquittal.

PLAN TO DRAFT BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP.)—Legislation to authorize the government to conscript industries and business enterprises in time of war was drafted today by Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, for introduction in the next Congress.

Brookhart's bill would provide that the government pay to the owners of conscripted property 1 1-3 per cent upon their capital investments.

The Iowan also would impose, in time of war, an income tax of 75 per cent upon net incomes of $100,000 and less and would tax all incomes above $100,000, 100 per cent.

He would restrict the profits of industries which are not conscripted to 1 1-3 per cent upon their capital investments.

COUNTY HONORS SOLDIER DEAD OF NATION

Ceremonies Paying Tribute To Heroes of Wars Will Continue Through Week

Tribute to the soldier dead of Allegheny County was begun yesterday by civic and patriotic organizations in the first of a week's series of services culminating Saturday in the Memorial Day observance.

Veterans of all wars were honored yesterday in special services in churches and cemeteries. The Kenneth Newman Post, Mt. Washington, American Legion, honored its dead with services in Olympia Park, preceded by a parade from the Ex-Service Club in Boggs avenue. Judge William H. McNaugher and District Attorney Andrew T. Park were speakers.

JUDGE REID SPEAKS

In Allegheny Cemetery Judge Ambrose B. Reid addressed patriotic groups, urging a steadfast respect for law and order as a safeguard toward preserving the union. His address was part of the memorial services of the Davis Star Camp, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, which paid tribute at the mausoleum of its founder, Maj. A. P. Davis. A military parade of members and the Daughters of Union Veterans preceded the services.

The Rev. Dr. J. Kirkwood Craig, national chaplain of the organization, assisted at the ceremonies. Taps by buglers of the American Cadets and a salute from the firing squad were sounded while wreaths were placed. Further services were held in memory of the 87 girl victims of the Arsenal explosion in 1862.

LEGION MEN PARADE

A parade of the Capt. John M. Clarke Post No. 305, American Legion, preceded memorial services in the Second Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg yesterday morning. Presentation of the American flag and honoring of Capt. John Renton, sole survivor of the William G. Lawry Post No. 548, G. A. R., marked the ceremonies.

Annual services of the 111th Infantry Veterans Association, were held last night in the Gen. A. J. Logan Armory, Oakland. Gen. E. C. Shannon and Col. James L. Costella were speakers.

Forty posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars attended exercises in the Davis Theater for members and preceded their program with a parade from the North Side, led by Police and Firemen's Post No. 303.

NORTH BOROUGHS SERVICES

More than 1,000 persons attended the North Boroughs combined services yesterday afternoon in Bayne Cemetery, Vellevue. The Rev. Dr. John B. Magee, of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, and chaplain of the North Boroughs Post No. 116, American Legion, delivered the address. John Nixon and Peter Krempel, only surviving Civil War veterans in the district, served as commanders in the parade to the cemetery.

Services were conducted during the day at St. Ann's Cemetery, by Overbrook and Castle Shannon veterans. Others were held in St. Martin's Cemetery, West End, and in Bethany Lutheran Church.

Services will be continued throughout the week. There will be a special broadcast Wednesday night over KDKA, under auspices of the Allegheny County American Legion, with Commander John B. Nicklas in charge.

Prison Fire Hero Arrested as Bandit

DETROIT, May 25.—(INS.)—David Brennan, 26, paroled convict and said to have been one of the heroes of the Ohio State Penitentiary fire last Easter Monday, and two companions, are held by Detroit police today as bandit suspects.

Police claim that they found two revolvers in the man's car, which, they alleged, had been stolen from Marietta, O. The others under arrest are Edward Arnold, 38, of Alliance, O., and Joseph Zidack, of Powhatan, O.

Air Speed Record Broken in Tests

CALSHOT, England, May 25.—(AP.)—The world's airplane speed record of 357 miles per hour, made by Squadron Leader August H. Orlebar in 1929, was reported today to have been broken several times by pilots in training for the Schneider Cup races.

While the figures have not been given out, it was understood that pilots exceeded 360 miles per hour while driving racing seaplanes in trial flights.

Coolidge Urges More Business in Philippines

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 25.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

Something of a reversal of opinion is taking place concerning Philippine independence both in the islands and in this country. Due to the competition that is felt from sugar and other agricultural products, there is an increased amount of sentiment in our southern and central states favoring separation, while a growing conviction that free entry to our markets is necessary to their economic welfare is making Filipino sentiment less favorable to independence.

Mr. Coolidge

If at last the Filipinos are giving less thought to politics and more thought to business they are on the right road. They possess great natural resources, but unless they develop these and increase the possible revenues of their government, they must remain dependent on the advantages of a free market in this country and continue unable to support independence. A firm business foundation is a very necessary preliminary requirement to any further extension to them of self-government.

Our relationship to the Philippines is much broader than dollars and cents. Economic factors ought not to be decisive with them or with us. There are mutual responsibilities to the people involved and to the rest of the world which rise above questions of profit.

SENATE BATTLE NEAR ON COAL POLICE BILL

Salus to Offer Amendments Restoring Original Aims To Musmanno's Measure

repeal a law by fiat, like the Russian Czars did. The only way to repeal a law is by legislative enactment.

TIME FOR ACTION

Musmanno commented on the reply of Senator William S. Rial who said:

"The system is vicious, but labor men in Westmoreland County don't care a hoot for the Musmanno bill. He's gone insane about it."

The representative declared:

"Senator Rial has suggested that we wait until the next session. The time to smash the coal and iron police system is now.

"If nothing is done in the four remaining days of this session, nothing will ever be done, because the people will lose courage and feel that as against entrenched special privilege it is hopeless to fight."

Musmanno's radio speech Saturday night brought statements from Attorney Henry Ellenbogen, spokesman for the Civil Liberties Union and the Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day, pastor of Christ M. E. Church. Ellenbogen said:

"House bill No. 2 has been finally passed by the House and is now in the Senate. It repeals the coal and iron police system. This is the only bill that abolishes the system and therefore it should be enacted into law.

"We call upon the people of Western Pennsylvania and indeed of the entire state immediately to telegraph their senators in Harrisburg to recall House Bill No. 2 from the Committee on Judiciary General and pass it in the Senate. We call upon each and every senator to take such action. The senators who refuse to take this action should be remembered. They should be defeated by the people when they ask for re-election."

DR. DAY SPEAKS

Dr. Day, one of the leaders of the Pittsburgh branch Civil Liberties Union, and active in the battle for abolishment of the coal and iron police system, declared:

"I am grateful that the Sun-Telegraph is taking up the cudgels to assist Mr. Musmanno in his manful fight to abolish the coal and iron police.

"The atrocity committed against John Borkowski was only an epitome of the many shameful assaults upon the liberties of Pennsylvanians through a long period of years by these privately owned police.

"Will the Senate of Pennsylvania have the effrontery to continue such an un-American regime by the emasculation of Mr. Musmanno's bill?

"If they do there will be a day of reckoning. The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small.

"Senator Rial says he appreciates the viciousness of the present system. Why then should he be a party to undercover schemes to perpetuate it? Why should anybody attempt to find any excuse to continue Pennsylvania's shame? Let us clear the statute books now, once for all."

If the Senate votes down the Musmanno bill and Gov. Pinchot refuses to issue any commissions and cancels all existant commissions July 1, for coal and iron police, there are two alternatives—the hiring of deputy sheriffs by industrial plants as guards, or, in time of labor trouble, calling out the militia. It has been more than 20 years since the National Guard has been called for strike duty.

Pinchot to Attend Dinner for Hoover

HARRISBURG, May 25.—(INS.)—Immediately after the close of the legislative session, Gov. Gifford Pinchot early next Friday will leave here for Philadelphia, where he will attend a dinner at the Union League at which President Hoover will be the guest of honor, it was announced by the executive office here today.

On Memorial Day, the Governor will go to Oyster Bay, L. I., where he will address the Quentin Roosevelt Post of the American Legion. The executive will leave there for French Lick Springs, Ind., where he will attend the annual governors' conference.

Constabulary Urged As Police Substitute

HARRISBURG, May 25.—Members of the Senate Judiciary General Committee today were urged to consider the state police as a solution for the coal and iron police problem by the Pennsylvania Civil Liberties Committee. The committee sent letters to each member.

The committee said when the state constabulary was established in 1905, it was to abolish the coal and iron police. The Senate was asked to pass House bill No. 2, sponsored by Representative Musmanno.

Pinchot Indifferent To Walker Approval

HARRISBURG, May 25.—(INS.)—The administration has taken no position in regard to confirmation by the Senate of Samuel H. Walker, of Butler, as a member of the Public Service Commission, Gov. Gifford Pinchot said today.

The committee is expected to report the Walker nomination to the Senate tonight. If administration Senators have not been instructed to oppose him it is believed he will receive sufficient votes for confirmation.

bill. He is chairman of the Judiciary General Committee to which the bill was sent on March 24. I interviewed him immediately after the reference of the bill, with the object of having him bring it before the committee for consideration. In the ordinary course of business the bill should have been considered without any request from me, but there seems to be a rule in that committee unless the chairman is willing that a bill be considered that he, ex officio, becomes that bill's executioner, embalmer and undertaker.

ALWAYS EVASIVE

"I made visit after visit to him. I wrote him letters, but at no time did he give me any definite answer. There was always something evasive in his manner when I approached him on this perfectly legitimate matter.

"I pointed out that the Legislature was drawing to a close. I interviewed other senators of the committee and they all referred me to Senator Earnest.

"At last after an unpardonable delay of eight weeks, with the adjournment date of the Legislature looming over the horizon, Senator Earnest consented to do what fairness and the usual discharge of his chairmanship duties required him to have done many weeks ago—he consented to let the commitee see the bill."

important ones and I shall decide carefully."

Senator John J. McClure, Delaware County:

"It doesn't affect my constituents and I'm not entirely familiar with the coal and iron police problem. I couldn't say how I will vote."

RIAL INDIFFERENT

Senator William S. Rial, Westmoreland County, charged by Musmanno with being interested in the measure:

"I don't propose to fight these amendments. I don't care either way."

Senator Frederick T. Gelder, of Susquehanna County, said he had not read the amendments, but would, adding:

"The measure seems to apply to Western Pennsylvania particularly. I expect to be guided by the changes and the construction of the amendments. I have made no decision."

"I have no comment to make."

MUSMANNO PLANS FIGHT

While the cross-cut of senatorial opinion as expressed by this group, indicated doubt in many minds as to the outcome, Representative M. A. Musmanno said that before the bill came up for second reading late tonight, he would personally talk to every senator and explain the meaning of his original bill and the conflict in the amendments.

He deplored the "pickling" of the companion repealer bill which, in the event it reached the floor, must necessarily pass if the main measure is to supplant the Mansfield act. Musmanno said:

"I am hopeful for results, although I have no voice in the Senate. By discussing the merits of my measure with them individually I expect to enlist some aid—enough, I hope, to have Senator Salus' amendments restore it to its original form.

"It will put the senators on record either way."

JAIL WITNESSES IN THEFT

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 25.—Two alibi witnesses for the defense in the McGreevy barbecue murder case here last week, were held by state police today following a holdup and robbery of the Polkadot Inn on the William Penn highway. The prisoners are Charles Boyle, 22, and Aloysius Baldridge, 22, both of Braddock. They appeared as witnesses for Paul E. Boges, Russell Wentz and John Greenwald, Pittsburgh youths, convicted of first-degree murder last Saturday.

The owner of the inn told police he found the pair stealing tires from a parked auto. Later, the police learned the men were wanted for holding up a truck driver of the Pittsburgh Dry Cleaning Company in Turtle Creek.

MASS OF BILLS DOOMED TO DIE IN ASSEMBLY

Legislative Jam in Last Week of Session Worst Known; Extra Session Sure

HARRISBURG, May 25.—(INS.)—Confronted with the worst jam of recent years, Pennsylvania's Legislature tonight enters upon the twenty-first and final week of its 1931 session.

Scheduled to adjourn sine die at noon Thursday, both houses will find it impossible to clear their calendars by that date and, with expectations that the legislative machinery will be clogged several times before Thursday, leaders prepared to see much proposed legislation fall by the wayside. As a result of the jam, observers forecast that Gov. Pinchot will have ample reason for reconvening both houses in extrardinary session early in 1932.

EXTRA SESSION IN '32

That a special session will be called, principally to take up public utility legislation sponsored by the chief executive, is now doubted by no one on Capitol Hill.

With approximately 160 measures on third reading and final passage in the House tonight, members of that chamber envisioned an all night session with more fireworks than the chamber has seen since the 1931 meeting got under way. Many of the pending bills are appropriation measures and must be passed in the House tonight if they are to have any chance of going through the Senate in the three legislative days remaining.

ROAD BILL TO PASS

Several important administration bills await action there, including the 20,000-mile rural road program measure, which will be called up for final action tonight, along with the Wheeler bills carrying appropriations to provide for the program.

Passage of the measures without pronounced opposition is forecast and the Senate is also expected to get the general appropriation bill out of the way early for approval of the Governors.

The Upper House still has several appropriation bills to approve and the spectre of the Senate-administration utility battle has not yet been laid sufficiently to assure against a flareup which may tie the upper chamber in a knot before the gavels fall for the final day.

'RUINED' POLICE BILL EXPLAINED

Following is Representative M. A. Musmanno's explanation of the Senate Judiciary General Committee's "butchering" of his bill for the regulation of coal and iron police:

1—Took out "teeth" and supplanted limitation provisions with those giving guards first class police powers.

2—Reduced to vagueness the responsibility for coal police actions by failing to specify responsibility.

3—Ignored Musmanno's amendment which would have given the guards right to move off property after a felony had been committed and catch the felon.

Representative Musmanno said he understood, after being called before the committee, that his amendment proposal was satisfactory to the members.

QUIZ SOUGHT IN VOTE MACHINE DELAYS

machines are ready for use in several counties.

It was said to include a statement that a demand has been made for such an investigation because charges have been made that public officials are personally interested in voting machine manufacturing and that employes of the state and counties have been used as agents of companies.

Authority to inquire into contracts with the various counties and the companies would also be given the committee, while it would be able to look into and divulge the personnel, facilities and methods of concerns making voting machines.

SEES BENEFIT IN QUIZ

Senator Harris explained that in counties where millions of dollars in contracts have been awarded and the situation is muddled as to their delivery and operation, an inquiry might assist in clarifying the conditions. He declared:

"If the resolution is passed, every phase of the voting machine situation can be examined, and the people can be given the chance to realize why voting machines are not in use as thy commanded by their votes. If it does nothing more than let the public in on it, it will serve a useful purpose."

Philadelphia and Allegheny counties, through legal battles and other difficulties have had delivery of voting machines held up three to the time limit prescribed by law. Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth, last week said he would use the power of his office to enforce use of machines in Allegheny County.

FIGHT RABIES AT DRAVOSBURG

A 100-day dog quarantine was established in Dravosburg today in an effort to check the spread of rabies, found in the examination of the head of a stray dog which attacked Karl Kendall, 10, of Grant street, Dravosburg, several days ago.

Owners of canine pets have been notified that they must keep them locked up during the period of quarantine. Five owners were fined by Justice of the Peace H. C. Senton Saturday night for owning a dog without a license.

Suspect in Fatal Street Fight Held

G. H. SNOWDON DIES IN CRASH

George H. Snowdon, coal operator, president of the George H. Snowdon Company and well-known clubman, was killed early today when his automobile crashed into the safety zone in front of Carnegie Music Hall, Forbes street, according to a police report. He was driving alone at the time.

Police took Mr. Snowdon to Montefiore Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. He was born in Uniontown 47 years ago, the son of Charles L. and Elizabeth B. Snowdon. He had made his residence here for 28 years.

He was a graduate of Yale University, class of 1905, and was a member of the Duquesne, Allegheny Country and Edgeworth clubs and the Yale Club of New York. He was also a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church of Sewickley.

The late Mrs. Snowdon was a niece of former President William Howard Taft. Mr. Taft visited the Snowdons at their home on several occasions.

Mr. Snowdon resided at Maple lane, Shields. He leaves his parents, a daughter, Marion Louise; two sons, Charles T. and Henry T. Snowdon; two sisters, Mrs. Edward Henesey and Mrs. Ralph S. Richard, and two brothers, Felx B. and C. L. Snowdon, Jr.

Canadian Farmer, Girl Found Slain

NICOLET, Quebec, May 25—(AP.)—Starving livestock wandering about the farmyard led neighbors to the discovery of the bodies of Jean Baptiste Bellerose, 60, and his 30-year-old niece. Both had been slain by blows on the head. The disorderly appearance of the house indicated that robbers killed the pair. Bellerose was reputedly well-to-do.

ATHLETIC MEET AT DUQUESNE

Five Duquesne organizations are co-operating in the staging of a Memorial Day track and field meet for the benefit of The Duquesne Republican Clubs' milk fund which provides free milk to the city's undernourished children. The organizations are the Republican Club, the Women's Civic Club, of which Mrs. Agnes Bryan Brumbaugh is president, the Business Men's Association and the American Legion.

Mrs. Brumbaugh

Judge John Egan, of Common Pleas Court, is to be the official starter, and the meet is to be held at the school athletic field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mayor James S. Crawford is honorary chairman of the committee in charge and Dr. C. V. Allshouse is general chairman. It is expected that more than 2,000 school children and 3,500 adults will be present. The drum corps of Memorial Post, American Legion, will present a drill.

War Mother Given Second Transfusion

PARIS, May 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Gertrude Olsen, of Hayti, S. D., a member of the gold star mother's group, underwent a second blood transfusion today for an intestinal ailment and was reported to have reacted favorably.

Called as Pastor, Wife Also Installed

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 25.—(AP.)—The First Church of the Nazarene here called the Rev. Warren A. Henry to fill its pulpit and thereby acquired two pastors instead of one.

Both Mr. Henry and his wife, the Rev. Vallie M. Henry, are ordained elders of the Church of the Nazarene and they were installed as pastors of the church of that denomination here. Mrs. Henry is a graduate of the Cincinnati Theological Seminary, while her husband was graduated from the University of West Virginia.

W. VA. MAN DIES IN ACCIDENT

The body of William E. Baggs, 29, field agent for the American Fruit Growers, Inc., killed in an accident near Portland, Ore., will arrive here tomorrow night.

Baggs, son of W. H. Baggs, 65, Riverview avenue, North Side, vice president of the company, was riding with his younger brother, Andrew, at the time of the accident. The younger Baggs was slightly injured.

Baggs made his home in Martinsburg, W. Va., but funeral services will be held from his father's residence in the North Side, it was said.

Dog Dies in Fire When His Barks Are Ignored

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(AP.)—One of those dogs people call "rags" did considerable barking yesterday, first on the first floor, then the second, then back on the first, all the while scratching at windows.

Neighbors thought he was lonesome because his mistress, Mrs. Mary McKee, 65, and her granddaughter, had gone riding. So nobody paid much attention to him.

When the house burst into flames firemen were called. One of the firemen kicked what he thought was a smoking rolled up rug. It was "Rags," who died in the flames.

TEMPLARS OPEN STATE MEETING

ERIE, Pa., May 25.—(AP.)—Services in St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral last night opened the seventy-eighth annual conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania. The conclave will end Wednesday.

The Very Rev. Martin Aigner, grand prelate of the order in this state, conducted the service after a parade. Among officials of the order present were the Right Eminent Sir Adrian D. Hammersley, grand recorder, the Very Eminent Sir Clyde P. Love, deputy grand commander, and the Right Eminent James H. Chickering, of Oil City, grand commander.

FRANCE HONORS JOAN OF ARC

ROUEN, France, May 25.—St. Joan of Arc—Jeanne D'Arc to her own countrymen—who was burned at the stake 500 years ago, was honored yesterday in signal fashion in this city of her martyrdom.

Dignataries of the Catholic church did her homage in ceremonies in the Cathedral of Notre Dame.

Visitors from all over Normandy, from Paris and the north of France, flocked in all day. During the week there will be an elaborate program of ceremonies, reaching the climax next Saturday, the five hundredth anniversary of the death of the maid of Orleans.

...Horne's, Main Floor...

HOW often in our dreams have we envisioned a time or place where lead was silver, and silver was gold, and sugar and spice, and everything nice were within the reach of limited pocketbooks?

Now is such a time. And this great store with its fine merchandise and beautiful fashions is such a place.

Exquisite silks, once limited to the finest frocks and supreme occasions, are now as available as lowly cottons; and glorious cottons no longer lowly are to be had for so little as to place practically no limits on one's summer wardrobe.

Prices are lower today on many seasonable and staple commodities than most people realize.

The qualities and sources, as far as this store is concerned, are identically the same.

We are sometimes put to an effort to assure people that their eyes are not mistaken, and that this amazingly low-priced article is the identical quality in every respect, which they have always bought here.

This is notably true in the case of furniture and home furnishings. Small apartments are being furnished completely today at little more than the former price paid to furnish a single room.

What are people doing about these lower prices?

Some are buying price, merely asking who is the cheapest; others are profiting by the situation to have finer and lovelier things than ever before for their money. These are great days for thrifty folks who are smart enough to shop wisely.

Those Smaller Bayonets

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Peace moved a soaped step closer to itself when the English army reduced the poking radius of its bayonet.

In times of raging war the English military skewer is 26 inches from steel to toe. That's direct from trench to consumer.

Now that days of perilous peace are here the English army will reduce its potato fork to nine inches. That's a conciliatory move that will make a Riff drop his musket and reach for a baseball bat.

If there is anything that will make a man's stomach play leapfrog with the horizon it is those war bayonets. The worst is the French.

A blue devil could gallop through the enemy and string 'em on his bayonet like beads.

The blamed things were about seven feet long and would hold 14 passengers. And a few more if they crowded up towards the front.

We have seen men at bayonet practice. It was the one thing that got their ibex. Bayonetting a sandbag was enough to make a soldier fold up in a very non-military swoon.

We don't know why. They could distribute bullets and hand grenades wholesale or retail as the occasion demanded. But the very sight of a long, shiny bayonet made the edges of your vest curl up very coyly.

Now, the English have reduced them to nine inches in honor of peace, science, research, good will to men and the conservation of wild bird life.

Which means nothing except the English army will have to stand closer to you in order to slice you up the front like a salt mackerel.

That's worse. You will not only be bayoneted as usual, but as an added attraction you will have the English army breathing on you.

Couldn't the English army show its peaceful intentions by discarding the bayonet entirely and substituting a chunk of rubber?

Just like they have on lead pencils.

Chicken Thief Gets 1-3-Year Sentence

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 25.—Alexander Hartzell, who entered a plea of stealing chickens and a watch, was, on Saturday, sentenced by Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers to serve from one to three years in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

1 KILLED, 1 HURT BY DYNAMITE

HINTON, W. Va., May 25.—(AP.)—Arthur Martin, 26, was killed and his half brother, Carl Waddell, seriously injured when a charge of dynamite exploded on a private road project at Brooks, near here.

The men, engaged in building a road from the main highway to their home, a mile up the mountainside, placed four sticks of dynamite in a rock formation Saturday but it failed to explode. They returned yesterday, placed another stick in the cavity and lighted the fuse. They believed the resultant explosion had detonated all the dynamite, but when they returned to the spot there was a second explosion.

The American Legion's power for service to disabled ex-service men and to the community is due to its numerical strength, according to Judge D. Paulson Foster who gave a memorial address yesterday before the Perry Highway Post of the American Legion, in Legion Hall.

Judge Foster also spoke at the First United Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg; St. Ann's Cemetery, Castle Shannon, and over radio station WCAE.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

"Marriage is never too early and never too late. Are you interested in a MARRIAGE OPPORTUNITY? If so, the World Prominent MATCHMAKER SPECIALIST can help you—Call Mr. Rubin at the B—— Building.

"My big acquaintance with all classes of respectable business, professional high class working people and nice intelligent girls from rich business families, also widows and widowers in all ages will surely help to suit you and solve your problem through modern and honest methods. Everything is absolutely strictly confidential!"

—From an honest-to-goodness circular letter received by this column last week.

Dear Mr. Rubin:

I hope you will not mind me writing to you like this. But your circular interested me, and since we're both young fellows trying to get along, I thought there might be a chance of the two of us getting together. I sincerely hope so.

Personally, I was never married—much. But I guess that you, being in the business, must have been tied up at one time or another. So I figure that, with your experience and my connections, the two of us ought to be able to put across some of the greatest matches this town has ever seen . . .

There's a little kid I know, for instance, who's pining for a husband in the worst way. She's a bashful little girlie—and if she knew I were writing to you about her, she'd just die of mortification. But I feel kind of sorry for the kid, and since your circular says that everything is positively confidential, I know you'll keep it under your hat.

Her name is Peggy Joyce. And, take it from me, Mr. Rubin, in all your days of matchmaking you never met a girl who was more deserving of a husband. She doesn't want anything in the way of worldly goods. Money and jewelry are far from her mind.

"Mark," said Peggy to me one night as she warmed her hands over a gas jet, "I can't understand why I can't find someone to marry me. Surely, somewhere in this world, there must be someone for me. Must I always be a bridesmaid and never a bride?

"I'm different from other girls. I don't want cars and a home on Park avenue. All I want is an honest man who earns at least $50 a week. All I ask is that he be kind to me. Won't you please look around for me?"

And there you are, Mr. Rubin. That's the first case I could throw right into your lap if we became partners. If you're interested I might be able to dig up a picture of this Joyce girl. She very rarely poses for pictures—but if I told her it was for you, Mr. Rubin, she might consider it. . . .

That isn't the only subject I've got for you, Mr. Rubin. I know a young, ambitious fellow who is also looking around for a chance to hop into the matrimonial sea.

This kid's name is Edward West Browning. A few of his acquaintances call him Daddy. He's a go-getting young fellow—and he shows a lot of promise in the real estate business. You'll like the boy if you meet him, Mr. Rubin. Almost everybody does.

"Mark," he said to me one night, as we were talking things over in one of his vacant lots, "maybe you can help me find the type of girl I am looking for. What I want is some clever woman around the age of 50 who will be both a wife and a companion to me.

"These modern girls don't appeal to me at all. Bobbed hair and short skirts are not for me. I want the kind of a woman who will stay at home and cook my supper, not the type who will always be running off to dance halls and things. You know what I mean?

That's the kind of a fellow my friend Browning is, Mr. Rubin. None of your new-fangled ideas for him. Doesn't it do your heart good to meet a chap like him every once in so often?

Those aren't the only prospects I have in mind, Mr. Rubin. There's a kid named Guinan that I could plant with our concern, and I have also have a connection with a freckle-faced little child named Fannie Ward who wants to get married as soon as she becomes of age.

But I don't see why I should give you any more names, Matchmakers are only human, after all, I guess—and there's just a chance that you will send your circulars to these people without taking me into your partnership at all. If you do that, Mr. Rubin, it will be a dirty trick and I'll never trust another matchmaker as long as I live.

Drop into my office at your earliest convenience, Mr. Rubin, so that we can draw up the necessary papers. As a matter of fact, there's just a chance that a friend of mine will be our first customer. He's looking for a sweet, young girl who never took a drink, never smoked a cigaret, never stayed out all night, never used paint or powder—and was a member of the Follies for at least four years.

Do you think you can dig him up that kind of a girl, Mr. Rubin? . . .

Clara Bow's One Real Romance Wrecked by Jealousy of Roland

Outside Influences Broke Troth With One Man She Really Loved

The Sun-Telegraph today presents the seventh chapter of the REAL life story of Clara Bow by Louella O. Parsons, who has so strikingly pictured the early struggles of the rollicking, devil-may-care screen star. Miss Parsons reveals a Clara Bow little known to her admiring public. The facts have been supplied by the screen girl and her father.

CHAPTER VII.

To Clara and her father, Robert Bow, all this new life meant success which was greater than anything they had ever dreamed of. Robert Bow would look at his little girl with the great dark eyes and say to himself:

"I must watch over her. I must do the things that Sarah would have me do."

Often, he recalled, he had promised Sarah when she was worried that her little one might be still-born, that she would grow up and be a comfort to them in their old age. And Clara has, indeed, fulfilled that hope to her father.

Clara's first Hollywood picture was made in the Preferred studios on Mission road. Ethel Shannon was the star in "Maytime." Clara's first picture. Miss Shannon, who is now retired from the screen, and who is married to Joe Jackson, felt no jealousy over the arrival of the new actress. She gave her every help and with Gaston Glass and Kenneth Harlan, did her utmost to make the stranger comfortable.

Given Small Part

"Maytime" did not do much for Clara. She only had a small part and she worried all the time she was making the picture for fear that she wasn't making good. Clara has always been supersensitive. She has no conceit and she never feels that her work is good. In that Clara is like all great actresses. Bernhardt had that quality. So did Duse. They both dreaded the rise of any curtain and both feared they were not giving a performance that would please their public.

After seeing the bright-eyed child on the screen again, B. P. Schulberg, who has been Clara's greatest friend and who understands all the Bow characteristics, was planning for even better releases. He sensed that he had a real artist in Clara. When Carl Laemmle asked that Clara be given the lead in "Wine," he sent her to Universal City without a word, realizing that Universal had a better release and they could do more for Clara than he and J. G. Bachmann could do with their independent pictures.

It was "Wine" that started Clara on the flapper type of character that she was to make famous all over the country. She symbolized the gay, modern girl who was faced with all the temptations of the present generation.

Creates Type

It was only natural, then, that in view of her work in "Wine," B. P. Schulberg should set out to find another story with the same type of character. He and his partner, J. G. Bachmann, considered it a great feather in their caps when they were able to buy "The Plastic Age" by Percy Marks. Mr. Marks' book was one of the big sellers of the year. He went rather deeply into the subject of the younger set, showing the effects of cocktail parties, late dancing, wild automobile rides and other youthful indiscretions.

It is interesting that "The Plastic Age" brought Clara two of her most interesting romances. Her leading man, Donald Keith, good-looking and young, fell in love with Clara while they were making the picture. The heavy, played by Gilbert Roland, cast admiring eyes at the dark-eyed, vivacious little Bow girl. At first Clara couldn't see Gilbert Roland. He was the villain in the picture and her interest was all centered in the hero.

Donald Keith was different from any of the boys she had met in Brooklyn. He paid her assiduous court. He gave her beautiful compliments and Clara, believing that she had won her Prince Charming, finally said "yes" to his tempestuous wooing.

The newspapers carried the story that Clara Bow and Donald Keith were to be married on Christmas Day, 1925.

Avoids Marriage

There is little doubt but that Keith was madly in love with Clara. He gave out interviews and prepared to lead the attractive little Bow girl to the altar. When it came down to marriage, Clara had other ideas. Donald Keith was all right as a playmate and a friend, but she really wasn't in love with him.

In discussing her romance with Donald Keith, Clara said:

"Donald Keith is one of the finest men I have ever known, but I wasn't ready to marry anyone. I became frightened at the mention of marriage. My father, who liked Donald, said, 'You shouldn't marry now—you've work to do.' So Donald and I parted, a little tearful, it is true, but both convinced our beautiful dream of romance was ended."

Just when Clara was recovering from her Keith love affair, there came into her life the first man that she ever truly loved. Clara has always said that Gilbert Roland was the first great love of her life. Clara was only 20 years old then, and never in her life had she met a man who would kiss her hand, read poetry to her, and sing tender Spanish love songs. She adored Gilbert Roland. Gilbert was under contract to B. P. Schulberg, and Ben, realizing the romance of his two players, encouraged it by saying pleasant things about Clara to Gilbert, and equally nice things to Clara about Gilbert.

CLARA BOW NOW

Jealousy Enters

"I know," Clara once told me, "if Gilbert and I had been left alone, we might have been happy, but outside things always kept interfering."

Even so, Clara and Gilbert had a romance that lasted longer than any of the affairs she has ever had. One reason for their break was Gilbert's jealousy. Clara can no more help being ni to people than the sun can help from shining. She has always had the inherent idea that she wants everybody to be happy. The men with whom she had romances left feeling that she was the one woman they really loved. You can pin any of these men down and not one of them will say that Clara had been to blame. You could question Clara until the Angel Gabriel blows his horn.

Just when the Gilbert Roland romance was the hottest, Clara was summoned by Ben Schulberg's office. Ben had signed a contract with Paramount through which his future pictures would be released and he wanted the little red-haired girl to be one of his first stars. He also had arranged for Gilbert Roland to go with them.

Better Pictures

Ben Schulberg's contract with Paramount meant that Clara was to have better pictures. She rejoiced with him and agreed that this newer arrangement was to bring her bigger things than she had ever dreamed. Her romance with Gilbert Roland at that time was at its zenith. They were seeing each other every night and Clara was never happier in her life. She had her father by her side. She had a pleasant home; she had enough money to dress well and life, indeed, was looking up for the girl who at one time had had nothing but tragedy.

Corinne Griffith made plans to bring Gertrude Atherton's widely read "Black Oxen" to the screen. Discussing the part of the granddaughter with Frank Lloyd, her director, they both agreed that Clara Bow was the logical choice for this interesting young flapper.

"Frank Lloyd was one of the most helpful directors I have ever had," Clara told me. "I often feel that 'Black Oxen' was the turning point in my life. It gave me a chance to play the spoiled young American heiress, a young girl who has life at her feet, but who doesn't know what to pick up and what to pass by. Frank Lloyd was very kind to me. He was patient, and he encouraged me to give the best that was in me before the camera. I have never been able to rehearse and he allowed me to play my scenes without the tedious hours of rehearsal."

When her father remarried, Clara Bow wondered what her mother would think of someone else being in her place. Tomorrow's installment relates how Clara played hostess to the newlyweds.

Tomorrow Miss Parson's REAL life story of Clara Bow introduces two persons who have played a vital part in the "It" girl's career—Gary Cooper and Daisy De Voe. It reveals Clara's first contact with the girl held responsible for the screen star's greatest tragedy.

CHARM FAILS, 2 ARRESTED

A Swissvale resident and an alleged love charm specialist of the Hill district were under arrest today as the result of the former's complaint that charms given him by the specialist proved worthless.

Andrew Florida, 39, of 2132 Monongahela avenue, Swissvale, complained to Lieut. James Hoban that for $7 he obtained a pink pincushion, plant roots and incense from Lady Adams, 26, Negro, of 1921 Webster avenue, as "charms" which would win for him the love of the girl he admired.

After waiting a week, Florida said that the charms were without results and he demanded his money back. The woman refused to refund his $7, and Florida complained to Lieut. Hoban. Hoban arrested both of them pending an investigation.

Spouse Unfaithful, Wife Gets Divorce

Virginia Connelly Thrasher, 27, 921 South Aiken avenue, was granted a divorce from Allen W. Thrasher, Jr., 29, of the William Penn Hotel, by Judge W. Heber Dithrich today. Mrs. Thrasher charged her husband with keeping company with a waitress for three months prior to their separation in February. The couple married May 31, 1924.

Couple Celebrates Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Conley, of Broadway, East McKeesport, today are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary with a party attended by their 10 children and their four grandchildren. Mr. Conley, 76, and his wife, Mrs. Mary Mullen Conley, 67, were pioneer residents of Irwin.

Radio Police Squad Arrests Suspect

FREED ON FINE IN CLEANUP

Arrested twice in 24 hours, Frank Girano, of 39 Logan street, was fined $100 today on a charge of keeping a disorderly house after police confiscated a second supply of moonshine liquor in his place, near the Franklin School, late Saturday.

The fine came by request of Police Inspector Albert Beebe, who asked Magistrate Rothenberg in Center Avenue Police Court not to hold Girano for court on a liquor charge. Director of Public Safety James M. Clark requested police officials and magistrates Thursday to mete out severest possible penalties to keepers of disorderly houses near schools in the Hill district.

Girano was first given a hearing Saturday by Magistrate W. R. McNamara. He was discharged, in spite of two baskets of moonshine offered as evidence, when he denied connection with the speakeasy.

BANK WORKERS SENTENCED

Former employes of the Second National Bank of Altoona pleaded guilty to charges of embezzlement before Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court today.

Cyril Nagle, 37, was sentenced to 18 months in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta when he admitted defalcations of $27,000 over a period of six years. He was assistant cashier of the bank, which recently failed.

H. Eugene Nagle, 25, a brother, admitted defalcations of $1,005 and was placed on probation for two years when he made full restitution. He was a former bookkeeper.

Jean Stone, 28, clerk and relief teller, admitting defalcations of approximately $12,000, was placed on probation for two years. Attorney E. Lowry Humes, representing Miss Stone, told the court that, since the girl went to work in the bank, eight years ago, she had supported nine members of her family.

The Electric Refrigerator

. . . OFFERS SO MUCH FOR SO VERY LITTLE

You've long promised yourself that SOME DAY you'll treat your family to an electric refrigerator. You've put it off. Why?

Don't you know that an electric refrigerator pays for itself in the savings it effects in food and time . . . in economies of all sorts?

And don't you know that the easy terms offered today on electric refrigerators give you so much time for payment that your refrigerator will be helping you to make your payments out of savings?

That's why NO ONE need wait, today, in order to enjoy the benefits of electric refrigeration. You can afford it NOW.

And think what added comfort and protection it will afford your family! Milk, cream, butter, vegetables, meats—all perishable foods—are kept fresh and wholesome. Left-overs can be served again, in new forms, and at a considerable saving to the food budget.

Remember, too, that reliable low temperature, electrically controlled, is real health protection . . . dependable and safe.

Remember, you can buy food in quantity, on days when prices are lowest. So get a refrigerator of ample size. You'll find that it will prove to be a thrifty investment.

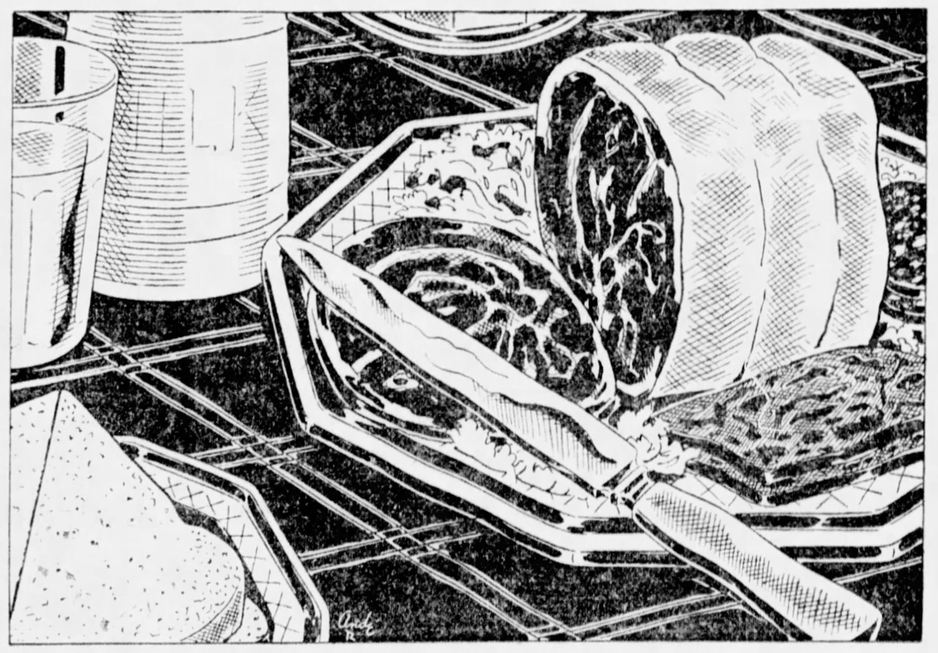
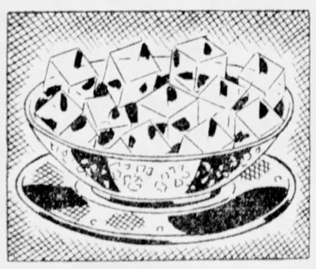
INVEST IN AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR





One of the delights of an electric refrigerator is the freshness and full flavor it gives to fresh meats and other perishable foods. A greater variety of appetizing dishes are made possible to every family that has an electric refrigerator in the kitchen. And then there is the convenience of always having plenty for ice-cubes ready to use. Food bought on Monday, at low prices, is as good the following Saturday or Sunday as on the day it was bought.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

If You Want Friendship You Must Earn It

She's a man hater!

She's sure they're all lying ruffians!

No, she isn't a soured old lady. She's only 21—just at the gateway of life, when all the sweet tides of spring should be rising in her heart—

When Romance and High Adventure should glimmer and beckon. But . . . in spite of the fact that her heart is hungry for them . . . all she can see ahead is gloom, bitterness and disappointment! Why? Well, you see she's already had a few disappointments . . . as most of us have . . . so she's decided that—

Has Bitter Outlook

But here she is in person. Maybe you'll sympathize with her. Maybe you'll think she's right . . .

"Dear Miss Martin:

"This is just another one of those letters seeking counsel. You are so frank and sincere that I feel maybe you can help me. I am 21, rather unsophisticated for the age in which I live. I spent my high school days in a convent day school, and was brought up by mid-Victorian parents.

"What I would like to have you do is try and give me a less bitter outlook on life. I have had various disappointments which hurt me deeply. I have tried to overcome the feeling they have given me, but I can't do it.

"I feel as though I will never be able to find a nice young man who is pure and clean in mind and in heart. Is there such a one . . . . or is he just a myth?

Can't Hold Friends

"I feel as though I am going to be left behind when it comes to matrimony. I don't believe there is anyone who would love me truly, and not tell me a lot of lies and then forget me because I am old-fashioned and slow. Can you help me? I can't seem to see my way myself.

"Please tell me what is wrong with me. Why can't I hold my friends. I feel so blue and discouraged now.

"TWENTY-ONE."

Why can't you keep your friends, little girl? Well, of course; there may be plenty of reasons that you haven't mentioned. You may never have learned to be the interesting, companionable sort of girl that friends long to flock around. You may be so deeply interested in yourself that you really haven't any friendship to give . . . and make very sure that you have to give it, if you expect to get it. Friendship is just like anything else, sister. If you want it, you have to earn it. And I suspect that you've expected it to be handed you on a platter, just because you are such a Nice Girl . . .

But I also suspect that the big reason people disappoint you is that you don't believe in them. You expect the worst of them . . . and show it. Being only human, they resent your injustice, and fade out of the picture in search of more inspiring company. You're actually two-timing both them and yourself!

Look for Bright Side

"But is there such a thing as a Perfect Man?" you wail.

No, kid. There isn't. Men aren't perfect, any more than you are perfect. Every human is a jumble of good and bad, of nobility and meanness . . . and that goes for you . . . as well as the Big Boys . . . and what you find in them depends on what you look for. If you look for evil, you'll find evil . . . and if you look for beauty, you'll find that.

No, this doesn't mean that you won't still meet disappointments. It doesn't mean that, if you'll just believe in people, life will be a bed of roses. And it doesn't mean that you should abandon judgment and take every one on trust. But it does mean that if you have faith in people, most of them will actually strive to live up to your flattering pictures of them—your belief in them.

So stop looking on the gloomy side, honey. Look for the bright side . . . and don't expect too much.

Girls in Latest Millinery All Look Saintly and Sweet, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

What a difference a hat can make.

A few months ago all the girls were looking so wicked and wise in saucy millinery.

Now they all look so saintly and sweet.

Even the shrewdest siren looks like Little Nell with her baby bonnet perched back off her face, and some so doll-like you wonder they don't go about with the mechanical motion one sees in those vaudeville skits that are supposed to be toy shops come to life.

They do say styles have a great deal to do with morals and manners. If this is true, the Modish Miss will be beyond reproach or criticism of any kind if she behaves only half as nicely as she looks these days.

Isn't it so?

Love's Reawakening -:- Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Obviously Jealous of Veritzen, Stages an "Accident."

I did not dare to look at Dicky when Helena Brixton's admiration of the magnificent roses in the living room elicited my unwilling but necessary acknowledgement that Philip Veritzen was the donor. I was sure that my husband had been certain of the source of the roses, but he had chosen to make no comment upon them, for which I was sincerely grateful. Now, however, I had brought out into the open something which he had chosen to ignore, and I did not think his anger would be lessened by the fact that I had had no choice of utterance because of Mr. Veritzen's proximity when Helena's comment called for an answer from me.

A furtive glance from under my lashes showed me the suddenly graven lines around his mouth which spell repressed anger with him. Knowing the strength of his temper, I paid a mental tribute to his self-control when he added to my comment a hearty, "I thought they must be from you, Veritzen. Nobody else seems to have the pull with the florists that you do. They must keep an especial stock on hand for you all the time."

"Not quite that," Mr. Veritzen said deprecatingly, "but they look out for me very well."

"They must," my father said, and added an encomium on the roses to which my mother-in-law promptly subscribed. I had the grateful, yet annoyed feeling, that the family was "rallying round" to protect me as they would shield any unfortunate member guilty of an indiscretion, and grateful indeed was I when Katie came in from the kitchen to announce that the Tigers were in the kitchen. I waited only to ask Lillian to take care of my guests for me before hurrying to the kitchen to greet our neighbors, and bring them into the living room to see the trimmed Christmas tree.

I did not know what Helena Brixton's reaction would be to sharing the Christmas celebration with the Tigers. I knew that in her eyes, unaccustomed to the customs of Eastern Long Island, they belonged to the servant class. But I need not have feared for the tact of any intimate friend of Lillian's. She acknowledged with friendly graciousness the introductions to Jerry and Sam Tiger—of course she already knew Mrs. Tiger.

I think Jerry and Sam Tiger would have lingered indefinitely in the group around the Christmas tree, but Mrs. Tiger brought them firmly back to the matter in hand.

"You've got something on hand downstairs," she said and they followed her docilely back to the kitchen.

"Mother, will you and father chaperone these dancers?" I said, putting my hand affectionately on her shoulder. "Dicky, Harry, Lillian and I will have to go down to the basement to see to things there, and we will have to ask Mrs. Brixton and Mr. Veritzen to come along. But Mary will be up here with Noel."

"Those youngsters need or want a chaperone about as much as a cat needs two tails," my mother-in-law retorted. "But if you want my advice, I'd say to put a rope of some sort in front of this Christmas tree, otherwise some of those boys are going to knock some of the trimmings off as sure as you're born. Richard—" she summoned her son with an imperative gesture, "can't you find a rope to stretch across in front of this Christmas tree?"

"A rope of the green like the stair festoons would be effective," Philip Vertizen murmured, and I caught a dilation of Dicky's nostrils which told me he resented my employer's suggestion as an impertinence. But he promptly acquiesced in the suggestion—too promptly.

"Wonderful suggestion, that, old chap, if it doesn't take too long to make."

"There's an extra length on the back porch," Mary said. "We didn't need it for the stairs. Shall we get it, Auntie Marge?"

"Please," I answered, and waited tensely for I knew not what, until she and Noel had brought the rope of green back and fastened it far enough away from the Christmas tree so as to provide a natural if flimsy barrier between the dancers and the ornaments. Dicky nodded approval as they finished.

"That's the ticket," he said.

He looked around the room, then as if just seeing the mantel for the first time, walked to it and paused in front of the exquisite crystal and silver container of roses which Philip Veritzen had brought me as a Christmas wish.

"This will be jarred off from here if they get to tap dancing," he said. "The heat here is bad for the roses, anyway. I'll just put it in a safer place."

He lifted it with exaggerated care from the mantelpiece and took two or three steps away from the fireplace. Then he turned so that the right side of his body was toward the fire.

"I think over that bookcase would be the best place," he said as if meditating. Then he took a step forward stumbled unaccountably, and fell, the beautiful container seeming to hurl itself out of his hands and fall across the iron fire tongs, a shattered thing of broken crystal and bent silver.

Household Hints

If you are roasting a rather small chicken, butter the breast well and then place a piece of buttered brown paper over the breast and fasten with skewers. This will prevent the breast from drying out while the fowl is cooking. Remove the paper a little while before the chicken is done to insure a browned appearance.

The drooping rose is a sad sight to behold. But do not despair. Separate each rose and place them singly in a glass of water. Then with the stem under water slip a scissors in the glass and snip a small portion of the stem. Let the rose stand for five minutes or so and it will be surprising to see how it will perk up its head and look with new interest upon the world.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Toasting the Bride and Groom

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. At a reception for a bride or dinner, who sits down first, the hostess, guest of honor, or the bride?

2. When the bride is hostess for the first time does she sit down first?

3. When drinking the health of a bride and groom, is it correct for the bride to stand when others are seated (to be toasted)?

That is, should she stand up with her husband?

4. Does she also drink this toast, or can she drink a toast to her husband?

5. What are the usual formal words spoken by her in acknowledgment of the toast?

When asking this series of questions I have in mind a young wife who goes out for the first time among her husband's friends, who are all strangers to her. C. R.

1. The hostess.
2. Yes.
3. The bride need not stand.
4. Since they are being toasted together, the bride does not drink this toast.
5. She bows graciously, in acknowledgment of the toast, and merely says, "Thank you. You are most kind," or "Thank you. What friends you are! We appreciate so much your goodness to us," or some other simply worded expression of appreciation.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

"Heliotherapy" Dates Back to the Ancients.

The ancients looked upon the sun as a god. Worship of the sun was known long before the dawn of the Christian era. Not only did the barbarian races pay homage to the sun, but this practice was carried on in cultured Egypt.

Dr. Copeland

Ancient records tell that the father-in-law of King Tut issued a decree that all other gods were to be forgotten. Everybody must worship the sun god, Ra. New temples and a new city were erected to the honor of this god.

As we go on in history, we note that the Greeks and Romans did not worship the sun, but they did appreciate its health-giving properties. "Heliotherapy," or the healing of disease by the sun, was practiced by Hippocrates, Father of Medicine, as early as the fourth century, B. C.

In the works of Cicero there is a description of sun buildings attached to the villas outside of Rome. These structures were similar to the solaria now found at the top of the most modern sanitariums.

With the advent of the Christian era, worship of the sun fell into disrepute. It is only within recent years that the value of the sun has again been recognized. No longer is it worshiped as a god, but its therapeutic and strength-building properties are recognized by all.

Sun baths are exceedingly popular and have greatly aided in lowering the number of childhood diseases. In the treatment of rickets, the value of sunlight cannot be overestimated. Even though the diet may be somewhat deficient in vitamin D, the presence of abundant sunlight will prevent or cure this disease.

It has been known for many years that the rays of the sun, on passing through a paned window, are deprived of many of their curative values. Within recent years window glass has been manufactured which is believed to eliminate this objection.

The rays of the sun are of the greatest value when uninterrupted in their passage to the body. It is for this reason that Rollier, in Switzerland, and many other specialists in tuberculosis, have recommended the exposure of tuberculous children to the direct rays of the sun.

These children are allowed to run around in the sun, scantily clad, and constantly exposed to its penetrating rays. This custom is continued all through the winter months. It is most amazing to see these children, almost nude, running around in the deep snow.

Answers to Health Queries

M. O'N. Q.—What causes an itching rash on the body, which becomes worse when I start to dance or exert myself? It seems to disappear as soon as I become cooled off.

A.—This is probably due to a form of hives and may be caused by nervousness.

Airedale Type of Man La Mackaill's Choice For Husband

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.

There's hope for us all. Dorothy Mackaill would like to get married again, but not to an actor.

"They're fine friends, but I want my husband to be an outsider," says the star, who was the subject of several marital rumors on her recent trip to Honolulu.

"The kind of fellows I usually fall for," says Dorothy, "either are broke or earn about $50 a week. That makes marriage a pretty difficult proposition as long as I am in pictures. People would call my husband 'Mr. Mackaill,' and while that would not bother me, it would him.

Dorothy Mackaill dogs, but you know an Airedale, that's the kind of man I'd like to marry."

"I don't like to make a comparison to

As soon as she finishes retakes on a Fox picture, Dorothy is going back to Honolulu. She is contented here as long as she is working, but is unhappy when she's not. She likes everything about the islands—their beauty, their easy-going existence. This time she may buy some property at Kileau, on the windward side of the island.

Dorothy never has gone in much for the social whirl of Hollywood. Very characteristic is her remark:

"I had a marvelous stay in Honolulu. I didn't have on an evening dress but twice while I was there."

One mention of Russia and David Freedman gets a paired expression. The author, who is out here working on Eddie Cantor's story, has had 1,000,000 copies of his novel, "Mendel Marantz," sold in Russia. But due to a muddled copyright situation, he hasn't collected a cent of royalty. "By this time," he complains, "I probably would own most of Siberia."

LATEST GOSSIP

Walter Wanger, new head of all the Paramount studios, arrives here Wednesday. Ostensibly his visit is for pleasure, but rumors are seething . . . Several people call it to my attention that Ina Claire and Robert Ames are going places together . . . And after making up with Hugh Trevor, Betty Compson is due to take a two weeks' vacation. Another flu victim is Dolores Del Rio. Poor Dolores has had a siege of bad health, but her luminous beauty is, if anything, enhanced.

Dolores Del Rio.

The first woman to lead the parade at the Santa Barbara fiesta will be Marguerite Churchill, whom you know through Fox pictures. She is to ride the famous race-horse, El Capitan . . . Apparently Kenneth McKenna had made good as a director. He's to do Eddie Lowe's picture, "The Spider" . . . And a friend of Sylvia Sidney tells me she is to follow the example of Dorothy Mackaill and go to Honolulu. Many of the film colony commute there regularly. Janet Gaynor even owns a house on the island.

COOGANS TOGETHER

Mr. Coogan's boys, Jack and Robert, are to appear together in Paramount's third Mark Twain talkie, "Tom Sawyer, Detective."

Featured

Marjorie Rambeau has a featured role in "The Secret Six," film to open Friday in the Penn.

They will be directed by Norman Taurog, whose "Skippy" already has gone down on my list as one of the 10 best pictures of the year. Robert Coogan is 5, the same age as Jackie when he made "The Kid." Jackie is 16. How the years do fly.

Now that Irene Rich has very humanly run out on "Waterloo Bridge" to attend her daughter's graduation in the East, Universal has signed Enid Bennett to take her part. It begins to look as if this actress intends to make a comeback. She was the mother in "Skippy," you recall. Her role in "Waterloo Bridge" will be an English boarding house keeper. It's one of the important characters in the story.

Things I Never Knew Till Now
But which you knew all along!

That champagne spoils if left standing upright. It won't if it is set at a slant so that the contents touch the cork.

That U. S. sailors have been playing backgammon for years. In the Navy, backgammon is known as "Acey-Deucy."

That going hatless in the sun does not stimulate hair growth, but encourages baldness. (Hmm! Won't the hatmakers kiss me?)

That Custom Guards in New York service risk being blackmailed unless they purchase their work suits from a certain firm.

That Lincoln dreamed he would be assassinated a few days before the actual occurrence, according to one of his biographers.

That 141 species of mosquitos may bite you this summer.

That the best cure for obesity is: One large glass of Kissingen water after each meal one day. One large glass of Vichy after each meal the second day, etc. The waters act only when taken alternately.

That the Wild Dog of Brazil makes a noise like a bird.

That there is no Double O on the European roulette wheels, and roulette isn't played at Deauville, the game being barred in France.

That Bristol, Tenn., has a population of 15,000, but has neither a hotel, depot, hospital or a newspaper.

That the wickedest city in the world is Irkustk, Siberia, with a pop. of 120,000. At least 500 murders are committed there yearly.

That cold hands do not indicate "warm hearts." Poor circulation.

That the elm, which inspired George P. Morris to write "Woodman, Spare That Tree," stood at 96th St., near the Hudson.

That there are almost 11,000 electric signs in Manhattan.

That it is not correct, if you want to get technical about it, to call it the "Union Jack." It is the "Union James" (after James I.)

That the hound with the sad orbs you see in the famous Victor Record advertisement was named "Nipper."

That if a kangaroo jumps 15 feet in his first leap, all the leaps that follow are exactly the same distance.

That natives of Central America use mosquitos as food.

That in most Eskimo tribes, when an aged Esk gets too old to shift for himself, he gladly submits himself to his eldest son, who as a token of respect, love and esteem, slaughters the old gent.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

There remain but six more days in which to do your dramatic shopping in the Alvin. After tonight there'll be only five, and so on, down the line of days. Tonight is Ed Sullivan night. The bill for the week is a laff teaser, "She Couldn't Say No." Mabel Kroman will help to make it lively.

* * *

They keep saying the movies are in their infancy, and we guess they're right, since they have only recently learned to talk.

In the Nixon tonight there will be a session of Yiddish operetta. Leon Blank and Aaron Lebedeff will be starred in "Russian Love," supported by Betty Frank and the remainder of the New York cast that scored a success in this play in the eastern city. There will be but one performance of this piece here, and tonight's the night.

* * *

There was a time when a movie actress thought she became fitted for her part by visiting the dressmaker's. The only difference between her and store window figure was that the latter could do all the acting required of it.

* * *

The Davis is to be distinguished by having a "premiere" performance. The film will be "The Public Enemy," an exciting play with a special cast. The opening will be the state premiere. As a consequence, the theater will be closed Thursday afternoon so that it can be reopened with a bang at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Small Timer says the lass in the stepping ensemble, despite the scantiness of her costume, did not get it for a song, but that she surely did get it for a dance.

Academy to Open With Negro Show

The Academy will reopen with the Negro revue, "Jail Birds," with a midnight performance next Sunday night. The company will stay at the Academy indefinitely, changing its bill each week. Drake and Walker, comedians, are featured. Others are Ethel Brown, Heloise Bennett, Ida Brown, Beans Price, Helen Stokes and Sam Russell. A large jazz band is carried. There will be daily matinees and evening performances.

Pitt's Film Show For Women Only

Adult women only will be admitted to the Pitt, where the motion picture, "Rio's Road to Hell," opens today. It is a foreign picture with English dialogue, dancing and singing. There will be a special stage attraction of special interest to women. The film features a German actress, Susi Vernon. Most of the singing is done by the "Caruso of South America," Juan Polito.

Ex-Senator Held As Drunken Driver

NORRISTOWN, Pa., May 25.—(AP.)—Former State Senator Frank P. Croft, 59, of Port Kennedy, was held under $1,000 bail on charges of operating an automobile while intoxicated, and assault and battery by an automobile.

Croft crashed into a parked machine, hurling it against two pedestrians who were slightly injured, police said.

Lowell Sherman In Harris Film

Movie Pals

The movies make strange pals. Here's Greta Nissen and Monkey Josephine in a chummy moment in "Women of All Nations," film coming Friday to the Stanley.

shadow of Delaware River Bridge early yesterday.

The gunmen were robbing a restaurant when the police opened fire. Felix Zabiliski, 18, was slain and Joseph Le Coney, 21, badly wounded. The other two robbers escaped.

YOUNG LOVE GOES OUT INTO BIG WORLD IN WARNER

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Big Business Girl," which opened Saturday in the Warner, is one of those pictures whose story can be told in one sentence. And, in this case, the sentence is: A couple of college kids get married and their careers carry them on separate ways.

There are some flaming clinches in the beginning of the film, but they are misleading because the participants have been married all along.

The young wife who writes advertisement copy, talks a big automobile man from Detroit into inaugurating a radio hour, featuring a band, which her husband busses. We've always wondered how some of these bands got on the air!

Loretta Young and Frank Albertson have the leading roles. Loretta makes a very girlish heroine and Frank makes a very boyish hero. So that's that.

Ricardo Cortez is present as a party of the third part. He's a sophisticated villain in evening clothes. In the old days he'd have worn a black mustache and been hissed at in the last reel.

There are lots of night owls in the film, but they have the knack of looking as fresh as a daisy even when the party doesn't break up until 5 a. m.

Another Bobby Jones' golf episode, news pictures and short comedy and novelty reels also are on the bill.

OREGON MAYOR ADOPTS BOY

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT
International News Service.

MONT ST. MICHEL, France, May 25.—Five American mayors, part of the delegation of 21 touring France as guests of the government, shedding their mantles of dignity, piled out of a sightseeing bus today and staged a bucket brigade act when the car ran out of gasoline. They had to walk a mile to the nearest "gas" station.

Andre Moret, 6-year-old bass drummer in the Mont St. Michel Orphan Asylum Brass Band, was adopted by Mayor Baker, of Portland, Ore., today. The grin that split the lad's face from ear to ear when he heard the news stamped him as the happiest boy in France.

That you can tan your shoes with the interior of a banana skin.

That the oldest bell in the U. S. hangs in the rectory of East Haddam, Conn. It bears the date of "A. D. 803."

That theaters close in Alabama towns Wednesday nights to give way for weekly prayer meetings.

That Sam Whitmire, a newspaper man on Park Row for 35 years, cannot operate a typewriter—even with two fingers, like this.

That for one dollar the U. S. Bureau of Standards will test and regulate your watch—but they keep it a month.

That the Battle of New Orleans, America's greatest victory in the war of 1812, was fought after the peace treaty was signed.

That if cards are played in any hotel room in Alabama for more than three nights in a row the players become guilty gamblers, subject to a fine, a term in the chain-gang, or both.

That Messrs. Manly and Powell in "A Manual for Writers," declare that "most" has been used instead of "almost" for almost 1,000 years, but this use is not permissible. (Things to worry about.)

That there are 140,000,000 cows in India, because the natives there never kill 'em to eat 'em.

That parsons are said to be the best taxicab tippers.

That a man once applied for divorce on the ground that his wife did not like Shakespeare and would read Ouida.

JAPAN'S UNREST EXPLAINED

There is great unrest among Japanese students, and Russia's Communism is affecting the people of Japan, Bishop James C. Baker, of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Japan, told the Hungry Club, in the Fort Pitt Hotel, today. He said:

"However, I do not believe that Japan is going to go Red."

Bishop Baker attributed the student unrest to the rapidly changing conditions of the national life, with the resultant upset of the age-old customs. Another reason he gave for the unrest was:

"The government attempts to control the students' thinking. Hundreds of students were arrested during the past year for the possession of revolutionary literature."

Pitt School, Welding Society Meet Tonight

Miss Nellie Brand Names June 24 for Marriage To Robert Womsley

Miss Nellie Brand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Frederick Brand, of Wheeling, W. Va., has chosen the wedding anniversary of her parents, June 24, as the date for her marriage to Robert Womsley, son of the Horace Womsleys, of Pittsburgh. The ceremony will take place in the Vance Memorial Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. James M. Potter, pastor, officiating.

Betty Brenneman, of Springfield, Ill., a cousin of the bride-elect, will be the maid of honor. Her mother, Mrs. Howard Brenneman, was the matron of honor at the wedding of her sister, Mrs. Louis F. Brand, 28 years ago. The bridesmaids will include Emily Julie Stifel, Harriette Hitchman and Virginia Harper, all of Wheeling, and Mrs. John D. Ritchey, of Pittsburgh. John D. Ritchey will serve as best man, and the ushers will include James Wayne Brown, John Harper and Andrew Cochran, all of Pittsburgh, and Edward Kline, of Steubenville, O.

The bride-elect attended Ogontz School, Philadelphia, and is a member of the Junior Welfare League. Her fiance attended the Paulding Preparatory School, New York, and Washington and Jefferson College, where he was president of his class and fraternity, Delta Tau Delta, and manager of student athletics. He is a member of the Keystone Athletic Club and the University Club.

The final week of the merry month of May will be filled to overflowing with anticipation of June weddings.

Benefits At Club

benefits and entertainments for brides-to-be. And next week comes the Allegheny Country Club annual horse show, scheduled for June 4, 5 and 6.

The two benefits of note this week, both to take place in the new Edgeworth clubhouse, are the spring sale to be held by the Woman's Exchange Wednesday and the dinner-dance with a flower exhibit and sale to be held by the Sewickley Child Health Association on Friday.

After the horse show will come June debuts and weddings, then July will bring the annual summer exodus. Then will come the fall and the social whirl will be with us again.

Mrs. Dora W. Yohn, of the Russell apartments, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Barbara Yohn, to Dr. James M. Mullen, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Mullen, of Bellevue, which took place at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association annex. Officiating before an embankment of bamboo, cibotium ferns and crotons, supplemented by Italian candelabra, was the Rev. George Taylor, Jr.

Engagement Announced

The bride wore ivory satin with a yoke of Alencon lace extending the length of the long sleeves. Her veil of ivory tulle and Alencon lace cascaded from a coronet of lace caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a sheaf of calla lilies.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothea Crawford, wore a shell pink lace gown having a deep yoke and cap sleeves, and carried blue delphinium and pink roses. Mrs. Emma Belle Weinman, Mrs. R. P. Balderman and Mrs. John Peterson, as bridesmaids, wore gowns of sky blue lace and carried blue delphinium and pink roses.

The bride's mother wore black lace with touches of pink and blue and a spray of orchids. Mrs. Mullen chose black lace for her gown, with a spray of orchids.

Albert Walther served as best man and the ushers were Griet C. Orr, H. Clay Rodgers, William Royston and Robert W. Shoddress.

There was a reception for 150 guests, with the bridal table laid for 35 guests, and centered with summer flowers in crystal bowl, lighted by tall tapers. Dr. and Mrs. Mullen will live in Avalon when they return from a honeymoon in Bermuda.

CUTS SILK HOSE BILLS IN TWO

A New York fashion expert has found a simple, easy method to double the wear of silk hose and undergarments. These articles, worn next to the skin, wear out doubly fast because of the perspiration and other body excretions which soften and rot the silk.

This expert found that soap and water were inadequate for washing such articles. She recommends when washing silks to add a tablespoonful of Energine to every quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Wash and rinse as usual. This method not only cleans thoroughly and quickly but makes silks like new with revived colors and pleasing freshness. With Energine the results over soap and water alone will amaze you. It means longer life—real economy.

Energine is unexcelled also for quickly removing all dirt and grease spots from dresses, hats, gloves and ties. Large can 35 cents at any drug store.

Wilkinsburg Club Gives Luncheon

One hundred and fifty persons attended the annual luncheon of the Wilkinsburg Woman's Club which was held Saturday in the Edgewood Country Club and among these were the junior section members who were guests of the seniors for the day.

The short program, which was presented under the direction of Mrs. W. G. Reineman, was given by Helen Gregg Ege, little Jean Brideson and her teacher-accompanist, Ralph Lewando. Mrs. Ege, looking like a joyous beautiful bit of the spring she read about in "Apple Blossoms," chose that poem, Tennyson's "Lady of Shallot" and a T. A. Daly dialect one, "Ees Come Da Spring," for her first group and later gave three that were intended for amusement purposes only and included an exceedingly humorous description of Hamlet in slang.

The little 8-year-old prodigy astonished her audience, as she does every audience, with her remarkable tone-quality, memory and sense of rythm. She played, among other selections, Mendelssohn, Brams, Kreisler and Lewando numbers.

The interesting scrap book compiled by the press chairman, Mrs. A. J. Dawson was on display at the close of the meeting.

The Ben Avon and Bellevue units will be hostesses and will furnish the program for the annual meeting and gala day of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters June 4 at the Highland Country Club.

Voters' Meetings

Mrs. Russell Beckett will speak on the Pittsburgh school system at the Thirteenth Ward League meeting tomorrow evening in the home of Mrs. P. C. Walker, Race street. Another meeting of tomorrow will be that of the West View-Ross Township League, which has its sessions in the West View Junior High School. Judge D. Paulson Foster will talk on county courts at that meeting and tomorrow evening will address the Twenty-fifth Ward League on juvenile courts. The latter unit meets in the North Side Y. M. C. A.

Election of officers will take place at Wednesday's meeting of the Thirty-second Ward League and later Mrs. Katherine Holcomb, supervisor of the South Side Public Health Nursing Association, will talk of nursing service.

On Wednesday afternoon the Wilkinsburg League will hear Judge Foster speak on juvenile court work and on Friday the Swissvale unit will meet in the Wilkins School for election of officers and a trip to the Western Penitentiary afterward.

DESIGNER PRESENTS NEWEST MODE IN EVENING CLOTHES

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 25.—Even as there are generally two sides to every story, many of the new frocks also share this characteristic. For the back view of some of the most recent evening gowns seem totally different from the vista presented by the front of the garment. In many instances, a most demure front faces the world, while the back exhibits a deep decolletage that ends somewhere near where the waist begins. These models are certainly most refreshing and intriguing and as such will interest those women who are ever alert in their search for novelties that are wearable and different without being too bizarre and radical.

A WIDE LATITUDE still exists in that section of the mode relating to evening wraps. One can fare forth in a wisp of a wrap and be as smart as the woman who is wearing a regal affair of velvet, fur trimmed. It is merely a question of wearing what suits one or what one prefers, so long as the garment conveys a subtle adherence to certain characteristics of the mode.

SHOWN TODAY in the drawing are two gems from the new Patou collection. The frock is one of the two-faced affairs just mentioned. It is built entirely of fine black silk net. The flounced fichu, knotted in front in a most demure manner, is cut right down to the waistline in back to edge the very deep V decolletage. Flouncings, placed vertically at either side of the flaring skirt, ripple in a soft, gracious manner.

* * *

THE EVENING COAT is of rich deep brown velvet trimmed with marten sable which edges the deep, close cape. Fan-shaped insets are shirred at either side and widen the lower part of the regal wrap.

Real Estate

A one and a half acre tract at 315 North Negley avenue has been sold by Benjamin Pearlman to E. L. Quirk for $37,000, according to C. C. Hamilton, realtor who closed the deal.

A 14-room brick home on the rear of the property will be remodeled into two and three-room efficiency apartments by the purchaser, Hamilton reports. On the front of the property the purchaser intends to construct two 12-family brick apartments at an approximate cost of $150,000, according to the realtor.

First floor space in the Seventh avenue and William Penn way corner of the Gulf Building has been leased to the Louis K. Liggett Company, according to reports. It is understood that one of the largest drug stores in Pittsburgh is planned.

A seven-room bungalow and built-in garage, 374 Lamarido street, Brookline, has been sold by L. M. Tylor to S. S. Klein for a private consideration. The lot measures 30x100 feet. Klein has taken out a building permit for a brick dwelling at 329 Lamarido street to cost $6,500.

An improved property in the Ohio River boulevard has been deeded by Gertrude M. Kinder to Louis F. Wedenyer. The lot is 36x105 feet.

An improved property on lot 43x100 feet in Sandusky street, Twenty-second Ward, has been sold by Elizabeth Held to the Islam Grotto Building Association for a consideration of $26,500.

PAPAL PROTEST AWAITS SPAIN

VATICAN CITY, May 25.—(AP.)—The Vatican plans to lodge a strong protest with the Spanish government concerning its decree authorizing religious freedom for all creeds.

Pope Pius XI after a lengthy conference with Cardinal Primate Pedro Segura, of Toledo, let it be known that he considered the decree a clear violation of the concordat between Spain and the papal state conferring special privileges on Catholicism.

Cardinal Segura, who arrived Saturday night after an uncermonious departure from Spain due to the recent anti-Catholic riots, discussed with the Pontiff and Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, the burning of church property and the treatment of the clerics.

WOMEN EXCEL AT BRIDGE

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—Take the word of Ely Culbertson, recent winner of the Harold Vanderbilt bridge championship trophy, for the statement that women are better bridge players than men. He said:

"The average man thinks he's perfect. He thinks he has nothing to learn. Women players know more and study more. I believe one reason women take to bridge is because its gives them an opportunity to settle the intellectual score with their husbands at the card table."

Not only this, but Culbertson is positive that the black eye that bridge has been getting in divorce courts lately is entirely undeserved.

Acid Stomach Made Like New Sleeps Well

"What a difference in my health! ACIDINE has made my stomach like new. I have no pains in my limbs. My bowels are regular. Now I sleep all night," says Asa B. Hoy, of Indianapolis, Ind.

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japsac that, in laboratory tests, digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness in acid conditions. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at your druggist. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

ELECTRICAL REFRIGERATION

Our salesmen are refrigeration specialists. They can answer your questions intelligently. DEMAND an answer to these pertinent questions before you buy:

- Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?
- Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?
- Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature of the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food.)
- Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frosted" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?
- Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?
- Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run.)
- How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours.)

WILL ROGERS SAYS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 25.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

"Ill will" mayors' trip to France has been in another mess. The Bells of Ruen played the "Star Spangled Banner." But the southern mayors wouldn't move till they played "Dixie" — Los Angeles held out for "California Here I Come" and Maine for the "Stein Song." We better start a fund to get those boys back home, and away from the banquet tables before July the Fourth, or they will have us in another war. This little article of mine is used in the Paris Herald so the funds will easily be raised by patriotic Frenchmen, and bring Chaplin home with 'em too. I want to hereby apologize for our Los Angeles mayor, he was not discourteous in not touching the glass to his lips, he just couldn't trust himself with it that close.

PASTOR SCORES CITY'S BUYING INQUIRY

Results Not Reassuring, Dr. Duncan Says; Urges Aroused Public Conscience

Pittsburgh's only hope for cleaner politics is in an aroused conscience, the Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan declared in a sermon last night in the Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, Highland avenue. He spoke on "Has Pittsburgh Lost Its Conscience?"

Dr. Duncan said Pittsburgh was founded with people with a conscience who brought it to its high state of industrial success. It is impossible, he said, to account for laxity in municipal administration, low moral standards in commercialism, and civic indifference of voters, except on the ground of a stifled conscience.

QUIZ NOT REASSURING

Dr. Duncan, referring to the investigation of the purchasing methods of the city government said:

"The court has ruled that the method of accepting bids was irregular. The city probe, though dealing only with a department whose head has been generally regarded as the best in the Mayor's cabinet, has not been reassuring to taxpayers.

"City Council, with two distinguished exceptions, has stood with the Mayor against the people when it was supposed to be the people's ally in matters of dispute, while under the police department, to which it is hoped the probe will extend, thieves and gamblers and racketeers are continually reported as prosecuting their nefarious trade.

PINCHOT'S STRUGGLE

"Gov. Gifford Pinchot is in a life-and-death struggle with greedy commercialism deeply entrenched in politics. His charge that the Public Service Commission is a tool of the big utilities and that instead of protecting the people against them has become subservient to them, does not seem to have been refuted.

"It is not difficult to answer that the Governor is seeking the presidency nor that the utilities have given low rates in some instances to the consumer. Many corporations have lowered their rates while at the same time they have robbed the people.

"The only hope is in an aroused conscience. The only hope is a point of intense moral indignation which will make wrong-doers feel the heat of popular excoriation and which will sweep all sympathizers with the Kline administration into defeat at the primary elections in the early fall."

Throat Cut, War Vet Dies in Hospital

Said to have slashed his throat in his home Saturday, Percy Hopkins, 45, of 192 Forty-first street, died last night in West Penn Hospital, according to the coroner's report.

Hopkins, a World War veteran, cut himself, deputy coroners said, after discovering that all his bonus money was gone. Hopkins was said to have been drinking.

League of Aviators Gives Hawks Medal

PARIS, May 25.—(AP.)—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, American speed flier, received the honor medal of the International League of Aviators during the fifth annual celebration of the organization, Clifford B. Harmon, who presented the medal, said Hawks probably would receive the league trophy for 1930 in Washington.

Street Car, Auto Milk Wagon Crash

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(INS.)—Several passengers in a trolley car were shaken up, a milk wagon driver escaped injury, and two men were slightly injured when the automobile of Stephen Bryan, 61, of Philadelphia, crashed into the trolley car, then rebounded, striking the milk wagon, here today.

Monaca Store Robber Captured by Police

ROCHESTER, Pa., May 25.—Two young Spaniards held up Max Sobel, storekeeper, of 903 Penn avenue, Monaca, shortly before noon today and robbed him of $50. One of the men was captured by police after a short chase. He gave his name as Joe Balza, 30, of Brownsville, Pa.

Amazing Story Behind Tragedy Of Prize Beauty, Millionaire Showman Revealed First Time

It was in this palatial villa in Nice that Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger fatally shot her wealthy husband. Arrow points to the room where the tragedy occurred. The room has been sealed by the police since the tragedy.

This photo of Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger brought her to fame—and tragedy. Taken when she was 16 years old, it was entered in a beauty contest without her knowledge, won her the title of "Miss St. Louis" and caused her to be selected as an entrant in the Atlantic City contest.

Seldom has a case attracted such world-wide interest as the trial in Nice of Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger, former beauty prize winner. Confessing she fatally shot her husband, wealthy Philadelphia theater magnate, when he threatened to kill her, she was charged with first degree murder. Widespread demands for leniency resulted in this being changed to "murder with provocation," equivalent to manslaughter in the United States. She was acquitted.

Catapulted from middle-class obscurity to fame, Charlotte Nash met Nixon-Nirdlinger, 27 years her senior, in Atlantic City, where she was runner-up in the beauty contest. He worshiped her. He insured her dimples for $100,000, sent her to finishing school and then married her, although not divorced from his second wife. After that, divorce, remarriage and two children—then death.

Contemplating these things in her prison cell, Charlotte wrote the story of her tangled, frustrated life. Moving through it is a strange account of the insane, unrelenting jealousy of a modern Pygmalion with a "Galatea" complex.

This newspaper has arranged to publish Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger's own story in a series of daily installments, of which the following is the first.

By CHARLOTTE NIXON-NIRDLINGER

NICE.

My life now seems so muddled, and I feel so hopelessly confused and bewildered, that I find it a little difficult to set down in orderly fashion the events that led to my husband's death. As I sit in my cell, things swirl through my mind. I try to analyze them, to figure why they brought me here—to this.

One moment I see myself as a young girl in St. Louis, happy, enjoying tomboy sports; then I see Atlantic City, crowds, admiring glances, all the ballyhoo of beauty contests; then a motor accident; quarrels; two eyes always staring jealously at me; fights; nightmares of fear; gay times in Nice; my babies—always they are in my mind.

Even now I can't get used to the horrible reality of my plight. I say to myself that I must clear my name, not only in the courts, but before the public, which is the most critical jury of all. I must prove to my friends, by the facts of my life and marriage, that I was not to blame, that I was thrust into a position from which there was but one escape.

But it all seems so cruel that my life should come to this. Like every other girl I wanted money and good times and admiration. But I did not think it would end the way it did, or lead to such terrible consequences.

Strange, Unreal

As a girl I never dreamed of entering beauty contests. Even when I finally went to Atlantic City it all seemed strange, unreal. I was swept off my feet by the attention given to me by Mr. Nixon-Nirdlinger. He was wealthy and seemed kind. I thought nothing of the big difference in our ages.

But it wasn't until a few years later that I began to realize what missteps I had made. Reality is harsh when it awakens you from a dream. It showed me that all my young enthusiasms and girlish ideals had to be tossed aside. I married a man only to find he already had a wife. It was sickening, the realization that I had been so deceived, but later I shall tell you all about that experience.

That was forgiven. What I never could forgive was the unjust jealousy of my husband. I shall tell you in good time how I was constantly hounded by detectives, my every move watched; how I was embarrassed before my parents and friends by this unreasoning attitude of Fred's.

Sometimes I have asked myself why men are carried away by jealousy to the extent displayed by Fred. Is it vanity? I think so. I think, in our case, it was the vanity of an elderly man who had snatched a prize. Oh, I am beyond all vanity now, but I know—only too well—that my beauty was something as precious to him as gold.

Men like to display their women just as they display other prizes of their collection. I'm quite sure now, in the light of recent events in my own life, that half the men who marry our great stage and bathing beauties do it out of vanity, the pride of possessing something others want.

Created 'Goddess'

In the case of Fred this went to the extreme. He had delusions of making me something resembling a goddess. There have been many contradictory rumors and reports about how he "tried to make me a lady." I'll have some important facts to reveal about that and also to show that it was on my own initiative that I studied and tried to perfect my poise, my attractiveness and to improve my mind. Yet it is also true that Fred was forever attempting to make me something grand when all I wanted to be was a good wife and mother.

He even used to boast, in fact, that he was Pygmalion and I was his Galatea. Such names were beyond my comprehension, but I never have forgotten them since he explained what they meant. He said he was like the ancient king and sculptor who fell in love with an image of his own carving, to which Venus gave life. He would say to me that I was the image of his own carving and that he would make me the most envied woman in the world.

All this would make me happy—for a moment. Then Fred's whole attitude would suddenly change, a terrible frown and the jealous eyes would confront me. He would grab me by the arms, shake me and tell me not to dare flirt with another man!

Such episodes as this, more of which I shall recount later, kept mounting up until at last, I'm afraid, they completely dominated my husband. As I shall show you in a number of incidents, he threatened me and accused me of paying attention to other men. I realized that the beauty he worshipped had ruined my married life. I often would have pangs of regret and wish I were back in St. Louis.

Happy at Home

I was happy there. My dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Nash, were always of moderate means. We lived in St. Louis County during my childhood, in a nice, comfortable house, with a garden and chickens. I spent many happy days playing with my three brothers in the old swing, playing hide and seek with the neighborhood children. Naturally, we fought and made up again, as all children do. My brothers never spoiled me and always treated me as one of them. There was a small woods nearby where we children built a hut. Not so far away was a creek that we waded in and often our whole family would go into the woods and pick berries.

My grandparents lived close by and, like most grandparents, they used to give us nicknacs. Sometimes I remember really eating myself sick. My grandfather, whose mother was the daughter of Marquis de la Porte, who came with Lafayette to America, was a surgeon in the Civil War, and he thrilled us children by the tales he told of the Civil War, and of the time he was put in Libby Prison.

My entire family always have been very religious, so early Sunday mornings we were bustled off to Sunday School. The lessons and training received there have never left my memory, and although worldly experience has broadened my views and my ideas of religion have changed greatly, still the old memories make me wonder.

As a small child I must not have been very attractive. I remember no one saying: "Isn't she cute," or "What a sweet child." Even my dear mother remarked once to my aunt, "Isn't it too bad Charlotte has such a sallow complexion and all the boys have rosy cheeks."

This hurt me a little then but, in the light of what was to follow a few years later I almost wish that beauty had passed me by.

Shadyside Church Unveils Tablet on Anniversary; Byrd Hears Ceremonies

The anniversary of the first radio broadcast to the North and South Pole was commemorated with the unveiling of a tablet yesterday afternoon in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Amberson avenue and Westminster place. The tablet, designed by Frank Vittor, Pittsburgh sculptor, was unveiled by Richard Dilworth Edwards.

W. W. Rodgers of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, read the address of H. P. Davis, who was unable to attend. The Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor, spoke on "Our Mysterious Universe."

The radio services of Shadyside Church were the first broadcast to the dwellers of the Arctic and to Rear Admiral Byrd's Antarctic expedition. The tablet is 33 inches square and depicts the western hemisphere with radio waves flashing to the Arctic and Antarctic regions.

Rear Admiral Byrd, who received the broadcast at the South Pole, was listening in as last night's services were sent out by KDKA. Back of the tablet, which occupies a niche in the north wall of the church, was placed a cabinet which contained the historical data concerning the tablet and the purpose for which it was erected.

MAN HURT, CAB DRIVER HELD

Police early today arrested James Morehead, of 2082 Pioneer avenue, in connection with an attack on William Turtin, 43, of First avenue, who is in Allegheny General Hospital with a possible fracture of the skull.

Police said Morehead, a cab driver, took Turtin to Central Police Station with a wound on his head, which Morehead said he inflicted when Turtin fought with him over a $9 taxi bill.

Charles Roadman, William Meyers and George Henry, employed at the Rieck-McJunkin dairy plant, Forbes street, in front of which the alleged fight took place, told police that the cab bill had been only 75 cents and that Morehead struck Turtin with a jack handle.

ARRANGEMENT OF CLASSES ATTACKED

Smaller Pupils Farthest From Fire Exits, Official Of Visiting Board Says

Small children are placed farthest from fire exits in the Liberty school, 5500 Ellsworth avenue, Mrs. Frank J. Boyle, secretary of the Seventh Ward Board of School Visitors, charged today.

The Liberty School Building is nearly 65 years old, is far from fireproof, in spite of fire doors recently installed by the Board of Education, Mrs. Boyle declared. The Board of School Visitors has repeatedly requested placing of first, second and third grade children on lower floors, she said, with old children above.

FAIL TO GET ACTION

Despite recommendations, Mrs. Boyle said, the school board has failed to take action.

The school has no auditorium and no cafeteria. The school orchestra practices in the cellar, the junior high school has taken up the first floor and the manual training annex. Mrs. Boyle said:

"I think the Board of Education hasn't given the Liberty School a square deal. The Seventh Ward is the richest in taxation in the city, but the school board has put nothing into the Liberty School Building."

WAITING FOR YEAR

"Why, every time we make a suggestion to the board, they pass the buck, somehow. We asked, once, for a special meeting of the board. The secretary replied we could see them at their regular meeting. We agreed, and we've been trying to see them for more than a year. No notice of a meeting has ever been sent me.

"We want the Board of Education to know of such things as occurred at a recent school play in Liberty School. We had to turn away more than 100 fathers and mothers who had come to see their children perform. We had parents sitting on the floor in the cellar room, all through the play."

Principal John J. Coll, of the Liberty school, said the Board of Education was considering installing a cafeteria in the school during the summer, as a result of the visit of representatives of the Parent-Teachers Association to Dr. Ben J. Graham, superintendent of schools, last week.

PRINCIPAL EXPLAINS

Coll also said, in case of fire, the larger pupils could clear the first floor faster than the smaller, leaving the exits free for smaller children who might, otherwise, impede the progress of all. Four rooms in the school, two on the first and two on the second floor, Coll said, are used by the junior high school.

Conditions in Liberty school will be corrected with rebuilding or construction of a junior high school in two or three years, Coll said he understood.

Barnes, Circus Man, Expected to Recover

INDIO, Cal., May 25.—(AP.)—Al G. Barnes, the former circus owner, has passed the crisis of his critical illness and has every chance for recovery, his physician, Dr. Russell M. Gray, announced yesterday.

For a time it was feared that Barnes, who is 68, would not survive complications resulting from an attack of acute bronchitis.

Body Found in Ruins After Mystery Blast

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., May 25.—(INS.)—A mysterious blast wrecked a two-story brick building here early today. The body of an unidentified man was found in the ruins.

Vincent Vasquez, manager of a grocery store on the ground floor of the building, had been threatened by racketeers recently, police said.

KANE GUARDING 30 PRIZED PICTURES

"Strip" Painter Watches Over Canvases on Way To Junior League Show

BY PENELOPE REDD

The new home of John Kane is where Ophelia meets Hamlet street.

By utter chance, for John Kane is happily free of telephones, the photographer wandered in on the verge of John's excursion to the Junior League.

Arriving unannounced as Mrs. Kane prepared lunch John entertained his guests with his flute which he has played since a lad in Scotland.

Lunch was scarcely finished when the truckman arrived.

Mr. Kane insisted upon personally conducting the trunk containing his paintings that they might reach the Junior League galleries safely.

Penelope Redd

The 30 paintings that John Kane prepared for the Junior League exhibition, which will be so curiously viewed by many during the next fortnight, represent to him a tremendous labor.

GREAT ENERGY

While the 30 frames have cost little in money, they must have consumed a disproportionate amount of energy for an old man past three score and ten to assemble.

There was also endless pains involved in finishing paintings for the show.

This exhibition, from which there will probably be no financial return, explains the inherent graciousness of John Kane.

His great desire is to approximate what "artists" do, yet he conquers by his complete artlessness.

Absolutely untouched by national honors, indeed, they are so removed from his way of life that he has never comprehended the envy they have roused, he gives generously of these his years of grace.

SCENES OF HIS LIFE

He shows the young women of the Junior League a Pittsburgh they escaped knowing but for their casual landings during the short "home season."

John Kane has lived in that Pittsburgh, day by day, from year to year. He has absorbed the grayness that man has imposed upon these once verdant hills.

He has affectionately painted the little houses applied to the hills like orphans dully clad. He had justified man's habitual commonplaces of living by the incorrigibly romantic quality which is himself, John Kane.

The trains in the gullies puff boastfully, the bridges spring with dignity across ravines, furnaces guard rivers, the little houses, like polite waifs, cling to the hillsides.

But—peeping over the industrialism, exiled but faithful, is green hill and dale. John Kane's horizon has never been limited by our steel clad valleys.

DEFIES CRITICISM

Presently, some philanthropist, thoroughly orderly and very civic, will replace these homely little boxes with efficient, modern housing groups.

A new fashion will prevail, and the Pittsburgh of dreary commonplaces, which John Kane has revealed with loving tolerance, will be as obsolete as the Paris once etched by Meryon.

John Kane defies criticism in the usual sense. Either his wistful, good intentions captivate you or you resent his wordly success.

The Junior League has had the courage of metropolitan acclaim in presenting John Kane's exhibition.

MISSION HOSTS OPEN MEETING

Half the high school students in West Virginia must live away from home, it was disclosed by Miss Anna Belle Stewart, director of the Pattie C. Stockdale Mission School in Colcord, W. Va., speaker at today's session of the biennial meeting of the Women's Missionary organizations in the Bellefield Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Henry S. Leiper, author of "Blind Spots," addressed the conference on interracial relations. Mr. Leiper is the son of a missionary to the Cherokee Indians.

This afternoon's and evening's sessions are devoted to the Christian attitude in social relationships. Representatives of China, India, the Philippines, the American Indians, Negroes and Jews will speak briefly today. The Rev. Leonardo G. Dia, minister of Albay Evangelical Church, Legaspi, Albay, will speak for the Philippines and the Rev. Bahadur N. K. Mukerji, secretary of the North India Book and Tract Society, Allahabad, for India.

The Rev. Cheng Ching Yi, moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Christ in China, spoke today on Christianity in China. He said:

Mascot Dog Falls From Plane Into River; Unhurt

HARTFORD, Conn., May 25.—(AP.)—One near fatality occurred as the observation planes of the Washington National Guard swooped across the Connecticut River to land on Brainard Field yesterday. Pat, the mascot bulldog, fell out.

CAR RUNS WILD IN CEMETERY

John Wright, 35, 1516 Dennistion avenue, was held for court today on charges of larceny, following an accident in which a stolen car, which Wright is said to have been driving, plowed into St. Peter's Lutheran Cemetery, broke off a tree, a headstone, damaged several graves and jumped a stone wall.

J. H. Williams, who was in the car with Wright, was discharged. He had suffered abrasions and lacerations in the smashup.

Police said the auto, stolen from Joseph Stone, 7244 Hermitage street, jumped the curb in Lemington avenue and ran into the cemetery. Firemen from No. 38 Engine Company took Williams to the hospital.

STUDENTS OPEN ANNUAL RALLY

A solemn high mass this morning, celebrated by the Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, president of Duquesne University, in St. Paul's Cathedral, opened the annual rally of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade. The Rev. Eugene McGuigan was to deliver the sermon.

This afternoon the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Frank A. Thill of Cincinnati, national secretary of the organization, was to speak at a session in the Catholic High School.

Other speakers at the afternoon session were to be Miss Mildred McCartney, Mt. Mercy Academy; the Rev. Cyril Vogel, St. Vincent's Seminary; Miss Jeanne McFarland, St. Mary's High School; William Weirauch, president of the Pittsburgh Conference, Duquesne University; Miss Mabel Ackerman, Divine Providence Academy, and Miss Catherine Brown, Ursuline Academy.

this runs into real money:

Each year the average American family eats approximately ten times its weight in food. It eats about 1329 pounds of fresh vegetables, 111 pounds of canned vegetables, 584 pounds of fresh fruit, 44 pounds of canned fruit, 587 pounds of meat, 371 pounds of bread, 424 pounds of sugar, 74 pounds of butter, 115 pounds of eggs—to name only a few items.

Figure it out for yourself. You buy thousands of pounds of food every year. A & P stores offer savings all the way from a fraction of a cent to several cents a pound on different foods. When you buy food by the ton—as you do every year—these savings run into real money.

Campaign to Remove Unsightly Structures Gains Impetus

Preparations are being made to post condemnation notices on 10 more old buildings Wednesday, according to Supt. H. L. Ley of the Bureau of Building Inspection.

Ley expressed himself well pleased with progress made in the campaign to rid the city of dangerous and unsightly structures. Special efforts were started shortly after an editorial calling attention to conditions was printed in the Sun-Telegraph.

Director James M. Clark of the Department of Public Safety is interested in the work. Dr. C. B. Maits of the Department of Health is co-operating. Special efforts are also being made to clean up alleys and lots where rubbish has accumulated.

Owners of several buildings which have been condemned have started taking them down. Wreckers are busy on two three-story frame dwellings at 2305-07 Glenmawr avenue.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP.)—The Tariff Commission has dismissed three applications for a reduction in the duty on men's silk or "opera hats." No reason was given.

GIMBELS Will Not Knowingly Be Undersold

FUGITIVE SENT BACK TO JAIL

William Hagen Harkins, 47, alleged forger and jail breaker, today was returned to the county jail at Bridgeport, Conn., from which he escaped two months ago.

Harkins, who, it is said, boasted of his forgeries and jail escapes, was captured Friday night in a downtown hotel. The prisoner was watched while he was held in the county jail here following his alleged threat to duplicate the escape of Paul Jaworski, executed bandit.

Harkins started his trip to Bridgeport yesterday shackled to two detectives. He said he was an aviation instructor during the World War.

On Leong President Facing 'Dope' Trial

Yee King Lai, 39, a Chinaman, of Pittsburgh, president of the On Leong Tong Association, and 10 other Chinamen, were placed on trial today in Federal Court charged with conspiring to violate the anti-narcotic laws.

They were arrested in raids made on 515 and 522 Third avenue in November.

Chicago 'Bad Man' Gets Fourteen Years

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—William "Three-fingered Jack" White, "public enemy" and slayer of Policeman Edward Pflaume, was refused a new trial today and sentenced by Judge Joseph Sabath to 14 years in prison, the term fixed by a jury.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Pilot Charles Wolfen has consented to paint his own word picture of the airplane episode at Bettis Field not long ago when he saved the lives of three women passengers and could be manipulating an acetylene blow "Chuck" speaks at 11:45 P. M. KDKA.

Horace Heidt and Baby Rose Marie—what a pair!—are to be found in KDKA studios at 11:25 when the curtain rises on the regular Monday Night Theater Party.

Deciding that a little musical background wouldn't hurt, the sponsors of Weber and Field (WCAE, 8:15) have added an orchestra for the new series starting tonight. Others you may choose include Roy Smeck of guitar fame, Rudy Wiedoeft, Ferde Grofe, Vaughn de Leath and Riggs and Moke who scored high with the WTAM audience last Saturday midnight.

We spent the week-end in Cleveland as the guest of Hal Metzger and Gene and Glenn. Hospitality at WTAM is spelled with a capital "H." Hal, one of the smartest publicity men in the radio business, escorted us into the office of W. W. Smith, WTAM manager, late Saturday afternoon and from there on we had not a dull moment until a wee hour this morning when we bade the boys adieu at the Palace Theater in Youngstown.

We've been asked so many times whether Gene and Glenn shared the part of "Lena" that we made a personal investigation on this tour. Gene and Glenn alone play "Jake" and "Lena."

And how was Lena born to radio? Well, "Jake" had to have a girl. When the production man asked what Gene would call her he answered "Lena" quick as that. And the voice of "Lena" came into being a few days later.

Gene and Glenn are princely fellows. Fame and fortune have not changed them an iota. For solid hours we chatted with them in their dressing room last night while Walter Logan, musical director of WTAM, Mr. Smith and Mr. Metzger interposed with friendly anecdotes concerning "the boys." Outside in the rain was a waiting line one block long.

Gene is a wiry fellow with a physique and somewhat facial features of A. K. "Rosey" Rowswell. His natural voice is tenor. Not very old . . . maybe 32. Glenn is as robust as Gene is thin. His big bulk carries a sunshiny smile that seems to say "Hello, how are you?" He is older . . . maybe 42.

They arise each morning at 6 o'clock for their red network broadcast from Cleveland, rehouse the sketch at 7 and go on the air via WEAF-WCAE at 8 o'clock. They have no time to play marbles or cut paper dolls their 7:15 "commercial" on WTAM at 7:15 daily except Saturday and frequent theatrical engagements occupying most of their time.

BRADFORD HOST TO K. OF C.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 25.—The thirty-fourth annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus of Pennsylvania opened here last night with the exemplification of the third degree by Past State Deputy Lawrence G. Dana of Derrick City.

The state conclave will continue until Wednesday evening. More than 250 delegates from all parts of the state are attending the convention.

Today's program includes registration of delegates and visitors, auto trips and visits to industrial plants. The visitors also were to witness the shooting of an oil well.

Ambassador Edge Confirmed in Paris

PARIS, May 25.—(AP.)—Ambassador Walter E. Edge, who was baptized as a child in the Episcopalian Church, was confirmed in that faith yesterday by Bishop Hugh L. Burleson, bishop in charge of the Episcopalian churches in Europe.

Long Finds Prized Jew's Harp, Gives Concert, Lesson

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25. (AP.)—Louisiana's executive mansion resounded once more to the strain of Gov. Huey Long's jew's harp.

The prized instrument was located after the Governor had made diligent search since Thursday. He had been unable to find it when a group of state officials called and requested musical entertainment.

Long thrummed out several old hill country favorites, and between songs discussed the technique of jew's harp playing. He said:

PAGEANT ENDS CHURCH FETE

A missionary pageant, "The Conquering Cross," by the Intermediate Society last night, climaxed the three-day celebration of the fifty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Fourth Methodist Protestant Church, Frankstown avenue. The program also celebrated the eighth anniversary of the completion of the new church building. The Rev. Dr. J. Sala Leland is pastor.

Mrs. Lamont

VATICAN CITY, May 25.—(INS.)—Thirty-five newly ordained priests from the American College in Rome were received in audience by Pope Pius XI today.

Hughes and Wife Will Tour Europe

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS.)—Chief Justice and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes will spend the summer touring Europe, it was learned today.

The LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, May 25.—Summer radio music is assuming a more substantial form this year. The dukes of jazz, who know every note of W. C. Handy, brass band maestros who know every note of John Philip Sousa, are not to have exclusive agitation of the air channels.

The microphone masters are marshaling for concerts not only such organizations as the Philharmonic, the Cleveland, Detroit and Roxy orchestras, but the famous band which bears the name of Boston Symphony. Such enterprises may not keep the bright young people on the front porch, but it should serve to halt the progress of their elders to the movies and the soda counters until the programs are over.

The heavy meats of Beethoven and Mach and Mozart will be dispensed with as, of course, they should. Instead the big bands will go in for the lighter pastries of Tschaikowsky and Grieg and Rimsky-Korsakoff. And, we hope, Grainger and MacDowell and Johann of the Strausses. For the concerts are what the music world calls "pop," which means that they should not displease those who can't tell the difference between Von Tilzer and Von Weber.

It is good news to the parlors which, in the past, have had to endure Tschaikowsky's "Waltz of the Flowers" and Strauss' "Blue Danube" from small and comparatively inexpert bands. Now they will hear them by orchestras of 100 men or more. Thirty or 40 violins do make a difference.

Each time this department has protested at the networks' apparent indifference to the Boston Orchestra there has come an announcement that the band is to be assembled at the microphones. Last fall such a protest brought a whisper from M. H. Aylesworth, NBC chieftain, that his system would do right by the Boston organization with a concert designed expressly for radio. In due time to come—one of the finest musical broadcasts—only to be followed by complete and inexplicable silence.

Not long ago we protested again, and again comes word that NBC is to give a higher tone to its music menus in June by broadcasting a series of "pop" concerts from Boston.

And here is Hadley who has also been pressed into summer service. Not at the head of his Manhattan symphony, but as the leader of a special 40-piece band which will attempt to satisfy those listeners who are getting fed up with hill-billy ballads, Broadway's hymns to love and Harlem's wails at infidelity.

The signing of Hadley seems a wise move. With his talent for finding infant prodigies who can scrape Mendelssohn across a fiddle or a keyboard as easily as a Kentucky mountaineer scrapes "Turkey in the Straw," he is ever a source of good news copy. And if no infant prodigies are in sight it does not worry Hadley. He looks around, finds a new expression of jazz and dresses it up in French horns and oboes for the armchairs.

We have about given up hope of hearing on the loudspeakers a really funny burlesque of grand opera, a nominating speech without the nominator sounding like a funeral orator, the southern dialect of J. Thomas Heflin, the more rugged verse of John Masefield, a symphonic treatment of Stephen Foster, another speech from Hoover as humorous as that which he aired at the Edison celebration in Dearborn, a bagpipe band playing military marches, the voice of Harry Thaw.

Schofield Injured In Plane Crash

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(AP.)—Director Lemuel B. Schofield, of the Department of Public Safety, was slightly injured in an airplane mishap at Pinewald, N. J.

The director had ascended in an airplane with Elmer Simon, Philadelphia attorney. About 200 feet up, the plane was struck by a cross wind, the pilot lost control and the plane crashed. Both the director and Simon were cut and bruised and were treated at the scene of the accident.

NO. 240.

AN ORDINANCE—Widening Carson Street West in the Nineteenth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from a point 211.64 feet east of the second angle west of Smithfield Street to a point 48.97 feet west of the second angle east of Smithfield street and from a point 26.79 feet east of the Point Bridge to a point 102.76 feet west of the second angle east of the Point Bridge; and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby, in accordance with the provisions of the Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance authorizing and directing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh to enter into an Agreement with the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, a corporation of the state of Pennsylvania, relating to the relocation, vacating, widening and otherwise improving of Carson street west in the City of Pittsburgh, at the intersection of Smithfield street and the Point Bridge," approved September 13, 1928, and hereinafter identified in Section 2 of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows, to wit:

"SECTION 1. That the Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Manchester Traction Company, a corporation of the state of Pennsylvania, hereinafter called the Railroad Company, be and it is hereby authorized and directed to relocate its tracks, now laid in the bed of Carson street, in the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, as follows:

BEGINNING at the present southerly line of Carson street west at a point distant south 51 degrees 01 minutes 40 seconds east 311.64 feet along the present southerly line of Carson street from the second angle in the same west of Smithfield street; said point of beginning being perpendicularly opposite and distant 13.26 feet, measured at right angles, southwardly from the point of curve on Carson street west as the same is now located and established; thence from said point of beginning and parallel with and distant 13.26 feet, measured at right angles, southwardly from the present southerly line of Carson street west as the same is now located and established, south 51 degrees 01 minutes 40 seconds west 72.88 feet to the point of curve on Carson street west as the same is now located and established; thence on a curve to the right, having a radius of 1229.88 feet, a central angle of 3 degrees 49 minutes 00 seconds and a chord bearing north 49 degrees 53 minutes 40 seconds west for an arc distance of 82.00 feet to a point of tangent; thence north 48 degrees 00 minutes 00 seconds west 60.00 feet to a point; thence north 41 degrees 60 minutes 00 seconds east 29 degrees 14 minutes 20 seconds east 52.00 feet to the present southerly line of Carson street; thence continuing along the present southerly line of Carson street south 48 degrees 00 minutes 00 seconds east 211.64 feet to the place of beginning.

PORTION B

BEGINNING on the present southerly line of Carson street west at a point distant south 51 degrees 01 minutes 40 seconds east 265.76 feet along the present southerly line of Carson street west from the second angle in the same west of Smithfield street; said point of beginning being perpendicularly opposite and distant 13.26 feet, measured at right angles, southwardly from the point of curve on Carson street west as the same is now located and established; thence extending east 70.0 feet, a tangent; thence south 46 degrees 38 minutes 55 seconds west 211.05 feet to a point of curve; thence westwardly in the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 1229.88 feet, a central angle of 3 degrees 49 minutes 00 seconds and a chord bearing north 49 degrees 53 minutes 40 seconds west 82.00 feet to a point of tangent; thence north 48 degrees 00 minutes 00 seconds west 146.61 feet to a point on the present southerly line of Carson street, said point being perpendicularly opposite and 70.0 feet south of the point of tangent at Station 26+65.63 on the northerly line of Carson street west as the same is now located and established; thence eastwardly along the present southerly line of Carson street west south 51 degrees 01 minutes 40 seconds east 202.79 feet to the place of beginning.

THE ABOVE descriptions are in conformity with the lines of Carson street west as proposed to be reconstructed in Ordinance No. 560 approved September 13, 1928 entitled "An Ordinance authorizing and directing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh to enter into an Agreement with the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, a corporation of the state of Pennsylvania, relating to the relocation, vacating, widening and otherwise improving of Carson street west in the City of Pittsburgh, at the intersection of Smithfield street and the Point Bridge," and recorded in Ordinance Book, Volume 4, page 681, and shown on Exhibit No. 1, dated August 22, 1928, on file in the Department of Public Works, Bureau of Engineering, Division of Surveys of the City of Pittsburgh, dated August 1, 1928.

SECTION 2. That the Director of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed because said Carson street west in the Nineteenth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from a point 211.64 feet west of the second angle west of Smithfield street and from a point 26.79 feet east of the second angle east of the Point Bridge to a point 102.76 feet west of the second angle east of the Point Bridge, to be widened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance.

SECTION 3. The costs and damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to be derived therefrom are hereby assessed to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance be and the same is hereby repealed as far as the same affects this Ordinance.

Passed in Council May 18, 1931.
Approved May 22, 1931.

NO. 241.

AN ORDINANCE—Amending an Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance authorizing an Agreement with the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway Company for the purchase by the City of Pittsburgh of certain lands owned by said Company to be used for the widening of West Carson street," approved March 4, 1921, by inserting in the Agreement certain provisions relating to the overhead railroad of the Railway Company over the second described parcel of land.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance authorizing an Agreement with The Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway Company for the purchase by the City of Pittsburgh of certain lands owned by said Company to be used for the widening of West Carson Street," approved March 14, 1921, be amended by inserting after the second described parcel of land the following exceptions and reservations:

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING, and subject to the rights and easements of said The Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway Company, its successors and assigns, to maintain and operate its railroad as now constructed, or as the same may be hereafter reconstructed over and across said last described parcel of land and West Carson Street as the same is now or may hereafter be located or widened, the nature and character of the easements hereby excepted and reserved and the uses and purpose for which and the conditions and limitations upon which it is excepted and reserved being as follows:

(a) The said easement is hereby reserved and excepted over and under the purpose of maintaining and operating the railroad structure of said Railway Company of the same is now located and erected upon and over said tracts of land and West Carson Street, as the same is now or may hereafter be widened, and the right to reconstruct, repair, maintain, renew and reconstruct the same for the purpose of operating on and over said tracts of land and West Carson Street, as the same is now or may hereafter be widened, by means of an overhead viaduct or bridge, a single track railroad, together with the necessary appurtenances thereto; It is understood and agreed that the land above described being acquired by the City for the purpose of widening West Carson street and constructing approaches to the new West End Bridge now under construction, and that it will be necessary for the purpose of constructing said bridge for the County of Allegheny, with the consent of the said The Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway Company, to change and reconstruct the existing railroad viaduct and structures extending over West Carson street and the second parcel above described, and that when so reconstructed the said Railway Company shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed, shall conform to an elevated clearance over West Carson street and the land above described, shall be not less than 22 feet and shall have the right to afford by the viaduct and structures as the same shall be reconstructed as the County under agreement as said Railway Company may provide; further that the said overhead structure crossing Carson street West and the second parcel of ground above described shall be constructed with an adequate right floor as to prevent any dripping of seepage from the bridge, and shall be of such type as to prevent the falling of any material either from the floor itself into the streets, traffic or roadway on Carson street or the land below, and provided further than the plans for the renewal, repairs, reinforcement, reconstruction, change or alteration of the said structures shall first receive the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works of said City before the necessary work is started.

(b) The right of renewal, repair, reinforcement, reconstruction, change, alteration or inspection of the said railroad structures and the supports thereof it shall be necessary or convenient for said Railway Company, its agents or employees, to enter upon the tracts of land above described and West Carson street and upon the land adjoining the city immediately adjacent thereto, and the said Railway Company shall have the right so to do but only upon the condition that the said right of entry shall be exercised in such reasonable manner, and with such instruments as shall cause as little inconvenience to the City and County of Allegheny, its or their agents, servants or assigns as may be reasonably practicable and that the entry upon the said land and street of said City for the purpose aforesaid shall be subject to such reasonable regulations either as to the manner of performing the work of the time therefor as shall be prescribed by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, or his successors.

(c) Subject to the rights hereby reserved to the Railway Company, the said City and its successors and assigns shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed, shall conform to an elevated clearance over West Carson street and the land above described, shall be not less than 22 feet and shall have the right to afford by the viaduct and structures as the same shall be reconstructed as the County under agreement as said Railway Company may provide; further that the said overhead structure crossing Carson street West and the second parcel of ground above described shall be constructed with an adequate right floor as to prevent any dripping of seepage from the bridge, and shall be of such type as to prevent the falling of any material either from the floor itself into the streets, traffic or roadway on Carson street or the land below, and provided further than the plans for the renewal, repairs, reinforcement, reconstruction, change or alteration of the said structures shall first receive the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works of said City before the necessary work is started.

(d) The right of renewal, repair, reinforcement, reconstruction, change, alteration or inspection of the said railroad structures and the supports thereof it shall be necessary or convenient for said Railway Company, its agents or employees, to enter upon the tracts of land above described and West Carson street and upon the land adjoining the city immediately adjacent thereto, and the said Railway Company shall have the right so to do but only upon the condition that the said right of entry shall be exercised in such reasonable manner, and with such instruments as shall cause as little inconvenience to the City and County of Allegheny, its or their agents, servants or assigns as may be reasonably practicable and that the entry upon the said land and street of said City for the purpose aforesaid shall be subject to such reasonable regulations either as to the manner of performing the work of the time therefor as shall be prescribed by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, or his successors.

(e) Subject to the rights hereby reserved to the Railway Company, the said City and its successors and assigns shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed, shall conform to an elevated clearance over West Carson street and the land above described, shall be not less than 22 feet and shall have the right to afford by the viaduct and structures as the same shall be reconstructed as the County under agreement as said Railway Company may provide; further that the said overhead structure crossing Carson street West and the second parcel of ground above described shall be constructed with an adequate right floor as to prevent any dripping of seepage from the bridge, and shall be of such type as to prevent the falling of any material either from the floor itself into the streets, traffic or roadway on Carson street or the land below, and provided further than the plans for the renewal, repairs, reinforcement, reconstruction, change or alteration of the said structures shall first receive the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works of said City before the necessary work is started.

(f) The said Railway Company shall have the right so to do but only upon the condition that the said right of entry shall be exercised in such reasonable manner, and with such instruments as shall cause as little inconvenience to the City and County of Allegheny, its or their agents, servants or assigns as may be reasonably practicable and that the entry upon the said land and street of said City for the purpose aforesaid shall be subject to such reasonable regulations either as to the manner of performing the work of the time therefor as shall be prescribed by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, or his successors.

(g) Subject to the rights hereby reserved to the Railway Company, the said City and its successors and assigns shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed, shall conform to an elevated clearance over West Carson street and the land above described, shall be not less than 22 feet and shall have the right to afford by the viaduct and structures as the same shall be reconstructed as the County under agreement as said Railway Company may provide; further that the said overhead structure crossing Carson street West and the second parcel of ground above described shall be constructed with an adequate right floor as to prevent any dripping of seepage from the bridge, and shall be of such type as to prevent the falling of any material either from the floor itself into the streets, traffic or roadway on Carson street or the land below, and provided further than the plans for the renewal, repairs, reinforcement, reconstruction, change or alteration of the said structures shall first receive the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works of said City before the necessary work is started.

(h) The said Railway Company shall have the right so to do but only upon the condition that the said right of entry shall be exercised in such reasonable manner, and with such instruments as shall cause as little inconvenience to the City and County of Allegheny, its or their agents, servants or assigns as may be reasonably practicable and that the entry upon the said land and street of said City for the purpose aforesaid shall be subject to such reasonable regulations either as to the manner of performing the work of the time therefor as shall be prescribed by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, or his successors.

(i) Subject to the rights hereby reserved to the Railway Company, the said City and its successors and assigns shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed, shall conform to an elevated clearance over West Carson street and the land above described, shall be not less than 22 feet and shall have the right to afford by the viaduct and structures as the same shall be reconstructed as the County under agreement as said Railway Company may provide; further that the said overhead structure crossing Carson street West and the second parcel of ground above described shall be constructed with an adequate right floor as to prevent any dripping of seepage from the bridge, and shall be of such type as to prevent the falling of any material either from the floor itself into the streets, traffic or roadway on Carson street or the land below, and provided further than the plans for the renewal, repairs, reinforcement, reconstruction, change or alteration of the said structures shall first receive the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works of said City before the necessary work is started.

(j) The said Railway Company shall have the right so to do but only upon the condition that the said right of entry shall be exercised in such reasonable manner, and with such instruments as shall cause as little inconvenience to the City and County of Allegheny, its or their agents, servants or assigns as may be reasonably practicable and that the entry upon the said land and street of said City for the purpose aforesaid shall be subject to such reasonable regulations either as to the manner of performing the work of the time therefor as shall be prescribed by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, or his successors.

(k) Subject to the rights hereby reserved to the Railway Company, the said City and its successors and assigns shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed, shall conform to an elevated clearance over West Carson street and the land above described, shall be not less than 22 feet and shall have the right to afford by the viaduct and structures as the same shall be reconstructed as the County under agreement as said Railway Company may provide; further that the said overhead structure crossing Carson street West and the second parcel of ground above described shall be constructed with an adequate right floor as to prevent any dripping of seepage from the bridge, and shall be of such type as to prevent the falling of any material either from the floor itself into the streets, traffic or roadway on Carson street or the land below, and provided further than the plans for the renewal, repairs, reinforcement, reconstruction, change or alteration of the said structures shall first receive the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works of said City before the necessary work is started.

(l) The said Railway Company shall have the right so to do but only upon the condition that the said right of entry shall be exercised in such reasonable manner, and with such instruments as shall cause as little inconvenience to the City and County of Allegheny, its or their agents, servants or assigns as may be reasonably practicable and that the entry upon the said land and street of said City for the purpose aforesaid shall be subject to such reasonable regulations either as to the manner of performing the work of the time therefor as shall be prescribed by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, or his successors.

(m) Subject to the rights hereby reserved to the Railway Company, the said City and its successors and assigns shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed, shall conform to an elevated clearance over West Carson street and the land above described, shall be not less than 22 feet and shall have the right to afford by the viaduct and structures as the same shall be reconstructed as the County under agreement as said Railway Company may provide; further that the said overhead structure crossing Carson street West and the second parcel of ground above described shall be constructed with an adequate right floor as to prevent any dripping of seepage from the bridge, and shall be of such type as to prevent the falling of any material either from the floor itself into the streets, traffic or roadway on Carson street or the land below, and provided further than the plans for the renewal, repairs, reinforcement, reconstruction, change or alteration of the said structures shall first receive the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works of said City before the necessary work is started.

(n) The said Railway Company shall have the right so to do but only upon the condition that the said right of entry shall be exercised in such reasonable manner, and with such instruments as shall cause as little inconvenience to the City and County of Allegheny, its or their agents, servants or assigns as may be reasonably practicable and that the entry upon the said land and street of said City for the purpose aforesaid shall be subject to such reasonable regulations either as to the manner of performing the work of the time therefor as shall be prescribed by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, or his successors.

(o) Subject to the rights hereby reserved to the Railway Company, the said City and its successors and assigns shall have the right to reconstruct the existing railroad structures so far as may be necessary, under such terms and conditions and according to such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between said Railway Company and said County of Allegheny with the approval of the Director of Public Works of the said City of Pittsburgh, provided, however, that said Railway Company shall have the right at all times to renew, repair, reinforce, reconstruct, change or alter the existing structures, including the bridge seats, bridge masonry, piers, abutments, footings, said lane or any part thereof, or the structures as the same may be hereafter changed, altered or reconstructed by agreement with the County of Allegheny, or otherwise, in any manner it sees fit, and shall continue to have that right, provided that the said structures, when so renewed, reconstructed, changed, altered or reconstructed

URGE NEW AUTO THEFT LAWS

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—A uniform law for all states regulating theft information, ownership records and registration to check the stealing of automobiles is recommended by the national crime commission in a report made public by Chairman J. Weston Allen.

The report is the result of a study of a special committee in automobile finance and insurance headed by Col. A. B. Barber, of Washington.

Motor vehicle frauds and theft losses are so large, the report says, as to present a serious problem of major interest to the public. The cause of these losses is attributed to the lack of a uniform anti-theft law. Such a uniform law has been proposed and in substance is in operation in 25 states.

KREMER TO OPPOSE CUBS

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

Spencer's Fine Work. | Drew Easiest Runner.
Straight-Win Records. | Another Net Victory.
Reds End Long Streak. | Willard Denies Faking.

BUC RELIEF MAN SAVES TWO GAMES

THOUGH ONE OF the victories goes into the official pitching records to the credit of Heinie Meine and the other to the credit of Ervin Brame, the Pirates have Glenn Spencer chiefly to thank on the defensive side for their double success in the first two games of the Chicago series. The hard-working young righthander was a tremendous factor in the two triumphs, and the result might have been different on one or both of the occasions if he had not stepped up with two of the glossiest exhibitions of relief hurling that have been turned in anywhere this year.

Glenn Spencer

On Saturday Spencer went to the rescue of Meine in the seventh inning and held a one-run lead safe by blanking the Cubs in the remaining three rounds and giving them only one hit. Yesterday he relieved Brame with two down in the sixth and the Bucs two runs to the good, and again he prevented the game from slipping away by holding the Bruins runless and allowing only one safety in three and one-third innings.

IN A TOTAL of six and one-third chukkers Spencer kept the Cubs from scoring and yielded only two hits and one base on balls. The season hasn't produced two better rescue jobs only 24 hours apart by the same hurler, particularly against a club as strong as the Cubs are on their own lot, and at a time when they were fighting with extra vigor to stave off defeat.

Rogers Hornsby will be in a tougher spot than ever in Chicago if the Cubs don't rally pretty soon. They have dropped eight of their last 10 contests and have failed to come up to expectations in any department. Even their trump pitching card, Charley Root, after winning his first three games of the season, has now lost four in succession.

ED BRANDT, Brave southpaw, today retains his place at the head of the major league pitchers for 1931, by virtue of his 2-to-0 decision over Fred Fitzsimmons and the Giants in the second half of Sunday's double-header. That makes seven wins without a defeat. Rube Walberg also has won seven, but is charged with one reverse.

Anyhow, Brandt has not been approached in quality of pitching by Walberg or anybody else. In his seven games the Boston left-hander has allowed only 15 runs and 38 hits. His game yesterday, stopped by the clock at the end of the sixth inning under the Boston Sunday law, marked the first time this year he has not gone the full distance.

THE FIFTEENTH CONSECUTIVE victory scored by the A's up to today left them still four games short of the record for straight wins in their own league. That was set at 19 by the White Sox from August 2 to 23, 1906, with one tie game played in the meantime. The all-time record for all major leagues is 26 victories in succession. The Giants won that number from September 7 to 30, 1916, playing one tie game on the way. The Boston club in the National Association, the first major league, also won 26 straight from April 19 to June 3, 1875, the year before the National League was organized.

IN ADMINISTERING TO Burleigh Grimes his first defeat of the year, after five straight wins in the opening half of the Sunday dual bill in Cincinnati, the Reds broke a much longer streak. The Cardinals had previously beaten them 18 times in succession—13 last year and five this spring.

Burleigh Grimes

Until yesterday the Reds had not defeated St. Louis since last June 1, when they won both ends of a double-header. Grimes appears to have more trouble with the Howlers than with any other foe. In his last five starts against them he lost three games, won one, and was lifted once with the win-or-lose responsibility passing to the relief pitcher.

A DISCUSSION AS to who was the fastest runner among all the modern sprinters brought from Boyd Comstock, the veteran Pacific Coast track coach, the assertion that Howard Drew, the Negro flash of almost two decades ago, surpassed all others in that respect.

Comstock, who coached Drew when the latter was running for the University of Southern California in 1913, two years after he was seen in action by Pittsburghers in the national A. A. U. meet at Forbes Field, says Howard never had an equal for easy running.

"WHEN DREW WAS running for S. C. there was only one good track in Southern California," Comstock adds. 'Pomona had that, and the first time Drew tested it he ran the 100 in 9 4-5 seconds, with one of his starting holes giving way on him. I told him to coast the 220 that day and he equaled the world record. Drew could loaf through the 100 and do it in even time while other sprinters were fighting their heads off to make the grade. He was ahead of any sprinter of the present day. On the good track of the current period he could have run the century in 9 2-5 easily. And in the 220, his best race, he could lower the world record to 20 seconds flat, or three-fifths of a second better than the mark that stands today. That's how easily Howard Drew could run."

FOLLOWING A CLEAN sweep of five matches against Mexico, America's tennis players have now advanced another step nearer to the Davis Cup challenge round by defeating Canada, four matches to one, thus winning out in the North American zone and qualifying to meet Argentina in the inter-zone finals at Washington next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The outlook is more encouraging than ever that the United States will reach the cup round for the twelfth year in succession. Uncle Sam won the trophy seven times in a row and lost the last four times. What the Americans will do after they get there is another question. The French defenders still look pretty tough.

JACK JOHNSON continues to keep the Los Angeles fight colony stirred up. He declares that in spite of his 53 years he still believes he can lick the best o. the present-day heavyweights. He says he always could whip Jack Dempsey and figures that Jack Sharkey is the only one who might give him any real trouble if he were bearing down.

Jess Willard

Johnson got a rise out of Jess Willard by intimating that their fight in Havana in 1915 was one of those things. "I never was hurt in Havana," the Negro declared. "I was an exile from my country and wanted to get back. That had me more worried than the fight itself." Asked as to the truth of the old story that he was shading his eyes from the sun when counted out, Johnson replied: "I guess you would cover your eyes, too, if that strong sun were shining in them."

WILLARD TOOK EXCEPTION to Johnson's remarks when they were repeated to him. "I would have posed with Johnson for a picture had I been asked," said Jess, on learning that Jim Jeffries had refused. "I believe in boosting, and if I could help Johnson in his small vaudeville tour I'd be glad to do so. But I don't like his slighting remarks about our fight in Havana, when I won the title. I believe knockers always get the worst of it. That fight went 26 rounds before I won by a knockout. I leave it to those who saw the bout to judge whether or not it was fought on its merits. Johnson says he wasn't hurt, that he took it, and was shading his eyes as he was being counted out. As I recall it, I hit Johnson with a left to the body and a right to the head for the knockout. However, I don't propose to enter into any arguments with him over the matter. If I can't boost, I won't knock."

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

We are to see a new Buck McTiernan in the main bout in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, tonight—according to none other than Buck himself.

Tommy Freeman

This goes, provided the rain of this morning does not continue until too late in the day, and that no further fires or bombs are discovered on the Bowl premises. A fire, uncovered early this morning, was eating its way toward two bombs which had been placed in the dressing rooms and office adjoining the Bowl proper.

Buck McTiernan

McTiernan has been doing a lot of experimenting in the gymnasium in recent weeks, and he says he has come upon a discovery which he believes will make him a better ringman than he has been so far against the notables he has faced, and he plans to put his theories into practice against Tommy Freeman, erstwhile welterweight champion of the world, in tonight's battle.

"From now on, I plan to be more aggressive than ever before," McTiernan said yesterday, in discussing his battle plans. "I realize now that all along I have been wasting a lot of time trying to make my opponents fight to my order. I have been angling and maneuvering for position. Sometimes my plans have worked out to perfection, and other times I have been losing precious moments when I might have been piling up points. Henceforth I intend to step right out from the clang of the bell in each round and carry the fight to my opponent and gain a natural advantage. I believe the fans will like this new style much better. As for myself, I am more than satis-

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF LAST SATURDAY: FRIEDRICH II SPENT $4,000,000 FOR SNUFF BOXES—Friedrich II (the Great), King of Prussia (1712-1786), who was a talented ruler, legislator and general, was rather eccentric in his financial conduct. Regarding himself as "the first servant of the state," he practiced the most rigid economy in his private household. When he died he left behind him the best filled treasury in Europe, a personal wardrobe worth $10 and 400 snuff boxes each of which was worth at least $10,000. AN ANT FLAGGED A TRAIN—During September, 1930, Southern Railway train No. 41, a crack fast train, reached Bearden, Tenn., and was run on a siding, stopped by a "red board." After a long wait, an investigation showed that a tiny red ant had crawled into the signal box and caused the automatic signal to switch from green to red. This was reported to me by Mrs. Roy N. Emert, of Sweetwater, Tenn.

TOMORROW: A JUDGMENT FOR MORE MONEY THAN EXISTS.

U. S. STARS WIN ZONE TITLE

MONTREAL, May 25.—(AP.)—The United States Davis Cup tennis team captured the North American zone title, eliminating Canada in the final round, four matches to one, yesterday.

Sidney B. Wood, Jr., of New York, whose unexpected defeat by Marcel Rainville had given Canada its one victory on Thursday, clinched the series definitely in the opening singles match yesterday, when he upset Dr. Jack Wright, Montreal veteran, in straight sets, 8-6, 6-3, 6-4, with nothing at stake. Frank Shields, lanky New York youngster, then romped through Rainville in the final match of the series, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

The United States team now will clash with Argentina, South American zone champions, at Washington Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The survivor of this series will go to Europe to meet the European zone titleholder and, in the event of victory, to battle France in the challenge round.

Wood and Wright had played one set of their match and were in the midst of the second when rain forced a postponement Saturday. They resumed play yesterday at that point.

Andrews, Golf Pro, Dead in N. Brighton

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., May 25.—Walter Andrews, 46, golf pro at the Beaver Valley Country Club for the past eight years, died yesterday at his home, 603 Fourth avenue, of pneumonia. He was born in England.

Before coming to Beaver Valley, Andrews had served as pro at Battle Creek and Mansfield, O. He leaves his widow and two children.

Sport Vignettes

According to our Charley Doyle, even the baseball rookies get off a good one now and then . . . On the recent jump from Philadelphia to Chicago, the train bearing the Pirates was nearing the Horseshoe Curve . . . Dr. Jorgenson, the trainer, anxious to have the youngsters view the scenic wonder, told them to be on the lookout for it . . . "Did you ever see the Horseshoe Bend?" he asked one of the rooks . . . Imagine his embarrassment when the kid came back with, "No, but I once saw a guy break rocks with his fist" . . . Apples Meyers knew he had a "hot" match in the McTiernan-Freeman affair, but he never thought it would set his Meyers Bowl on fire.

Scotty Lumsden, former local soccer player and official, now the golf pro at Conneaut Lake, Pa., went out for a round of golf the other day with Max Schmeling, the heavyweight champion, who is prepping at the resort for his title defense bout with Young Stribling in Cleveland, July 3, and noticed that the German carried 13 clubs in his bag . . . He called the attention of Trainer Max Machon to this fact and the latter conveyed the information to the boxer . . . Now, Schmeling isn't in the least superstitious, no, not at all, but he immediately weeded out four of the clubs which he didn't need and all were No. 7s . . . Sometimes it rains and no one cares, and other times it rains on Saturdays and there are no sports events.

Tony Herrera's mother, Mrs. Antonio Campbell, of El Paso, Tex., doesn't want Tony to be a fighter, although she gets a kick out of the fact that he is a good one . . . She has been unable to dissuade him from his course, and now finds another son, Carlos, 18, following in Tony's footsteps . . . The gaudiest fight manager literature yet received comes from Harry Lenny, of New York, pilot of Paul Swiderski, and it pictures Mickey Walker, the middleweight champion, on the floor seven times in the first two rounds of his bout with Swiderski at Louisville, Ky., on Derby eve of last year.

Lenny alleges that Swiderski had to fight Walker, 20 policemen, Manager Jack Kearns, Trainer Teddy Hayes, the timekeeper and the referee in those first two rounds and that Walker should have been disqualified when his manager entered the ring to save him with 52 seconds still to go after the fifth knockdown in the first round, and that Walker was given a rest of five minutes between the first and second rounds . . . The fight, a no-decision affair, went the limit of 10 rounds, with both men claiming victory.—HARRY KECK.

DUKE NETTERS PLAY JACKETS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Thursday of the current week will behold windup of the local intercollegiate racquet cards for 1931. Already the netmen of Pitt and Carnegie Tech have called quits, but the Dukes, seeking to retrieve pride and prestige damaged in early contests, this afternoon entertain the Waynesburg College crew and three days hence trek to Beaver Falls to terminate the season in combat with Geneva.

It is possible that the Bluffite-Covenanter affair will be switched to another day or even dropped altogether, for it is understood that senior examinations are on at Duquesne throughout the week, a fact apt to deprive the Hilltoppers of the services of Capt. Andy Smeaton, Jimmy Campbell, and perhaps one or two of the Red and Blue supporting cast as far as tussles abroad are concerned.

The Duke-Waynesburg session will mark the final home appearance of Capt. Smeaton as a varsity contender. The redoubtable Andy has performed well and honorably for four years as a mainstay of the Siverd host, and his passing will leave an irreparable gap in the Hill lineup of 1932, for present freshman material has given no indication of being able to measure up to the Smeaton standard. The Bluff leader, since the spring of 1930, has engaged in 19 singles tilts and has suffered but two reversals in the course of that active span.

DISTRICT FANS AWAIT RACES

Western Pennsylvania automobile racing fans are eagerly awaiting the opening of the speed season next Saturday afternoon, Memorial Day, when races are scheduled at the Bridgeville board speedway and the Monongahela and Junction Park, New Brighton, dirt tracks.

A 100-mile race is carded at Monongahela, with a special 25-mile test between a new Ford and a new Chevrolet, while series of short races are listed at Bridgeville and New Brighton.

CHICAGO, May 25. — Glenn Spencer, the little speedball king from Binghamton, was the toast of the Pirate camp today as the Ensmen prepared to take on the Cubs in the last game of the series. The innate modesty of New York State folks is written all over the countenance of this frail-looking lad who twice in two days has saved the Buccos when defeat threatened to overwhelm them.

A smile lighted up the features of Glenn last night as his clubhouse mates patted him on the back and congratulated him for his masterly relief performance which made it possible for the Freebooters to take their second game in succession from the Bruins. The Pittsburghers will try to make it three in a row today behind Remy Kremer, who is likely to be opposed by Sugar Sweetland, one of Hornsby's southpaws, who formerly toiled in the Quaker vineyard.

SPENCER HERO

But the Pirates this morning were more concerned over Spencer than anything else. The slender righthander bids fair to become another Fred Marberry in the art of rescuing his mates. Ervin Brame being his latest beneficiary. He was the big hero in the Buccos 10-to-7 victory yesterday.

Glenn went to the mound in the seventh Saturday and by holding the hard-hitting Bears to one hit he took Heinie Meine in out of the woods. Yesterday ol' Erv from Kaintuck was on the ropes, partly on account of an attack of pleurisy. Brame was not himself at any part of the

COLTS BEATEN BY FAIRMONT

Cumberland's lead in the Middle Atlantic League was shaved somewhat yesterday as the Colts dropped a 5-to-3 decision to Fairmont. The Colts outhit the Black Diamonds, 7 to 6, but three errors contributed to the downfall of the leaders.

Clarksburg and Scottdale divided a double bill, remaining tied for second place. The Generals won the first game, 4 to 3, but were walloped in the second, 7 to 2. Lee held them to three hits in the nightcap.

Charleroi nosed out Johnstown, 6 to 5, in a 10-inning tussle. Charleroi won, despite five errors afield.

At Huntington, Wheeling's Stogies scored an 8-to-6 victory and Beckley defeated Charleston, 5 to 2.

All in all it was a great day for errors, no fewer than 29 being made in the half-dozen contests played.

THREE STARS REPEAT AS SCHOLASTIC CHAMPS

PRYOR, DOOMS 1931 SPRINT LEADERS

By JESS CARVER

The 1931 campaign of the high school track and field stars has completed its run, and wound up what has been a strenuous but not over-impressive schedule with the "all wet" state championships at Altoona Saturday. It will be weeks and weeks before those who, either by choice or duty, took in the state meet, get themselves dried out. The tough part of it is, that except for performances in two or three events there really was nothing to write the old folks about during the waterlogged week.

In fact, it took a quintet of district lads, O'Dile Pryor, of Ford City; Roscoe Fleming, of Westinghouse; Wonna Dooms, of Uniontown; Irving Morman, of Peabody, and Johnny Murphy, of Butler, to put all the color and class into the state meet, and four of these same five have just about made the scholastic track and field season hereabouts this year.

THREE CHAMPS BACK

With the season over, a new list of champions are ready to be crowned and only three of 'em repeaters from last year. Pryor is back as the 220-yard king; Paul MacMurdo as the half-mile leader and Curt Young, of Beaver Falls, as the shot put champ. Mike Dunn, who held the title in the low hurdles for 1930, is a leader again this year, but has scratched his name on the rolls in the high timbers.

Only half a dozen marks were betterd by the boys this spring. Pryor sliced one-tenth of a second off the furlong time, covering the distance in 22.1 on Saturday to tie the state record for the distance. Grim, of New Brighton, and Dunn, of Ellwood City, went over the high hurdles in 16.3 to beat Bradley's time of 16.5 of 1930. Young added one inch to his 1930 shot put distance of 46 feet 2½ inches.

Frank Muscavich, of Aliquippa, hurled the discus 122 feet 5 inches, to improve on the 117-foot 4½-inch standard of a year ago and Johnny Murphy, of Butler, hurled the javelin 183 feet 7 inches, to shove into the discard the effort so proudly boasted by Van Fausen, of Zelienople, last spring.

Then, Uniontown's 1931 edition mile relay team skipper over the distance in 3:31.5, knocking some three seconds from the mark set by a different Uniontown quartet in '30.

The leading marks were well distributed over the district's leading carnivals. Five were made at the Geneva meet; five at the Pitt affair; two at the state carnival Saturday, and three at the W. P. I. A. L. and one at the city event.

MURPHY OUTSTANDING

The outstanding stars of the year, of course, have been Murphy, Dooms, Pryor and Fleming. Murphy has thrown the javelin away this spring, and of all the high school stars in the sector, he looks like the best Olympic prospect. Pryor has developed into a crackerjack quarter-miler. Fleming is state champion for the second year in a row and Dooms has sprinted into the first rank as a short-distance man, although he runs a not-to-be-sneezed-at quarter as anchor man on the Uniontown relay team.

Speaking of relay teams (and weren't we?), I'd like to see a quartet composed of Dooms, running first, MacMurdo, second, Pryor, third, and Fleming last, in action. If that outfit couldn't cover a mile in better than 3:20 . . . well, I hope to kiss a purple pig it could.

Local Soccer Club To Play at Conneaut

The German Soccer Club, of Pittsburgh, and the German Soccer Club, of Cleveland, will meet Saturday afternoon at Conneaut Lake Park in an exhibition soccer game. Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champion, will kick off to start the game. Schmeling played soccer in Germany as part of his athletic training. He is in training at Conneaut Lake in preparation for his championship fight at Cleveland, July 4.

Altoona Auto Race Program Changed

ALTOONA, Pa., May 25.—Active preparations for the opening of the 1931 automobile racing season on the famous Altoona Speedway were begun today when Ralph Hankinson, new operator of the mile-and-a-quarter oval, opened his offices here.

Harry Riggins, a personal representative of Hankinson for the last six years and a former racing driver, has been named as manager of the speedway.

The first race, a championship event, will be held July 4 instead of the usual Flag Day opening in June. The usual Labor Day meet will be held. Both races will be championship events.

SHOOT AT CHARTIERS

The Chartiers Heights Country Club will be host at a 100-target shoot on Memorial Day. The shooting will begin at 1 o'clock, and will be in four classes. J. W. Napier won the inaugural event at the Chartiers traps.

fied with the results I have obtained in my workouts."

FUTURE AT STAKE

McTiernan fully realizes the importance of turning in a bright and colorful performance tonight. The bout with Freeman, a seasoned campaigner, may prove the making of him, or by the same token, the breaking of him. A win over Tommy will send him into his first New York appearance, against Ignacio Ara, the Spaniard, in Madison Square Garden, June 4, full of confidence, and he will need all of this he can muster on that occasion. A fine showing against Ara will install him as a favorite in New York and the pathway to fame and fortune in his chosen profession then will be smoothed considerably. No wonder, the youngster is dreaming dreams of the future and has builded carefully to avoid making a mis-step at this stage.

Freeman arrived in town yesterday and declared he was all set to make a fresh start following his loss of the title back to Young Jack Thompson, from whom he won it. He does not regard McTiernan as an easy opponent, but believes his experience will prove the determining factor in steering his course to victory.

MOORE BOXES HOGAN

Jimmy Hogan, of Cleveland, stablemate of Freeman, meets Jimmy Moore, local Negro middleweight puncher, in the eight-round semi-final at the Bowl, with Angelo Vergione, of Swissvale, and Benny Goldblatt, former amateur star of Chicago, boxing the second bout, and Johnny Montebano, of Braddock, and Young Bordell, of New Kensington, in the six-round opener, set for 8:30.

Interest in the McTiernan-Freeman clash is such that a near-capacity crowd of the spacious bowl is anticipated.

Jack McVey, veteran Negro middleweight, of New York, and Henry Firpo, of Louisville, box the 10-round main bout of a show in the Castle Bowl, New Castle, tonight.

Between Rounds

Starting off with a local "natural" bout between Willie Davies and Jimmy Thomas last Thursday night, the Hickey Park management again has struck popular fancy with its second windup offering next Thursday, when it will present Battling Gizzy, of Donora, and Eddie Brannon, Negro lightweight, of the Hill. This elimination has been long in the making and will pave the way for the winner to face Jack (Kid) Berg in the former junior-welterweight champion's next showing in Pittsburgh, scheduled within the next month or six weeks.

Preparations will be completed today for the first open-air wrestling show of the season in the Pittsburgh district, at Hickey Park, tomorrow night, with Ray Steele, of California, and John Podoubnery, of Russia, in the main bout and Jim McMillen and George Tragos in the other finish match. Meanwhile, the Meyers Bowl promoters are going ahead with plans for their first show, Friday night of next week, when Gus Sonnenberg will appear in the main bout, likely against Stan Staslak.

Harry Harris, Bellaire, O., light-heavyweight, who has been working in the outdoors to harden himself for a busy summer campaign after suffering again from bad hands, may join the training camp of either Max Schmeling or Young Stribling, according to his manager, Andy Vusky.

Race Driver Sets Dirt Track Record

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 25.—(AP.)—Ira Hall, Terre Haute, Ind., race driver, established a new track record to win the 15-mile feature race at the Kentucky Motor Speedway here yesterday.

Driving a Frontenac, Hall averaged 61.55 miles an hour for the 15 miles. Red Campbell, St. Louis, and J. R. Slack, Knoxville, were second and third, respectively.

CARNERA BOUT GIVEN K. O.

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—Primo Carnera today was restrained by Federal Judge John Knox from fighting Jack Sharkey at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 10.

CLEVELAND GO IN COURT

CLEVELAND, May 25.—(AP.)—Hearing on the injunction to stop the Stribling-Schmeling championship bout at the Cleveland Municipal Stadium, July 3, began in Common Pleas Court here today.

Attorney Joseph H. Mellen, who brought the suit for David Fisher, taxpayer, declared the match a prize-fight and as such is illegal in Ohio.

Assistant Law Director Henry S. Brainard, in defense of the bout, said it is a "boxing contest," since both participants are to receive a stipulated sum regardless of the outcome.

Young Stribling, contender for the heavyweight crown, was to appear as a witness. Other witnesses included Ed Bang, sports editor of the Cleveland News; Stuart Bell, sports editor of the Cleveland Press, and Charles P. Murphy, secretary of the Cleveland Boxing Commission.

After the case was presented by the attorneys, the hearing was adjourned until late today.

HELEN TO STAY AT HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—(AP.)—Because it will keep her away from home for three and a half months, Helen Wills Moody has decided she will be unable to enter the English tennis championships at Wimbledon this year.

The announcement which came after a family conference, following persistent rumors of the past week that Mrs. Moody, winner of four English tournaments, would leave today for England.

Mrs. Moody said she did not definitely know until yesterday that she would be unable to make the trip. Tennis equipment had been ordered for her in New York and was awaiting her arrival there en route to England.

Fast Boats Entered In Oakmont Regatta

The fastest boats in the Pittsburgh district have been entered in the speedboat regatta to be staged by the Oakmont Chamber of Commerce at Oakmont on Memorial Day afternoon. Races in three classes, and an open event, all to start and finish opposite the Willows Pool, are on the program. Jimmy Altman's "Century Cyclone," W. W. Neely's "Lake Elsinore" and Vic Bright's "Baby Whale" are among the favored entries.

U. S. Girl Wins Turin Cup Race

TURIN, Italy, May 25.—(AP.)—Loretta Turnbull, 18-year-old Monrovia, Cal., girl, piloted her out-board motorboat Sunkissed Kid V. to victory in the Turin Club Cup competition yesterday.

Miss Turnbull, who had won the first heat Saturday, placed second yesterday, but won the cup on best average time for the two-day test. Her winning speed average was 59.96 kilometers an hour.

BILLY ARNOLD QUALIFIES FOR RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—(AP.)—Billy Arnold, Chicago, reigning American driving champion, and Tony Gulotta, Kansas City, were the only pilots to qualify their cars yesterday for the annual 500-mile automobile race to be run next Saturday at the Indianapolis motor speedway here.

Arnold whirled his front-drive eight-cylinder speedster around the course for 10 miles at an average of 116.080 miles per hour, the fastest of the 19 drivers who have qualified to date.

The speedy performance, however, will gain him only the third position in the sixth row of the starting lineup, the officials adhering to the rule that all first day qualifiers precede those who pass the test later. The trials began Saturday when 17 cars were qualified.

Parks-Stanger Top Eldred and Wolff

Samuel M. Parks, Jr., of Highland, Pitt captain, who will be Pittsburgh's only formidable entry in the national intercollegiate championship this year, teamed with Dr. J. W. Stanger in a four-ball, best ball match yesterday to defeat Vincent Eldred, professional, and Regis Wolff, West Penn junior titleholder, 2 and 1, at the Highland Country Club. Parks' medal score of 73 was low for the individual playing, Stanger recording 76 and Wolff and Eldred 78 each. Their best ball cards:

KREMER READY FOR BRUINS

battle, but he folded up completely in the sixth.

Glenn shut the door in the faces of the home boys as 20,000 Chicagoans looked on. In this exciting period he yielded only one hit so that he has pitched more than six frames in two days while allowing just two safeties.

The second game of the set saw Brame thrown against Charley Root. The Buccos got to Root early and before the game was over, Hornsby had a parade of pitchers on view. Bush, Teachout and Blake followed in the order named.

BUCS IN FOURTH

The latest success of the Pittsburgh team had the desired effect of putting the Buccos into the first division, their vanquished foe dropping into the second tier.

The contest was replete with hitting. For some time, the Buccos have been hanging around the bottom in team hitting, but they gave Skipper Ens a treat yesterday as they clubbed out 15 hits. The Cubs connected safely 14 times.

Lloyd Waner stole the batting show with four hits, although Manager Hornsby proved a favorite with the crowd largely on account of his seventh homer of the season which he struck in the first inning. The Rajah combed Brame for three hits. Comorosky also came out of the fight with three blows.

HACK WILSON BENCHED

For the first time since he became a Cub regular, Hack Wilson, home-run champion of the major leagues last season, has been benched for any reason other than sickness.

Wilson, who has batted out only two home runs this season, and whose batting average to date is only .266—compared to his finishing mark of .356 in 1930, yesterday was relegated to the bench by Hornsby, in an effort to add power to the Cub attack. Hornsby did not say that Wilson would not be in the ball game when the club opens in Cincinnati Tuesday, but indicated that the pudgy slugger would rest for several days.

GOLFERS OPEN BUSY WEEK

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

With the Caddiemasters' Golf Association engaging in battle over the splendid links at the Nemacolin Country Club, near Beallsville, Pa.; the Hotel, Club and Restaurant Men's Golf Association cavorting the beautiful layout of the Stanton Heights Golf Club in the East End; McKeesport High matching strokes with Oliver High at Highland in a Section II, Interscholastic Golf Conference match, and Allderdice playing Langley High at Thornburg in a Section I affray, the week's golf got away to a flying start today.

Tomorrow the two groups making up the Women's Team League of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania take up their championship-bringing work again, Section I having its matches over the aforesaid beautiful Stanton Heights layout, and Section II playing at the testy St. Clair course.

An up-and-on contest will be held at Shannopin for its women members tomorrow.

The scheduled mixed foursome tournament of the Summit Golf Club, Uniontown, yesterday was postponed because of cold weather following Saturday's heavy rains. A field of more than 100 had entered the event, more than 75 of them from this city. Manager Leo Hevn has set June 23 and 24 as tentative dates for the mens' medal play handicap and mixed foursome events. Special events also are carded at the links for Memorial Day.

GLASGOW CELTICS COP

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—The Glasgow Celtics scored the second straight victory of their American tour yesterday, defeating the New York Giants soccer team, 3 to 2, before a crowd of 35,000 at the Polo Grounds.

LAVINE WINS TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(AP.)—Gene Lavine, former University of Pennsylvania tennis captain, won the Philadelphia and district clay court championship yesterday by defeating Fred Rolf, Penn freshman captain, 7-5, 6-1, 6-3.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Folks, you can always bet the bankroll on Uncle Nick's conundrums and proverbs. I have always contended you can't keep a Boston team out of last place and I got a better batting average than Charley Schwab and his prosperity speeches. When any guy gets a job piloting the Red Sox, he is a ground pilot and that's all. The Red Sox could pry themselves into twelfth place if there were a dozen teams in the league. If they were transferred over to the National circuit they would even make that Cincinnati club look good. Say, whatever became of that race for home run honors between Babe Ruth and Hack Wilson? The starter must have lost his gun.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Decline — Local Market Narrow

STOCK MARKET PRICES SINK RAPIDLY

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—Share prices sank rapidly in one of the dullest stock markets of the year today.

The list declined from lack of support, rather than important selling. Commodities were also under pressure, and the bond market was sluggish. It was Blue Monday all around.

In stocks, the former blue chip issues, showed most conspicuous heaviness, as has been their habit of late. The tonic effects of the higher freight rate agitation had worn off in the railroad division and several of these issues plumbed new low levels. Stocks dropping 3 points or more to new lows for the bear market included U. S. Steel.

Reports that automobile sales are beginning to fall off began to appear in Wall street.

The sag in prices, checked only by the very feeble rally on Thursday and Friday of last week, continued into its third week. Commission house opinion inclines to the view that the market is getting well sold out, and must be making at least a temporary bottom.

Opinion as to the extent of the short interest in the market is divided. A survey of brokerage houses shows that 12 believe there has been a decrease in the last 10 days, three see little change and nine consider the short interest increased. This same survey shows 19 brokers who believe the market is headed lower, perhaps interrupted by intermediate rallies, while one thinks the market is now at bottom, and five look for higher levels in the near future.

Of the week-end news the item of chief interest to Wall street was the radio address made by James A. Farrell, president of U. S. Steel. Mr. Farrell's reiteration of the view he expressed earlier in the year that "our worst experiences are behind us" was reassuring, after his frank discussion of the troubled conditions in the steel industry last week. Nevertheless, Mr. Farrell did not have anything to say sufficiently encouraging to dispel the gloom in Wall street.

Credit conditions remained stationary, with call loans abundantly available in the outside market at 1 per cent, although the loan desk appeared unwilling to experiment with an official rate lower than 1½ per cent, after the large withdrawals occasioned by its recent 1 per cent rate.

BIG BEAR SEES SLUMP'S END

NEW YORK, May 25.—William Danforth, who assumed a bearish attitude on the stock market in midsummer, 1929, is credited with having amassed huge profits out of the sweeping declines over the last 18 months, but he now feels that the main body of stock has experienced about 98 per cent of its probable readjustment and expresses unwillingness to play for the remaining 2 per cent. He believes that long holdings of stocks that have survived the pounding of the last three months are now fairly "shockproof." With the idea that business activity is likely to show some improvement in the fall, he has been accumulating U. S. Steel, American Can and other leading stocks on a scale down for the last 10 days.

Lumber Orders Lag Behind Production

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Orders for lumber received at mills during the week ended May 16 were approximately 9 per cent under production, according to reports from 775 leading hardwood and softwood mills to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association. This is the third successive week showing an unfavorable order-production ratio.

California Crude Oil Output Higher

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—California crude oil production during the week ended May 23 averaged 537,800 barrels daily, an increase of 3,300 barrels over the week preceding, according to California Oil World.

Reduction Noted In Wheat Acreage

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A reduction in world wheat acreage excluding Russia and China, for the current season of 2 per cent is reported by the Department of Agriculture.

Slower Pace of Decline Arouses Interest of Market Operators.

Evidently the slackening of the pace of the downward movement, after a period of almost 12 weeks of steady decline, is commencing to turn the interest of some of the more active professional operators to possibilities of something in the way of technical recovery. The flow of liquidation which had been on the market for nearly two and one-half months seemed to have subsided early this week and while the market has not shown much in the way of sustained rallying power it has nevertheless shown an increasing measure of resistance to selling pressure. It is interesting therefore to find the street talking of prospective conferences to be held by some operators who apparently believe conditions internally are more favorable for a try on the long side than they have been in quite a while.

Exclusive of the results of subsidiaries, the April statement of the St. Louis-San Francisco showed the company itself managed to keep in the black. Gross revenues for the month stood at $4,849,794, against $6,078,077 in the same month last year. Gross in the first four months was down about 25 per cent to $18,734,793, with a net loss of $583,964 as against net income of $1,734,966 in the same period last year. Including subsidiary returns, the road reported a net loss of $100,326 for April, compared with net income of $376,900 last year and for the four months a net loss of $998,656 against net income of $1,547,376 in the corresponding period of 1930.

The continued decline in commodity prices is of greater value to public utilities than to railroads and industrials according to the investment bulletin of the Alexander Hamilton Institute. The selling prices of their own products are stable and their volume of sales not subject to drastic reduction even during depression. Railroads however suffer acutely from decreased volume. Industrial income suffers from reductions in both price and volume. The favorable position of public utilities is accordingly reflected in their relatively stronger resistance to receding prices.

The amusement shares are perhaps selling as a group on the lowest price times earnings ratio basis obtaining at present in the market. Taken on the basis of preliminary, or reported earnings for last year the stocks of the four leading units in the industry are moving at levels ranging from 1.3 to about 5 times last year's indicated earnings. On the basis of low prices reached last week, Warner Brothers is selling at about 1.3 times indicated 1930 earnings, Fox at about 3.4 times earnings expected to be shown as calculated on the basis of the company's method of depreciation for old films, Paramount a shade better than 5 times its last year's earnings, and Loew's, Inc., at about 4.9 times its reported earnings.

Weekly earnings of Continental Baking Corporation in five weeks since April 12, have been double the weekly average during the first 15 weeks of the year. It now seems certain the company will earn its full preferred dividend requirements for the period in the 25 weeks ending July 1, representing the first half of the year. In view of the satisfactory cash position, it is probable directors will declare the regular quarterly dividend on the preferred at the meeting early in June.

First quarter earnings of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation probably will fall a little short of dividend requirements of 50 cents a share on 6,642,508 shares of common stock, or about $3,321,000 for the period. In the past, the company's earnings in the second quarter usually have shown improvement over the first. This should continue to hold true in the present year. This, with the strong cash position, assures continuation of the present $2 dividend.

Upward Trend in Soft Coal Output

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The total production of soft coal during the week ended May 16, including lignite and coal coked at the mines, is estimated at 6,783,000 net tons, according to the Bureau of Mines. This figure sustains the upward trend in production of the past few weeks and shows a slight gain—68,000 tons—or 1 per cent over the week of May 9. Production during the week in 1930 amounted to 8

Peru Unable to Pay Interest on Bonds

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—J. & W. Seligman & Co. and the National City Bank of New York, as fiscal agents of the Republic of Peru, announced today the receipt of a letter from Rafael Larco Herrera, Peruvian minister of finance, which says the government will be unable to meet the interest and sinking fund payments, due June 1, on the first series of bonds of the Peruvian national loan.

Sandlot fans have a banner card to watch this evening on the local lots. All of the leading teams swing into action, and the West Penn and City Leagues have games carded of more than average interest.

Linwood goes to Swissvale to meet the Community nine. Both teams need the points involved. Linwood has been in a losing streak, and it might be said that the Lincoln avenue boys have not been getting the breaks.

Two games are listed in the City loop. The league-leading Homewood aggregation goes to Bloomfield to meet J. L. Thomas. It is reported that Sammy Leon has asked for the assignment to try once more to trun back the Daly outfit.

At Olympia Park, Oakmont will clash with Book Shoe. Jacoby will probably work this game for the Shoemen, and if in form, will be hard to stop. The South Hills team has Doak, Copper, or McFarland to send to the hill.

With the last week of the month on hand fans, players and managers are hoping for a break in the weather.

Getting postponed games played off is going to be a tough job, many outside of the two leading leagues only have one night a week on the playing fields, and getting other games scheduled is a problem, to say the least.

Manager Ed Walsh was tickled at the pitching performance of Schenk against Swissvale Community yesterday afternoon. The Community met the Martins of Garfield, in the first game of the West Penn League, as far as the Garfielders were concerned, and Schenk turned in a beautiful game to win 4 to 1.

The Cincinnati Negro club, led by Billy Dismukes, will be the Homestead Grays' opponent in two games Memorial Day. The afternoon game will be played at Edgar Thomson field, Braddock, and the second battle will be staged at Forbes Field, starting at 6:30 p. m.

W. O. W. VICTOR OVER BUICKS

The sandlotters took excellent advantage of the clear skies and fairly dry diamonds of yesterday to work off some excess pep and fire and played through a fairly heavy card.

Before a disappointing crowd, W. O. W. returned to the wars and nosed out the North Side Buicks, 6 to 5, in a 10-inning tussle. J. L. Thomas won a slugfest from the Crawfords, 9 to 7, and Linden Grove surprised the North Side Elks with a 6-to-4 setback.

Gelberts defeated the Protectory A. C., 3 to 1, and Grandview walloped the Miss Glass nine, 12 to 4. The Tyson club won a hectic one from Brighton, 11 to 10, and Bellevue defeated Aliquippa, 6 to 2. DePasquale found the Rinkydinks easy, winning by an 11-to-2 count, and the Homestead Aces topped Greenfield, 5 to 2. The Brodericks won another one, this time by a 12 to 5 count. Crafton Community walloped the Champion Coalers, 12 to 2.

Two were out when the winning run went over in the W. O. W.-Buick tussle, George Jedinak featured with a homer.

Revelry Increases, Party Guests Go Swimming

(This famous story has been made into a talking picture by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Marion Davies in the leading role.)

CHAPTER XVI.

Jennifer leaned toward Wilke-Barre.

"I thought you were Bobby Shaftoe, who went to sea with silver buckles on his knee."

The youth she thought was Bobby Shaftoe, who went to sea with silver buckles on his knee, was asleep, his chin resting squarely and precariously in the shallow crystal basin of his empty champagne glass.

Before the crash came that was to gash the Rosetti-looking Wilkes-Barre chin with splintered glass, Berry was back in great and rising spirits.

"Glory! what a night!"

"It was on such a night as this—"

"—that I made the damnedest mistake in my life," said Berry, and jerked the great athletic hulk of his body back to his place at the table.

"Leslie's been looking for you, Berry," said Irene Annesey.

"Finders keepers," said Berry under his breath to Jennifer.

"Mean that?"

"If I ever meant anything, I mean it. Find me, Jennifer."

"You won't let me."

"Try me."

"Don't be darling to me, Berry, unless—"

Beneath the table his heavy palm clamped down on her knee.

"How can I help it, when you are darling to me."

"How do you mean that?"

"I'll tell you later—"

"I'll not drive back with you alone unless—"

"Unless what?"

"Unless I damn please," she said, and swung her smooth bare shoulder from him and turned to talk to Wilke-Barre, who was having his chin nursed by a princess of Greece.

Tom Edgerton began to beat a tom-tom in an effort to drum up trade for his boiling pot of corn on cob.

Ramon Entertains

Most of those who ventured never quite reached the boiling pot. The gardens lay embalmed in a night through which the moonlight poured like spring showers. Marble curve of benches gleamed in among hedges. Islands of shadow crawled back into the groves. The waterfall that fed the natural swimming-pool made silver-tipped commotion. The dinner broke into dancing almost before the tables could be cleared from the tiles. It was as dreamy as absinthe to tango out there under the stars.

Six Hawaiian boys in shellacked hair sang to Argentine music. A jazz-band alternated. A Spanish slip of a girl, with hips which she managed like a spaniel shaking off water, danced solo with Ramon Lopez. Her bold, sinuous body-beauty went through you in points of excitement. The give of the slim jacket of her ribs as she doubled with a boneless ductility back over his elbow.

Slitted eyes of Ramon, braced for her whirling body to spin into the close insinuating haven of his arms. Slow shuffling feet, too sensuous to leave the ground. Faces, as through a curtain of moonlight, dimly; the Spanish girl's fore-shortened upper lip hiked back to reveal small wet teeth; Ramon's face, sliding down like a warm brown breathing lid—over hers. . . .

"God, Berry, they're wonderful," said Jennifer.

His body, through it all, as they stood in the thick fringe of onlookers, had been crushing against hers. It had been her dance with Berry, vicariously.

The pair broke into a tarantelle then, as if to gloss over the thickening moist-lipped faces that had begun to lean out of the human wall around them.

"Come on, Jennifer, let's get out of here. I need a drink. I need 11 drinks." They backed off without much disturbance, moving slidingly and unnoticed along the tiles; moving hand in hand down the broad reflecting steps; moving slidingly toward the grove above the grotto of the swimming pool.

Patches of moonlight covered the floor of the grove like lily-pads. Water, skedaddling down the rocks to feed the pool, was the only sound . . .

"Life ought to be sweeter to us than it is, Berry. What's rotten with us?"

"What say?"

"You're not listening."

"I can feel your voice. It makes darling little vibrations."

"I begged you not to get tight, Berry."

His eyes fluttered heavily and closed as he began fumbling out on to the moss for the frosted quart bottle and two glasses with which he had fortified himself from the buffet table that was now being spread down beside the swimming pool.

"You can't get tight on champagne, my field mouse. You get divine."

"You've stood me up frightfully, Berry. What if I were to go home and blow out that portion of my anatomy called brain, with a mother-of-pearl pistol?"

"I'd embalm you in a block of ice and keep you in a casket of rose quartz."

"You are as slippery as a glass eel."

Jennifer Inquisitive

"You don't know the half of it, my darling, or the half of the half of it," he cried, and rolled over and dug his face into the soft fur moss of her gown. "God, I'm 10 kinds of a fool!"

"Sweet 10 kinds."

"Rotten 10 kinds."

"Tell me one of the kinds."

"Fee, fie, fo, fum. The kind that daren't like little white field mice."

"That daren't?" she said, and lifted her head as if to listen. "Why?"

"Let me alone," he cried into her lap, "with your whys and your whys and your whys. Why are all the girls such why-hounds?"

"Sh-h-h! Berry's tight," she said, smoothing his hair.

"Just go on doing that," he said, still into the thick whiteness of her lap. "Just go on doing that—and talk——"

"Why should I do all the talking and you all the evading?"

"Is this evading?" he said, and reached up to stroke her cheek.

"I feel like I belonged in one of those psychological novels they're writing nowadays."

"The darling has read a book and everything."

"Where nothing happens except in the tortured brains of some tortured author's brain-children. The cross-eyed school of literature that looks inward, and does nothing about it but look and look. Life isn't that way. Life moves. Life is motion. Time doesn't pass. We pass. I may be in a mess, but I don't intend to sit in it and stew."

"Stew in my arms, darling."

"I hate you when you're tight. Am I tight, Berry?"

"Not tight. Divine."

Swimming Party

"Let's be good, Berry, and sober, and live so that, after it's all over, it will have mattered a damn whether we have lived or not."

"You're good, Jennifer. You're a good gal. That's what ails you."

"You're no good, Berry. That's what ails you."

"You're what ails me."

"Then for God's sake, Berry, play fair with me! Oh! Get up, Berry! Look! They're throwing light on the pool. It may slip up here. How long have we been away? What will Leslie say?"

A cone of light swung through the grove. He dragged her swiftly back.

"Don't go, Pussy."

"Berry, we must."

"Don't go."

"Look, the crowd is coming down to bath. There's Elsie Risdon in a bathing suit. She never travels without it. And Ramon. He looks as if he were painted in gold leaf. It's beautiful. It's terrible. It's like one of those Stuck pictures—horrible loveliness.

"Look at the Wilke-Barre infant there in that patch of moonlight. He's going to dive. It may sober him. Where on earth did Tom Edgerton get those striped trunks? Bacchus gone wrong. Vine leaves in his hair, or is it confetti?

"This is one of those swimming parties of the idle and debauched rich that they read about out in Dubuque and turn Bolsheviki or try to imitate. I've never seen one happen so true to form. Look, there comes —— This is awful!"

"Five and Ten" Synopsis

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2,500, all she had, when he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. Rarick buys a magnificent home, but secretly finds himself hating his wife. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to Jennifer and Avery, his children. Rarick installs an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerkes, in his house. Jenny objects, and a bitter scene follows, in which Rarick delivers the ultimatum that Gerkes remain. He sends for Jennifer and compels her to cancel a dinner engagement to dine with Gerkes. Jennifer finds him interesting. Jenny begins to be intrigued with Ramon, a youthful gigolo. Avery comes home from school to beg his mother to help him get leave from his father to have a couple of years to himself. Jennifer likes the handsome and rich Berry Rhodes and Jenny urges her to try to win him. Berry kisses Jennifer while on the way to a party at the Edgerton home. Leslie Edgerton does not receive Jennifer as cordially as she does the other guests.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Engineer Outwits Small Town Constable

Joe Parmenter went out to Diggsby and looked the ground over.

He wired back to his construction firm:

"Twelve men, 90 days."

The telegraph operator at Diggsby station said, "That's a queer message, mister, what does it mean—a dozen men have been sent up for three months?"

"Something like that," Joe answered, carelessly. He wanted to remind the operator that there was nothing in the telegraph company regulations that called for explaining any message to the operator, but Joe was rather cagey. He didn't want to make enemies there. He would doubtless be there for 90 days and would often need the services of this operator.

"I don't understand," said Grimes.

Mr. Grimes was not only telegraph operator, but he was the local preacher, the town constable and railroad ticket agent.

"It's like this Mister," Joe said, gravely, "we can't talk about our detective work—not until the job is finished."

"Oh, yes sir. I see—I know all about such things. I'm the town constable here. If I can help you any——?"

"Thank you, I'll surely call on you."

"I'm pretty active, especially in regards to liquor. I haven't let a drop into Diggsby since I was in office, more than four years now."

"I see, thanks."

The reply to Joe Parmenter's wire came by air mail, special delivery. Part of this letter was:

Difficult Situation

"Heavy forfeit if we do not finish job in 64 days from date, so get 40 or 50 men if necessary. We can't afford to hurt our reputation. We agreed to have it done on August 15."

Joe read this and cursed, a little. Then he jumped a train, made the three-day trip and was back in the office.

This was Joe's first real job as boss of a big construction job and it meant a great deal to him, including marrying the girl who was waiting for him, and the assurance of bigger and better assignments—providing he put it through.

"If I had been told about this clause, this time clause, it would have saved a lot of expense and bother," Joe said, mildly, to Mr. Carver, the president.

"Sorry—but no harm done, take all the men you want, just as soon pay 20 men two months as 12 men for three or four months, see?"

Joe showed Mr. Carver a snapshot of the very narrow gorge where the company had contracted to build a dam.

"Even 12 men will be in the way of each other a little down there, and with 20 or 30 we couldn't do a lick of work."

Mr. Carver frowned.

"I am making a note that in the future you are taken wholly into our confidence, Mr. Parmenter, this is regrettable. I doubt if we can do it, it hurts our prestige."

"Let me pick my dozen men and I have a hunch we can do it in the 60 days, provided I can have my own way out there," Joe said.

"We have our regular list of laborers to draw from—"

"No, sir. I want to pick my own men from here and there. I want a certain type of husky Irishman, and I want him to have certain habits and ambitions."

Samples Milk

Mr. Carver nodded.

"It sounds queer, but from your expression I believe that you believe in yourself, which insures the job—go to it."

Joe Parmenter was then shown all of the figures and the contract. He was amazed at the immense forfeit his company would have to pay if the job wasn't done on time.

Mr. Grimes came over. This time he was the constable. He looked over the men and he went to Joe.

"Rather rough characters," he said, "and so I came over to warn you that we won't stand for any hoodlums or for any attempt to get liquor to these men—not a drop of liquor can come into this town. There are only two roads, and these are watched day and night."

"Tut, tut; these men of mine drink milk. I'm having two big cans sent in daily—milk and home-baked bread that they are used to, with plenty of beef stews and chowders, and they are happy. They do smoke pipes——"

To Joe Parmenter's amusement he heard that Grimes, in the role of constable, had been sampling the milk to make sure it was milk and not alcoholic. He even secured another can and poured the milk into it to make sure no bottles were hidden in the can.

He did this several days.

Grimes, as constable, frequently nosed about the place.

The work wasn't going as well as Joe Parmenter hoped. The president of the company was becoming worried and rather sore on Joe.

And Joe knew that this was so because the girl who was waiting for him to marry her was Loretta Carver, daughter of the president.

Given Generous Drink

Joe wrote back to her and explained his difficulties.

Loretta sent him some good advice.

The work continued to pick up.

Joe had got his men together and had a talk with them.

"Th' boys can't work 60 days without a bit of drink," Pete Murphy, the spokesman, explained, "and in this dom place ye can't get a snifter."

"Suppose," Joe said, "that you boys get a whopping big drink for an eye-opener every morning—good old rye—and then another generous drink before luncheon, still another before dinner and a night-cap at 9?"

"Supposin' don't wet yer whistle any, Mr. Parmenter."

Joe brought out a bottle. It supplied a generous drink for each of the 11 men, but none was left.

"That sort of 'supposing' wets the old whistle, now boys, that's your eye-opener. Grab your breakfast and on to the job. If you hustle like two men in one, you get a bigger drink this noon—in fact you get just what I promised—and the reason is this—I lose my job and can't afford to marry the girl I want if this job isn't finished by August 15."

"Whew!" said Peter, shaking his head.

"The drinks will be large—already you are getting extra pay and I'm working more hours than you are," Joe argued.

"Watch us—'tis four hours to th' next hooker av that swell rye," one of the men said.

The way they worked was amazing.

Job Is Completed

And then Constable Grimes came over.

"I hear that your men are getting liquor," he said.

"Imagine such a silly rumor—now how could liquor get in here?" Joe said.

"I've been down among them when you were up here, I smalled some of their breaths—very suspicious."

"I am afraid nothing can be done, constable."

"Why not? I propose to search these premises."

"All right, get out your papers permitting you to search, and go ahead."

"Why can't I search now?"

"The law doesn't permit it."

"Why can't you let me search?"

"My workmen are rather proud but touchy, they may have love letters or personal trinkets and they don't want them pawed over—"

"You are aiding and abetting them in getting liquor. I've heard airplanes going over. I suppose it is dropped down in a parachute."

"I hand it to you, sir, you are clever."

"I'll get search warrants from the federal agents and I'll make trouble."

Constable Grimes came on August 14 with his papers.

"We've got to finish the job tonight, constable; can't spare a man now—come back at dark and if there's any liquor I'll lead you to it, and you may sit here and see that none is brought in or smuggled out—how is that?"

He gumbled, but waited.

The job was done one day ahead of schedule.

Constable Grimes made the search and found nothing.

After he had gone Joe brought out some of those home-baked loaves of bread that were sent every day in a crate. Six of these loaves, in the entire crate full, had slits on the bottom. Joe opened the loaves—a bottle of rye was nestling inside of each!

"Boys," Joe said, "this is my first drink since on the job—drink to the girl who gave me this idea—I'm going to marry her next week!"

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Its Civic Organizations Promote Pittsburgh's Progress

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

Senate Owes It to Pennsylvania to Reverse Committee and Abolish Coal and Iron Police

The beating to death of John Borkowski and innumerable other brutal deeds well known to the people of Pennsylvania have branded the coal and iron police with ineradicable infamy.

The time for paltering with this evil system has long since passed. Any expectation that the bullies, brutes and bravos who have played so prominent a part in the system could be induced to amend their ways was dissipated years ago. A half century of experience has killed all hope.

Even if the coal and iron police did comport themselves in a way offering not the slightest ground for complaint, IT WOULD STILL BE WRONG IN PRINCIPLE FOR THE COMMONWEALTH TO BARTER ITS SOVEREIGNTY TO PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.

There is one way, and only one, through which to redeem the State from the disgrace that the coal and iron police have brought upon it, and that is to abolish the system, lock, stock and barrel.

The demand that it be abolished has been almost universal. All candidates for governor favored its abolition, and at hearings held on Representative M. A. Musmanno's bill which ends the system no one appeared in opposition.

It was not to be expected, however, that the corporations who have employed these plug uglies in the name of the Commonwealth to terrorize workmen, rule industrial communities with an iron and autocratic hand, and to break strikes, would surrender this power without making a single move in opposition.

Their silence was suspicious.

There was good ground for the suspicion.

The Musmanno bill, after passing the House by an overwhelming majority, has come out of the Senate Judiciary General Committee so amended that IT DOES NOT ABOLISH BUT PERPETUATES THE EVIL SYSTEM.

The Musmanno bill stripped the coal and iron police of their power for wickedness; it made them mere property guards—mere watchmen whose jurisdiction ended once they stepped off the premises of the companies employing them. The Senate amendments restore the teeth which the Musmanno bill had extracted. The Senate amendments give the coal and iron police the power and authority of police of first class cities and of constables and permit them to exercise the authority not only on their employers' premises but off of them as well.

These amendments were introduced in a skulking, sneaking way in the secrecy of the committee. Nobody can be found to admit responsibility for them.

It is obvious that they have been introduced at the instigation of the corporations employing coal and iron police. Having enjoyed for 50 years the privilege of using the Commonwealth's authority for the oppression of workingmen, they are not going to relinquish it without a struggle. In one way or another they have found servile senators to do their bidding.

THE FIGHT MUST BE FORCED INTO THE OPEN.

If every senator can be compelled to tell where he stands, there is a chance of saving the Musmanno bill, for he would be brazen indeed who would publicly uphold the coal and iron police system.

Representative Musmanno has arranged to have amendments offered in the Senate which would restore the teeth that the Judiciary General Committee extracted, and give the bill its former potency—that is, abolish the coal and iron police.

How the senators receive the amendments will furnish an index to their attitude on the whole proposal. If they vote to recommit to the committee, if they vote to do anything but accept the Musmanno amendments they can be put down as in favor of perpetuation of the coal and iron police system in all its notorious ugliness.

The people of Pennsylvania will know how to deal with senators who betray them in this matter into the hands of oppressive corporations.

Since it is not known how the senators stand individually on the subject, it would be well for citizens to telegraph to their representatives in the State Senate to support the Musmanno bill in the form in which Musmanno prepared it.

Use the Searchlight

Inquiry Into Voting Machine Situation Proposed by Senator Harris Is to Be Welcomed.

Senator Frank J. Harris proposes to introduce tonight a resolution calling for a legislative investigation of the voting machine situation in Pennsylvania. Such an inquiry is to be welcomed.

The people are entitled to the truth about the obstacles that have been placed in the way of the introduction of the machines. They are entitled to know the truth about the stories of wire-pulling and political influence used in an effort to secure the adoption of one type of machine or another.

Voting machines have been used satisfactorily in New York and other states for years. Why, after the people of Pennsylvania had clearly shown by amending the constitution that they desired the machines, have such difficulties been raised to prevent their getting them?

Here in Allegheny County, after much discussion and fighting of lawsuits and letting of contracts, we have still not obtained our voting machines. Promises have been broken, and it remains to be seen if the machines for demonstration purposes will be on hand at the time appointed. Other counties have had much the same sort of experience.

And then there have been the stories about public officials being financially interested in this or that voting machine company. Senator Harris himself was the victim of such gossip until he forced Councilman Charles J. Pommer, of Philadelphia, to make a public retraction.

Let us get at the bottom of all this. Has there been a conspiracy to defeat the will of the people? Has improper influence been used? Has there been favoritism in the awarding of contracts?

Taxicab Monopoly

Philadelphia's Effort to Get Competitive Service Is of Interest to Pittsburgh.

A $500,000 corporation backed by responsible businessmen has applied for permission to operate taxicabs in Philadelphia. It offers, if its application is granted, to give service at one-half the rate now charged.

The action to be taken by the Public Service Commission on the application will be of considerable practical interest to Pittsburgh, because the taxicab situation here is virtually the same as in Philadelphia.

In each city the Public Service Commission has given one company a monopoly, with the result that cab rates are high. A ride of two and a half miles costs 75 cents in Pittsburgh and 90 cents in Philadelphia, as against not more than 60 cents in New York, Detroit or Cleveland.

In each city efforts have been made to break the monopoly by competitive companies, but the Public Service Commission has refused heretofore to permit competition.

Whether the new effort in Philadelphia will succeed is doubtful, but there is at least encouragement in the fact that Commissioner Benn has resigned and that the commission as a whole has been savagely assailed from many quarters for its policy.

If the commission, under the influence of this criticism, or for other reasons, should reverse its position and grant the Philadelphia application, there is ground for hope that Pittsburgh, too, may receive competitive taxi service.

Appeal to the Mayor

Best Chance of Saving Children from Fireworks Injuries Lies in Possibility of Action by Kline.

The majority in City Council who favor the ordinance authorizing the continued use of fireworks on the Fourth of July have shown such contemptuous disregard of public opinion on various occasions that it is to be feared there is slight chance of inducing them to reverse themselves.

The Congress of Women's Clubs is requesting another public hearing on the ordinance. Nothing, of course, should be overlooked that offers even a faint prospect of saving the children from the burns and injuries that are certain to result from the sale of explosives as playthings.

But main reliance should be placed on an appeal to Mayor Kline. He has the power to kill the ordinance.

A GREAT SCIENTIST

By Archibald Henderson

That is a stirring, a memorable incident which the news of the day brings us: Michelson, the great physicist, dictating a final statement to accompany the description of his last great experiment, the while he is awaiting the summons of death. It seemed most fitting that this ultimate experiment of the most refined character, to determine the velocity of light, should be the crowning event of a great career.

The popular impression of a famous scientist is not necessarily the true one. Perhaps because of their intricate character many of Michelson's most notable scientific achievements are not known to the public. It is popularly believed that the famous Michelson-Morley experiment, as it is commonly called, was Michelson's greatest contribution to science. Perhaps the reason for this is that the result reached was spectacular in the highest degree, upsetting all notions hitherto held regarding the determination of absolute velocity through the ether.

The result of the experiment was to provoke the theory that absolute velocity through the ether cannot be determined, either by this experiment or any other experiment. It aroused the interest of Prof. Albert Einstein and was one of the foundation stones of his astounding Theory of Relativity. He, himself, recently paid a notable tribute to Michelson, acknowledging his indebtedness for the stimulation to the creation of his own relativity theory afforded by the Michelson-Morley experiment.

Nevertheless, it is quite true that Michelson devised many pieces of apparatus, conducted many experiments, and arrived at scientific results of greater importance than are embodied in the Michelson-Morley experiment. Indeed, Michelson, himself, in response to an inquiry as to what he considered his most significant achievement, replied:

"I think most people would say that it was the experiment which started the Einstein theory of relativity. But I should consider that as only one of a dozen of my experiments in the interference of light waves."

It has been a problem of long standing to determine the size, and in particular the diameter of very remote celestial objects. The objects were too remote, their images too minute, for the use of the familiar parallax method. Michelson applied his mind to this important object. The uses of the spectroscope may be said to have revolutionized methods in astronomy. Michelson devised the echelon spectroscope.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

What Price "Economy?"

One of the strangest and funniest phenomena of human nature is the average person's idea of "economizing."

Everybody, no matter how generous or extravagant, has his pet "economy." With some people it's cigarets, while others it's carfare, and with many it's tips, taxicabs and electric light bills. But nobody, in these days, ever seems to dream of economizing on radios or gasoline.

* * *

The man who keeps on buying one expensive motor car after another is always the one who recoils with a shudder at the "extravagance" of taking a taxi when caught in a shower.

And many a woman will pay $40 for a hat containing about $4 worth of material (and $36 worth of style)—and then stand in a steady downpour until it is ruined, while she waits for a trolley or a bus, rather than "hop a taxicab."

* * *

Many a man who supports a penthouse apartment, two or three clubs and a speakeasy or a bootlegger, feels that he could not possibly afford the expense of a wife!

* * *

Still another kind of man will hunt around until he finds a place where the dinner and the drinks are cheapest—and then spend all he saves on food and liquor for doctor's bills and medicines to cure him of its effects.

* * *

Personally I never "save" on tips, telephone bills or taxicabs, and I can't pass a millinery shop without falling for another hat. But I'll wear a comfortable old pair of mules until they cry for mercy, and I'm positively mean about buying MATCHES! So I must save a lot of money that way during the year—almost enough to tip the hotel bellboy, who brings up the free matches.

Yet, when the bright saleswoman springs that $49.98 "special sale" price on me I can always manage to resist the "bargain" by whispering to my conscience, "Fifty dollars! Fifty dollars! Fifty dollars!"

Text For Today Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.—Hebrews, vii:25.

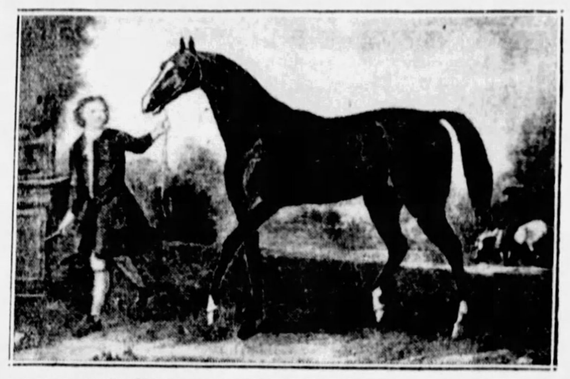
The Father of Thousands

The Foundation Sire of the Modern Race Horse.



AN ARABIAN HORSE BELONGING TO JOHN BREWSTER DARLEY, ESQ., OF ALDBY. MANY HAVE BET ON HIS DESCENDENTS.

Back of British thoroughbred race horses and of all the horses that race on our tracks were three horses of Arabian type, known as "the Byerly Turk, the Darley Arabian and the Godolphin Barb."

The artist, presumably, has exaggerated the small size of the horse's head, as Greek sculptors sometimes exaggerated the smallness of the head of Venus.

Small heads were considered beautiful, a sign of good breeding. But that opinion has changed, for horses and for men.

If you are interested in horses, you will want to know that this "Darley Arabian," in addition to being the ancestor of thoroughbred racing stock, is also the ancestor of all "hackney" pedigrees.

The hackney steps HIGH, the thoroughbred keeping its feet CLOSE to the turf, wasting no motion, and runs rapidly.

It is interesting to know that the blood of this Arabian horse is in many of the thoroughbreds entered in this year's racing all over the country.

Every race horse carries the blood of one or more of the three horses named above.

Don't be surprised that the descendants of these great horses should run "so true" or that the wonderful qualities of sires and dams should be inherited by the colts and fillies.

With horses it is not as with men. The rich man's son has little chance of success.

A great racing sire has no power to spoil his colt. It is trained as its father was.

If a great race horse could save his winnings, leave them to his colt and say, "Go enjoy yourself," the colt would soon be foundered or develop heaves and be as generally worthless as the average rich man's son.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 25.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early out to pay condolences to Belle Baker, so recently bereaved, and at The Circle came upon Gene Buck and with him to call on Flo Ziegfeld and we talked of Bickel and Watson, Nora Bayes, Bert Williams and other stars of the Follies.

In the afternoon to Hal Phyfe's studio to meet Corey Ford and posing as a mighty lion hunter for his burlesque book on Africa. And talked to George Putnam, who said he suffered no terror when his wife, Amelia Earhart, strove for new records in the air, being a fatalist.

Home and worked awhile and then to dinner with Floyd Gibbons who wore his gaudy new summer surtout, a Picasso-like swirl of vivid color, and the first time my own habilments seemed sombre. Later we put in a half hour at Minsky's burlesque, drank a chocolate soda and went home feeling quite the hellions.

They were talking of a night when Paris was being shelled. Raymond Carroll, Floyd Gibbons and Irwin Cobb waited in a room at the Hotel Continental during an agonizing night. Dawn brought a Hollywood calm. Birds spiraled up from the Tuileries across the way. A bright sun splintered through the white chestnuts. Carroll threw open the French window.

He saw the omnipresent fashion plate, E. Berry Wall, sauntering along the rue de Rivoli. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion. Wall's chow dog straightened out behind him while his master literally flew in the direction of Rumpelmayer's. A shell had fallen back of the Madelaine.

The three correspondents taxied there. They were sickened by the sight. In the street were strewn bloody ribs and here and there, horror-like, chunks of flesh. When Cobb saw a globule of quivering liver impaled on a fence spike he said: "I can't stand more of this!" and turned to go.

Then Carroll laughed—a sort of frenzied chortle of relief. The shell had struck a butcher shop.

Bert Lahr tells of meeting a weaving friend on Forty-sixth street. "Fellow," he said, "you are drunk—spifflicated." He muttered: "Well, if I'm not I'm out $8."

Another story about Gabrielle Chanel concerns the modiste's refusal to marry the Duke of Westminster. A London reporter rushed over the channel to ask why she had snubbed a dukedom. "There have been several Duchesses of Westminster," she replied. "But only one Chanel."

Personal nomination for the best romantic book of the year so far—"The Bridge of Desire," by Warwick Deeping.

A night recently I was tweaked by the awareness of senility. Two blocks away there was a huge conflagration lighting up the heavens. I merely looked out the window a minute and crept back to bed. Fifteen years ago I would have been up and, stuffing in my shirt tails en route, racing to the scene with the first wagon.
